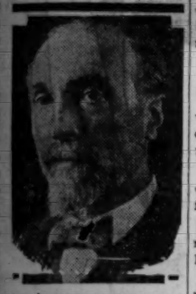
BRITISH BANKER CABLES HOME IN OPTIMISTIC VEIN

Details Leak Out on Norman Visit.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—Although the precise purpose of the recent visit to Washington of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is still a mystery to which only President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon possess the key, some of the details are beginning to leak out.



MONTAGU NORMAN.
[(C.) Underwood & Underwood.]

Whatever it was Mr. Norman came over to get, he carried away from Washington so much encouragement that he cabled London in a most optimistic vein. The immediate reaction was a buoyant tendency of the London stock market yesterday.

The report gained currency in London that the upward trend of stocks was due to inside information emanating from the Bank of England that Governor Norman had broached to Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mellon the subject of cancellation or scaling down of war debts with encouraging results.

Mellon Denies Report.

Mr. Mellon pronounced this report utterly without foundation, denying that a reopening of the war debt cancellation question was discussed during Mr. Norman's visit.

The prevailing theory at the treasury is that Mr. Norman's optimistic report was based upon the general impression obtained by the British financier that the recovery of business in the United States has definitely set in. This is known to be the view of President Hoover and Mr. Mellon and it is not doubted that they imparted it to Mr. Norman with the reasons for their belief.

Mr. Norman also learned with satisfaction that President Hoover has no intention of acceding to the request of the senate to initiate an international conference for the purpose of enhancing the value of silver. The price of silver has declined for a number of reasons, among them being the British government's debasement of its silver coinage and placing India on a gold standard basis.

Seeks Opinion on Business?

Some of those who talked with the governor of the Bank of England governor are convinced that his principal mission here was to ascertain the precise business situation in this country in order to determine how soon America can be counted again to furnish Europe with capital and credit. When America was last in Europe did a brisk and profitable business selling foreign shares and bonds in this country. Since hard times set in here the foreign security dealers have been manifesting their keen indignation at the failure of the American meal ticket as the London and Paris innkeepers and restaurateurs at the falling off in American patronage.

If Mr. Norman came seeking some definite action by United States authorities to ameliorate financial conditions in England, as in 1927 when he secured reduction of the rediscount rate by federal reserve banks, he did not mention it in his conference with the federal reserve board. According to leaders of the board, only general matters of world finance and trade were discussed.

Board Majority on Guard.

It is possible that the Britisher made suggestions to Mr. Mellon that will materialize in future sessions of the reserve board, of which the treasury secretary is chairman and ex officio member. If so, however, they will be subjected to the closest scrutiny, for there is now a majority of the board on guard against covert schemes to pull British chestnuts out of the fire, such as the Norman exploit of 1927. In fact, there is now a majority of the board that Mr. Mellon himself cannot control, as was demonstrated repeatedly in the sessions immediately preceding and following the great market crash of 1929.

Whether the inside history of the Norman visit will be some day written there will be some interesting descriptions of the dramatic scenes in the conference room when the world's third richest man in the

FUNERAL TRAIN OF LONGWORTH ON WAY TO OHIO

Services to Be Held at 2 p. m. Today.

Aboard Longworth Funeral Train En Route to Cincinnati, April 10.—(AP)—The body of Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the house of representatives, who died of penumonia yesterday at Aiken, S. C., was en route back to Cincinnati, his home, tonight aboard a special train chartered by the government.

The train, which left Aiken at midday, will arrive in Cincinnati at 7 o'clock [E. S. T.] tomorrow morning. On arrival in Cincinnati the body of Speaker Longworth will be taken to Rookwood, his home. Later it will be removed to Christ Episcopal church, where at 2 p. m. the bishop of Cincinnati will conduct the funeral services.

Brothers with Widow.

Mrs. Longworth and her brothers, Kermit and Archie Roosevelt, were among the small group of passengers on the train. President Hoover and other national leaders will attend the service tomorrow.

As the funeral train passed through small towns in South Carolina, groups of citizens stood silent in respect. Wreaths were placed aboard the train at a number of stops.

At Union, S. C., a message was given Mrs. Longworth, to be delivered to her six year old daughter, Paulina. It read:

"Three thousand school children of Union by rising vote today expressed their sincere sympathy for you in your sorrow in losing your 'pal.'"

Hoovers Leave Washington.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by Postmaster General Walter F. Brown and members of the White House official staff, left Washington tonight at 9:15 for Cincinnati to attend the funeral of Nicholas Longworth.

Two hours before the presidential special moved out of the Union station Vice President Charles Curtis and the congressional delegation selected to pay honor to Speaker Longworth at the burial services tomorrow left the capital on a special section of a regular train. This party included a large number of intimate friends of the speaker, among them being Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the treasury.

President Hoover will reach Oakley, O., a suburb of Cincinnati, shortly before noon tomorrow. From there the party will motor to Rookwood, the Longworth estate, about two miles away. The party will proceed into Cincinnati to attend the religious rites.

Flags at Half Staff.

The speaker's death was signalized throughout the city today by flags flying at half staff from all public and private buildings, despite the fact that President Hoover's proclamation yesterday applied only to government structures.

On the Curtis train were such attachés of the house and old friends of Mr. Longworth as Joseph Rogers, sergeant-at-arms of the house, and William J. Donaldson Jr., superintendent of the house press gallery. The Rev. James Shera Montgomery, chaplain of the house, was included in the party. Among the senators not officially delegated who went to Cincinnati was David A. Reed [Rep., Pa.], another intimate friend of the speaker.

Tilson May Be Speaker.

Indications today were that Representative John Q. Tilson [Rep., Conn.] will be the choice of the Republicans for speaker when the Seventy-second congress meets in December. The question of whether he can be elected may turn on the results of the special election which will be called to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Longworth's death. Republican leaders were confident today that a Republican will be selected by the Longworth district.

Rites Will Be Simple.

Cincinnati, O., April 10.—(AP)—Final rites for Speaker Nicholas Longworth here tomorrow will be an unostentatious ceremony in Christ Episcopal church at 2 p. m. and burial in the Longworth family lot at Spring Grove cemetery.

Most of the final arrangements for the services were completed today with the arrival from Washington of Miss Mildred Reeves, who was Mr. Longworth's secretary, and Col. E. W. Starling, chief of the secret service.

Little Paulina Longworth, 6 year old daughter and only child of the speaker, remained uninformed tonight of his death. Her mother, daughter of former President Theodore Roosevelt,

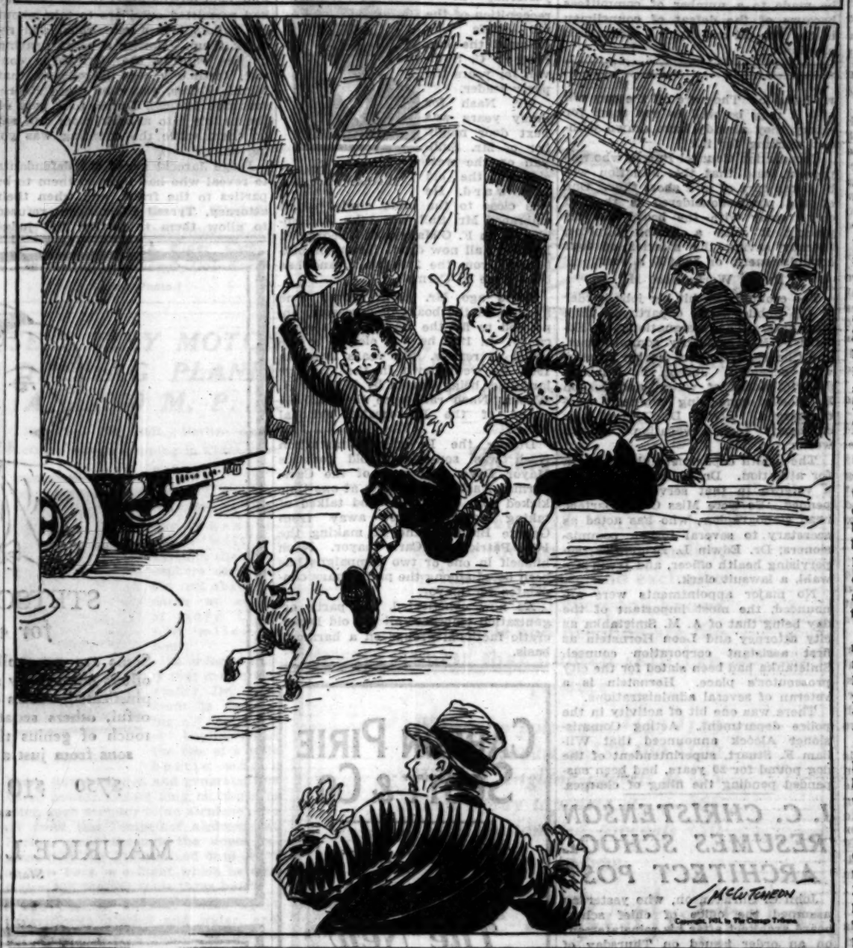
NOW IS THE TIME WHEN AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS CAN'T BE TOO CAREFUL



FUGITIVE SHOT, WOMAN HIT BY STRAY BULLET

A fugitive was shot and probably fatally wounded last night when he broke away from two detectives, and a woman pedestrian, caught in the line of fire, was struck in the left leg. The shooting occurred under the Wilson avenue elevated station at Broadway.

The man shot is Jack La Rue, 21 years old. He was shot in the back and taken to the Lakeview hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious. Mrs. Mildred Bingel, 18 years old, of 4615 North Clark street, the bystander, was taken to the Ravenswood hospital. Mrs. Bingel was wheeling her baby in its buggy when she was struck.

La Rue, who is one armed, and his friend, Ray Raymond, of 931 Windsor avenue, recently were named in warrants charging larceny in a tailor shop purchase. Detective Earl Flannery and Frank McKune of the Town Hall station arrested La Rue as he entered the "L" station last night. As they escorted him outside, he broke away. The policemen fired four shots. La Rue fell, as did Mrs. Bingel, who was several hundred feet away.

EVANSTON YOUTH, HARVARD FLYER, KILLED IN CRASH

James Nelson Burnes, 20 years old, a Harvard student, whose mother resides in Evanston, was killed yesterday in an airplane accident at Boston.

Burnes was the son of Mrs. Robert M. Roloson of 1114 Lake Shore boulevard, Evanston. His stepfather is a well known Chicago investment banker in the firm of Lane, Roloson, Inc., 141 West Jackson boulevard. Young Burnes had been in the east for the last six years in prep school and at Harvard. He had taken up flying several years ago and had acquired a private pilot's license.

The accident occurred after Burnes had taken off in a three passenger cabin plane at the East Boston airport. The plane belonged to the Harvard Flying club, of which the student was a member. Burnes was regarded as an excellent pilot, club members said, and the plane was a new one. Robert L. O'Brien, state aviation inspector, blamed the crash on a faulty motor.

EAKER STARTS TODAY ON SPEED HOP ACROSS U. S.

Burbank, Cal., April 10.—(AP)—Capt. Ira Eaker of the United States army pointed the nose of his low winged monoplane eastward tonight and began final preparations for a flight set to begin at 3 a. m. [P. S. T.] tomorrow on which he hoped to break the transcontinental speed record.

"If I am successful I'll be right back," Capt. Eaker said. It was believed he would make a quick turn around and assault the westward flight record should he break the existing 12 hours 25 minutes 2 seconds east bound record set several months ago by Capt. Frank Hawks.

Cermak Gone, County Board Grows Uppity

Mayor Cermak yesterday quieted nine vociferous county commissioners who had turned covetous eyes on the post he vacated as president of the county board. The mayor let it be known that he and his advisers still considered the logical candidate to be Emmett Whealan, chairman of the finance committee of the board, who was first mentioned for the presidency.

This move was considered tantamount to the selection of Commissioner Whealan as the new president at the meeting of the board next Monday afternoon. There were some subdued mutterings, however, indicative that stormy sessions of the board are not over despite the majority of thirteen Democrats against two Republicans.

"Four Co-eds" Enliven Things.

It is a tradition that the board attracts as members ebullient spirits who aspire to put a measure of fiery dramatics into the prosaic transaction of the county's business. The present board, only six months old, has shown itself to be on a par with its predecessors. The presence of four women commissioners, known as the "four co-eds" of Cook county politics, apparently has not made the board's proceedings any less picturesque.

Thus, when Mr. Cermak resigned as president on Thursday after assuming the office of mayor, an instant babel arose. Above the loud claims of the various commissioners arose dulcet complaints from one or the other of the women commissioners that this candidate wore dowdy ties and that one allowed his trousers to assume the appearance of concealing watermelons at the knees.

The Candidacies Appear.

Finally, Miss Amelia Sears announced that she considered her abilities as great as those of any masculine commissioner. The other women commissioners were not slow to follow in admissions that they, too, considered themselves equal to the task of bossing the county board.

Peter M. Kelly, a new commissioner, who is an undertaker in private life, announced himself another candidate and claimed an imposing array of Democratic chieftains were working in his behalf. Charles H. Weber was a candidate on a "free beer" ticket. Walter J. La Buy claimed the Polish-Slavic vote.

Ryan Formidable Aspirant.

Commissioner Whealan, dean of the board with twelve years of service, was said to have regarded seriously only one opponent, Daniel Ryan. Mr. Ryan, backed by several Democratic powers, polled more votes at the last election than any other commissioner with the exception of Mr. Cermak. He is the son of the late Daniel Ryan, who was president of the county board.

The word from the mayor's headquarters, favoring Whealan, stilled all the aspirants. But, as hinted heretofore, Commissioner Whealan, if elected, will have a stormy crew to rule.

"The wild and woolly days are coming," chuckled a county official. "With Cermak gone, every one will call it his or her day to howl."

RAILROAD POLICE KILL ONE ROBBER AND WOUND ONE

Opening fire with shotguns on six box car thieves, railroad detectives late last night killed one and probably mortally wounded another. The shooting occurred in the yards of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad at Faithorn, Will county, two miles east of Crete.

The man killed was Paul Squitero, 25 years old, of Kankakee. The man wounded is T. Bartolini of South Chicago Heights. According to the detectives, Lieut. Walter Krinkie and Joe Tucker, other members of the band may have been shot. Nine box cars had been opened when the policemen trapped the men.

Confesses He Drove Car of Bandit Who Was Slain

James Boivan, 19 years old, confessed at the detective bureau last night that he drove the automobile used Thursday in the attempted robbery of a delicatessen in which his partner, Henry Mason, was shot and killed. Mason was slain by the store keeper, Charles Niett, 3858 North Marshfield avenue, after he had shot Nietl's watch dog. Police traced Mason's coat to a north side tailor and learned he lived at 648 Oakdale place. They watched the building and seized Boivan.

RAIDERS USE AXES TO FORCE ENTRANCE TO GAMBLING JOINT

Using axes and crowbars, detectives from the state's attorney's office, cooperating with the special grand jury investigating police corruption, raided the Chicago-Manhattan club at 2418 West North avenue last night, smashed card and dice tables, and seized nine men. In an earlier raid on another place at 22 South Des Plaines street Mike [De Pike] Heitler was arrested.

The North avenue raid nearly failed. Sergts. Robert Bennet and Charles Wachholz and a squad, posing as patrons, appeared at the club door. A watcher started to search them when a crowbar accidentally fell from beneath Wachholz's coat. At the same moment Bennett dropped an ax. Doors were barred, but a hole was chopped through a panel and the police entered. More than 200 men were found. All but Conrad Ryerson, the manager, and eight attendants were released. Martin Guilfoyle is said to own the club. He was not present.

4 Robbers Get Loot by Threat to Burn Feet

Threatening torture and death, four armed bandits, two of them masked, held up Frank W. Means, president of the Chicago Towel company, and his wife, Cora, in their home at 6746 Jeffery avenue late last night and fled with jewelry and other loot valued at $30,465. The victims were held captive for nearly an hour.

Shortly before the robbery Means and his wife had attended a neighborhood picture theater showing a gangland film. On the way home Mrs. Means was nervous and told Means she did not know what she would do if put to a test in a crime. The test came a few minutes later.

Wife Opens Her.

As they entered the vestibule of their home four men sprang upon them. Mrs. Means opened the inner door quickly and evaded the robbers, but her husband was caught. The bandits called to her they would kill him unless she admitted them. She opened the door. The four gunmen and their victims then marched into the house.

Mrs. Means was taken into a bedroom and her husband into the living room. "We're going to burn your husband if you don't tell us where your jewelry is," one of the bandits warned her. In the other room Means was forced to take off his shoes.

"We want your jewelry," the bandit leader announced as he held a thick, lighted cigar in his hand. "Tell us or we'll burn your feet."

Husband Reveals Hiding Place.

Means obeyed and listed the jewelry. One of the robbers, following his directions, gathered up the valuables. Mrs. Means also was threatened, but withheld the hiding place of a $750 bracelet. The bandits reminded her that her husband had mentioned this article and forced her to reveal where it was kept.

According to Means the loot included jewelry valued at $26,315, a fur coat which cost $3,950, $100 in cash, and two bags worth $100. Among the jewelry were an antique English watch worth $1,000, which had been in the family for 200 years; a woman's ring set with a diamond of 3¾ carats, worth $5,000; the bracelet, two clasps costing $2,300, and a string of pearls valued at $700.

In November, 1928, Means and George W. Pulford, head of a roofing company, were held up in the vestibule of the former's home. Two armed men threatened them with death and stripped them of jewelry valued at $900. They also stole $74 in cash.

BOY SCOUT, 14, QUITS HOME TO GO ADVENTURING

With a camping outfit on his back, Jasper Shiner, 14 years old, Boy Scout and high school sophomore, was somewhere last night under the open skies, adventuring.

The boy, son of Tobias R. Shiner, railway supplies dealer of 7733 Kingston avenue, left home Thursday morning. Not until yesterday was his runaway motive learned, and then only when an explanatory note written before his departure was found.

"My reasons for going away are threefold," wrote Jasper. "First, I want to see nature and live in nature. Second, I want to escape from the drab atmosphere of the city. Third, I want to know what it is to be on my own. I will be gone a month, but not longer than four."

Jasper left home for the University High school on Thursday, but never attended class. Instead he changed from street to scout clothes in the school locker room. He is dark haired and dark eyed.

URGE GOVERNOR TO APPROVE DRY REPEAL BILL

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 10.—[Special.]—If Gov. Emmerson vetoes the O'Grady-McDermott state prohibition law repealer, he was told today, he will sound the death knell for the Republican party in Illinois and will be paving the way for his state to join eastern and southern commonwealths next year behind a liberal Democratic presidential nominee.

Senators and representatives of his own party gave him this word. They came here with a group of Democratic assemblymen to reply in an open hearing to the arguments made to the governor by the dry bloc which failed to stop passage of the repealer in either branch of the legislature. Gov. Emmerson's own political destiny is deeply linked with the action he takes upon the bill, today's visitors said.

Two active liberal leaders—Senator Victor P. Michel [Rep., Peoria] and Representative Leroy M. Green [Rep., Rockford]—were most vehement in their appeals to the governor.

Summarize Arguments.

They reminded the governor that the Republicans spoke in the state convention last August when they proposed the test of wet sentiment, that the people spoke in the referendum in November, and that the legislature spoke in the current session of the assembly, and urged that the governor could not fail to heed these summonses.

"The Republican party," said Senator Michel, "must show that we mean what we say when we put a plank in our platform asking for a referendum expression on this question of repeal.

"You were at the convention which submitted this question to the people. You ran it, in fact, for you had the gavel as chairman. I do not see how we Republicans can say to the voters of the state that the referendum did not mean a thing, which the drys would have you believe, without hanging our heads in shame.

"These drys take their stand because the ballot count on the referendum did not show a majority of all votes cast. What a specious, what a foolish argument! In the Tenth judicial district, in which I live, less than 17 per cent of the voters elect judges who have the power of life and death over the people, and the control of millions of dollars in property, yet no question is ever raised over their election."

Points Double Jeopardy.

Mr. Green, following Michel, raised the specter of double jeopardy. "A state prohibition law nullifies the fourth and fifth amendments to the constitution which guarantees liberty," he said. "A defendant can be found guilty of a liquor violation in a state court and punished again for the same offense in the federal court.

"Yet the charge is made against us that we are nullificationists," Green told the governor. "We are not nullificationists; we are correctionists. We are leading back to fundamental principles. If this state were ever reapportioned, you would find the vote against prohibition so overwhelming that there would be no use to count the ballots.

"Policy of Rule or Ruin."

"The people who are avidly behind prohibition carry the banner of 'rule or ruin.' When we had hearings on this repeal bill in the house I asked George Wilson of Quincy, a trustee of the Illinois Anti-Saloon league, his politics. He said he was a Republican, but he admitted that he had not voted for the Republican candidate for senator last November—he voted for Mrs. O'Neill, the league's candidate, and she hardly drew 100,000 votes.

"Your veto of this bill, Mr. Governor, would mean, I fear, that we will see a Democratic governor elected in Illinois next year. It would mean, I believe, that Illinois would join the great states in the east, New York and Massachusetts, and they, with the solid southern states, would put a Democrat in the White House.

Former Dry Pleads.

The Democrats present include Representative Thomas J. O'Grady [Chicago], co-author of the repeal bill, and Representative Truman A. Snell [Carlinville], long a pillar of the Anti-Saloon league, but now a house liberal leader since his district voted wet.

"I sat in the councils of the dry lobbyists when the Illinois prohibition law and search and seizure act was passed," Snell told the governor, "and for ten years I supported every bit of dry legislation. If we had prohibition, I'd say let it remain, if that was the will of my people. But conditions now are even worse than they were in the so-called 'palmy' days, and I can see no way for them to improve with the law as it is.

"If I were here as a partisan Democrat I would hope that your excellency would veto this bill, but I'm not. I'm here protesting against a piece of sumptuary legislation which the people of this state do not want. You have the mandate of 800,000 people before you. I believe there are almost enough votes in the house of representatives to pass the bill over a veto."

Another Is Converted.

Senator Ray Paddock [Rep., Waukegan] has a somewhat similar record to Snell's, being a former dry. He represents the Lake county district between Chicago and the Wisconsin state line.

"I'm a party man," he said, "but I couldn't have voted any other way than I did and follow the wishes of my constituency. If the people find that a Republican convention platform means nothing, and is to be repudiated, I do not see how we can go before them again. When we ignore the vote of the people, we are jeopardising the fate of the Republican party."

Representative Sol P. Roderick [Rep., Chicago] asserted it was not fair to assume that those who did not vote on the referendum would have voted dry. "These drys," he said, "claim that by repealing the state law and the search and seizure act, we would leave Illinois with no weapon, but that is not true. We would still have the public nuisance act and communities can abate nuisances just as easily as they can now."

Senator Thomas J. Courtney, the minority leader; Representative John M. Lee, and Senator Frank McDermott, Chicago Democrats, spoke briefly. O'Grady closed for the delegation, calling the governor's attention to the fact that Mayor Cermak of Chicago was the only mayoralty candidate to accept the legislature's invitation and appear to speak his mind on the repealer.

"Cermak went in with 194,000 votes, Mr. Governor," said O'Grady.

Has Until Tuesday to Act.

Gov. Emmerson has until midnight Tuesday to act upon the repealer, but has given little hint of the action he contemplates. The fact that he has said on several occasions that he would make no statement until he "acts" has led observers to believe that he will either sign or veto, and will not allow the bill to become a law without his signature.

WOMEN TO FLY TO EMMERSON FOR DRY REPEAL PLEA

A delegation of Chicagoans, three of them women, will fly to Springfield today in an effort to obtain an audience with Gov. Emmerson and urge him to sign the O'Grady-McDermott prohibition law repealer.

Members of the group will be Seymour Wheeler, acting chairman of the Crusaders, and Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, Mrs. William H. Mitchell, and Mrs. Clifford Rodman of the Illinois division, Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Mitchell are co-chairmen of the organization.

The plane will take off from Sky Harbor airport at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The destination will be Springfield. Plans are for a return by tonight.

"We will try to find Gov. Emmerson at Springfield," said Mrs. Mitchell yesterday. "We intend to fly to Mount Vernon, where he spends his week-ends, in case we do not see him at the capital. We will present our plea that he permit the repealer to become law."

CERMAK INVITED TO A VACATION TOUR IN WYOMING

The first invitation to Mayor Cermak to spend his vacation out of Chicago was delivered yesterday by T. Joe Cahill of Cheyenne, Wyo. The mayor was invited to visit Cheyenne's rodeo July 21 to 25, which is noted for its portrayal of frontier days, and then to travel in Wyoming among the dude ranches. Mr. Cahill, who made a special trip from Cheyenne to be present at Thursday's council meeting when Mayor Cermak was inducted into office, is having a cowboy hat made for the mayor. It will be presented later in the month.

CERMAK STOPS PARTY TALK OF VICTORY JUNKET

Mayor Plans Rest Trip with Family Alone.

BY PARKE BROWN.

In no uncertain language, Mayor Cermak yesterday put an end to talk among his followers of a big junket with him as its central figure.

He said that he intended to get away from Chicago for a brief rest and to leave as soon as possible, but that he felt he should be allowed to go alone except possibly for a few members of his family. He felt that in this way alone could he put himself into condition for the big job he has on his hands.

"I'll admit that I'm tired," he said. "In addition to regular duties we have been campaigning for about nine months. Immediately after the election last November we started getting ready for the February primary. Now it is time for a brief rest if we are going to give the city the best there is in us."

Destination His Own Business.

Ever since the election there have been literally scores at his elbow at every turn wanting to know whether the post-election trip would be to French Lick, Hot Springs, Miami or Excelsior Springs. He put them all off until yesterday when he said he had determined to go by himself.

"That is my personal business," he said, still with a suggestion of a smile.

Under such circumstances, various groups of Democrats began making their own plans to leave for different resorts, but so far as could be learned no one had discovered where the new mayor is going.

Pay Roll Pruning Goes On.

His decision in the matter was made toward the close of his second day in office, a day as crowded as the first with job seekers, volunteer advisers and congratulations.

Such was the pressure upon him that he was able to give only general attention to pruning the pay rolls. This went on chiefly under the supervision of Corporation Counsel Busch and Commissioner of Public Works Sprague.

The day's new development in this sort of economizing was the extension of the pruning to practically all the city construction contracts, including street repairs. It is not intended to hold up work of this character for long, but a temporary stop order was considered necessary until the new administration ascertains exactly what is going on.

Postpone Economy Survey.

Mayor Cermak said that some of his biggest plans, such as that for an economy survey of the city government in all its branches and a study of the police department by representatives of the Chicago Crime commission, the Association of Commerce, and similar bodies, will be postponed until his return to the city.

When he comes back he also will get into action in reference to the board of education. It has been suggested to him that he ask the resignations of all the present trustees except Mrs. W. S. Hefferan before asking the legislature to pass a bill increasing the membership of the board from 11 to 21.

That increase is thought necessary to give the new administration control of the schools if the Thompsonites insist upon hanging on.

Two More Show Defiance.

The spirit of defiance manifested by Eva Holland Hamilton, leader in women's campaign work for Thompson, when it was announced that her resignation from the zoning board of appeals had been accepted, came from two other members of that board during the day. Le Roy Milliner, ward committeeman, and Lawrence Cuneo, brother-in-law of Robert E. Crowe, both wrote to Mayor Cermak that they had not resigned.

"The answer to that is that they resigned," said the mayor. "We'll lock the doors to keep them out if we have to. They are off the pay roll and it may be well to sue them for salary they already have drawn without working for it."

Corporation Counsel Busch, who was present, said that this situation will be taken care of in a short time. One of the plans considered is that of doing away with the board and replacing it with a zoning director, thereby saving the salaries of four commissioners, or $20,000 a year.

Public Works Jobs Hit.

The economy ax hit big jobs harder in the public works department than elsewhere. The resignations of Edward F. Moore, deputy commissioner, and Charles J. Agnew, harbor master, were accepted. Joseph F. Gubbins, superintendent of water, and Joseph E. Moody, consulting engineer, were discharged. Loran D. Gayton, city engineer, "took a vacation" of two weeks.

The health department also came in for attention. Dr. Gottfried Koehler, a veteran in that service, was suspended. So were Miss Clara Bartels, head stenographer, who has acted as secretary to several former commissioners; Dr. Edwin L. Brunswick, supervising health officer, and Irwin Kowahl, a lawsuit clerk.

No major appointments were announced, the most important of the day being that of A. M. Smietanka as city attorney and Leon Hornstein as first assistant corporation counsel. Smietanka had been slated for the city prosecutor's place. Hornstein is a veteran of several administrations.

There was one bit of activity in the police department. Acting Commissioner Alcock announced that William F. Stuart, superintendent of the dog pound for 29 years, had been suspended pending the filing of charges.

COUNCIL ORGANIZERS TO LEAVE TODAY FOR FLORIDA CONFERENCE

Arrangements were made yesterday for the city council committee on committees to leave today for Florida, where the work of reorganizing the new council will be undertaken far from political pleadings for berths on council committees. The group which will go to Florida consists of five aldermen, whose work will be to assign their 45 colleagues in the council and themselves to working committees and to formulate rules of procedure.

Although it is expected that chairmen of committees for the last two years will retain their positions, the committee on committees has five vacant chairmanships to which it will assign new leaders. These include the important committees on building and zoning, railway terminals, and harbors, wharves, and bridges. Additions will be made to a number of committees because of the defeat of councilmen in the Feb. 24 and April 7 aldermanic elections.

J. C. CHRISTENSON RESUMES SCHOOL ARCHITECT POST

John C. Christenson, who yesterday assumed the office of chief school board architect after his reinstatement on an order issued on Thursday of the civil service commission, started his administration by discharging two designers who had been appointed by Paul Gerhardt, his predecessor. The men ousted were Adelbert Heidl, whose salary was $455 a month, and Peter Knuerr, who received $435 a month.

Christenson was appointed by former Mayor Dever as school architect and held the position until 1928. When he resigned he retained his civil service status. Paul Gerhardt held the architect's job on a series of 60 day appointments, not being a civil service employe.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan, school trustee, objected to the appointment of the new architect, charging that he had been appointed at a secret board meeting at which she was not present. Lewis E. Myers, president of the board, denied that such a meeting had been held and explained that the move was entirely a civil service matter.

Thompson and His Party Steam Down Illinois River

Peoria, Ill., April 10.—[Special.]—Former Mayor Thompson of Chicago and a party of his intimate friends arrived here early today by train and immediately boarded the steamer Cape Girardeau to accompany 51 others on their trip down the Illinois river.

Recognition of Followers of Roger Sullivan.

Selection of Patrick A. Nash as chairman of the Democratic county committee to succeed Mayor A. J. Cermak, who resigned on Thursday as chairman, was interpreted yesterday as a recognition of the old chiefs who followed the late Roger C. Sullivan, for years the party leader.

Mr. Nash for many years was next door neighbor of Mr. Sullivan on the west side in the old 14th ward. He was close to the inner circle, which embraced Mr. Sullivan, John P. Hopkins, John F. O'Malley, and George E. Brennan, all now dead. He is committeeman from the 28th ward, and has been close to Cermak.

Years ago Mr. Nash served nine months on the board of assessors, appointed to fill the David Pfaelzer vacancy. In 1918 he was elected to the board of review. Six years later, in 1924, he went down in the Coolidge landslide, being beaten by William H. Weber. Nash ran more than 125,000 ahead of the Democratic national ticket.

During the Dever administration Nash was somewhat cold towards Mayor Dever. He was of the Carr-Cermak-Nash group which at one time kicked over the traces and talked of taking party control away from George Brennan and of making the late Patrick J. Carr mayor. Nash himself in one or two campaigns has been listed among the preliminary candidates for mayor.

As now constituted, the party organization embraces all the old Democratic factional groups on a harmony basis.

4 POLL OFFICIALS GET YEAR IN JAIL FOR VOTE FRAUD

Echo of the Kirk-Joyce Contest.

Four election officials of the 40th precinct of the 42d ward were found guilty yesterday of election frauds and were sentenced to one year each in the county jail by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. The charges against the poll officials grew out of the contest in April, 1930, between Wallace F. Kirk and the late State Senator John T. Joyce for the Republican state senatorial nomination.

Those sentenced were Angelo Borgianno, Democratic judge; Leonard Franzone, Republican clerk; Joseph Dibella, Democratic judge, and Frank Caparole, Democratic clerk.

Altering of Ballots Revealed.

Evidence presented by James H. McQueeny, an investigator for the Citizens' association, showed that the four men on the night of the primary had permitted outsiders to take about 100 ballots into a rear room and remark them. During a court hearing on the vote in the Kirk-Joyce contest, testimony was introduced that Minnie Durso, sister of State Representative Michael Durso, took part of the ballots into a back room and sat on them while the counting was going on.

Judge Jarecki urged the defendants to reveal who had induced them to be parties to the fraud, and when their attorney, Tyrrell Richardson, refused to allow them to testify, the judge imposed the maximum penalty under the election laws.

Attorney Richardson refused to permit his clients to take the witness stand on the ground that the men might incriminate themselves in connection with criminal indictments charging conspiracy, which are pending against them. After the sentence was passed Attorney Rocco De Stefano, who appeared on behalf of Franzone, was granted an appeal for all the defendants.

Assistant State's Attorney Grover C. Niemeyer recommended the maximum penalty, declaring that the men apparently were using the code of the gangster in refusing to testify.

Raises Question on Vote.

Arthur Burrage Farwell, president of the Chicago Law and Order league, yesterday wrote letters to Judge Jarecki and the board of election commissioners calling attention to the votes cast at Tuesday's mayoralty election in the freak precinct, the 34th, in the 1st ward.

This precinct is only half a square block in area, being bounded by State, 8th, and 9th streets, and Holden court, and yet 539 votes were cast, all of which were registered from three addresses, one of which the current property directory shows is a vacant lot.

Mr. Farwell said the precinct has been notorious for years for frauds.

Robs Loop Store During Evening Rush Period

BREWER'S WIFE SEEKS $15,000 FOR KIDNAPERS

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Monroe, Wis., April 10.—[Special.] In an effort to locate Fred J. Blumer, wealthy brewer, and kidnapers who spirited him away from here last night, Sheriff Myron West tonight tapped the wires leading to the Blumer home. Blumer is being held for $150,000 ransom.

Belief was general that negotiations with the captors for Blumer's release would be kept, if possible, from the authorities, and it was for this reason and the added hope of possibly apprehending the kidnapers that the wires were tapped. At a late hour no important information was learned. The abductors sent no communication to the Blumers, and the latter busied themselves towards raising part of the money.

At 11 o'clock tonight reports indicated that Mrs. Blumer had been able to raise only $4,000 in cash during the day. Earlier Mrs. Blumer had conferred with F. D. Luchsinger, president of the Monroe brewery in which Blumer owns an interest, and F. J. Lieba, a director of the First National Bank of Monroe over the chance of raising $15,000.

Mrs. Blumer's Story.

Mrs. Blumer told the story of the kidnaping of her husband tonight to Lieut. Phil Carroll of the Chicago detective bureau, who was sent here at the request of relatives when possibility of a gangland reprisal over beer peddling was brought to the attention of Acting Commissioner Alcock.

Carroll arrived with his squad late in the afternoon. Mr. Blumer had left his home on receiving a telephone call. His wife said he had promised to return in a half hour, announcing that he was to meet a representative of the Walgreen Drug company of Chicago with a view to selling his near beer, "Golden Glow," to the drug chain. The negotiations, broached by the manager of a Walgreen drug store in Rockford, Ill., had been pending for several weeks, according to Mrs. Blumer.

Blumer was to have met two men at the Eugene hotel. He was not seen at the hotel. The first word of his kidnaping was received by Archie E. Nelk, secretary-treasurer of the Blumer Products company, founded by Blumer's father, at 10:30 last night. It was called at his home.

Demands $150,000 Ransom.

"Listen to me," he reported the caller as saying. "Fred Blumer's car is in Freeport opposite the Buick garage. The key is on the floor of the front seat. Call his family and tell them not to worry.

"Now get this—what we want is 200 ['G' in gangland parlance is $200]; you will hear from me in two days."

Nelk notified Mrs. Blumer and Blumer's brothers, Jacob Blumer, Monroe fire chief, and Adam Blumer, both associated with the company. Sheriff West went to Freeport to recover the car.

Rumors Persist.

During the day townsfolk wagged their heads knowingly and spoke of truckloads of beer which had been running south into Rockford and Chicago. These, gossip said, were not loaded with near beer, and added that Blumer had run afoul of Chicago beer barons. The family and friends of Blumer denied the rumors, insisting the company was profiting modestly on orders for its near beer.

At the same time the family declared the full sum of ransom could not be met.

PREDICTS RELEASE.

Lieut. Carroll and his squad returned to Chicago shortly before midnight. He predicted the kidnapers would release Blumer within 24 hours.

SIX FOOT BOXER BEATS RECORD ON HOP TO AUSTRALIA

PORT DARWIN, Australia, April 10.—(AP)—Flashing over the trail of Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith, Charles W. A. Scott, former Royal Air force flyer, came to rest here today with a new record for the air lanes between England and Australia.

He left Lympne airdrome at midnight on April 1 and brought his plane down here at 3:20 a. m. today, setting the record at 9 days 3 hours and 20 minutes. Kingsford Smith's time was 9 days and 23 hours, a difference of 19 hours and 40 minutes.

In all kinds of weather the husky aviator sped across the mountains and plains of Europe, Asia, and the Malay archipelago, ending his adventure with a daylight flight over the Timor sea.

"I would not make the attempt again for five million dollars," he said as he clambered out of his plane, "though I was glad to beat the record."

Scott is more than six feet tall and is a former heavyweight boxing champion of the Royal Air force. He has been flying commercial planes in Australia since leaving the service.

Rosenwald Heads Group on Way to Tuskegee Jubilee

A group of Chicagoans under the leadership of Julius Rosenwald left last night on a special train of the Illinois Central railroad for Tuskegee institute to participate in its golden jubilee. In the party were several trustees. Another delegation will leave at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the Dearborn street station. The jubilee will be observed April 14, the anniversary date on which Booker T. Washington, noted Negro educator, assumed charge of what later he developed into Tuskegee Institute.

GIRL OF 11 WEDS MAN OF 40 AND INQUIRY STARTS

Bride Ill with Mumps at Juvenile Home.

Omaha, Neb., April 10.—(AP)—The marriage last week of an 11 year old grammar school girl to a man 29 years her senior, was under investigation today, while the girl bride lay ill with mumps at a juvenile home.

Rosetta Copling is the bride; Albert Bryan, 40, the bridegroom. Bryan is in the county jail. The girl said today the marriage was at her behest.

Mother Approved Marriage.

Rosetta's mother, Mrs. Bertha Copling, who approved her daughter's marital plans, was married at the same time to Lewis Frenker. Mrs Frenker is one year younger than her daughter's husband.

Rosetta and her husband were witnesses at the Frenker-Copling wedding, while Frenker and his bride served similarly at the Copling-Bryan ceremony.

Proposed Year Ago.

"I wanted to wait a while, three or four years, maybe," said Bryan today, "but Rosetta wanted to get married now. She told me she was 12, instead of 11, and her mother said so too." Bryan said he fell in love with the girl two years ago and that he proposed and was accepted a year ago.

Marriage records at Council Bluffs, Ia., where the double wedding was performed, showed the girl and her mother both testified that she was 16.

Kills Bootlegger Husband in Their Palatial Home

Sioux City, Ia., April 10.—[Special.]—The winner of a death struggle with her husband, Mrs. Isabel Kieffer, 25, is recovering in a hospital from wounds inflicted by her husband, Adam Kieffer, 26, bootlegger, whom she shot to death tonight in their palatial home. She shot Kieffer after he had struck her on the head with a revolver and fired one shot into her thigh. Satisfied with the widow's story, police released Merle Wells, roomer in the Kieffer home and an employé of Kieffer's drinking parlor, who notified police and took Mrs. Kieffer to a hospital. The Kieffers separated a few days ago.

SCHMIDT ROMANCE FADES AGAIN; WIFE WILL GET DIVORCE

Ruby Halliday Schmidt, former Follies girl, and her husband, Kaspar G. Schmidt, son of George K. Schmidt, former city controller, have again separated, it was revealed yesterday, and next Monday Mrs. Schmidt will obtain a divorce by default. The story of a reconciliation six weeks ago, of a second honeymoon to the north woods, and of new difficulties that arose on Easter Sunday were told yesterday to Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude.

The Schmidts were married on April 1, 1930. Last January Mrs. Schmidt sued for divorce, alleging drunkenness and cruelty. In court yesterday she said she agreed on Feb. 26 to return and live with Schmidt providing he stopped drinking and mended his ways generally.

So, Mrs. Schmidt said, they spent a second honeymoon in a cabin at Smoky mountain in upper Michigan. When they returned to Chicago, she said, everything went well until last Sunday when her husband became intoxicated on five glasses of beer which he drank while visiting his father.

Schmidt denied that he had been drunk and besides, he said, the agreement also provided that Mrs. Schmidt was to stop drinking. He said that he had gone to his father's home to ask for help in getting work. His father disowned him because of the divorce proceedings, he said, and he had lost his position as vice president of a bank.

Plane Crashes in Yard; Pilot, Passenger Killed

SEES TINY MOTOR DRIVING PLANES AT 1,000 M. P. H.

Dr. Paul Heylandt, Berlin manufacturer who is stopping in Chicago on a tour of America, envisions a not far distant day when airplanes will sail through the stratosphere some 45,000 feet above the earth at speeds of more than 1,000 miles an hour.

In order to hurry that dream into reality Dr. Heylandt is developing a "vest pocket" engine, about the size of a milk bottle, which burns liquid oxygen and generates 200 horse power. Before long he hopes to hitch such a motor to an airplane, hop off from the Tempelhof airdrome at Berlin, speed through the upper regions over the Atlantic and drop down at New York in a flight which he estimates will require some three hours.

The German chemist mixes liquid oxygen with alcohol and water, and burns it in the chamber of his 14 pound motor. The engine is revolutionary in the simplicity of its construction.

Quality Versus Price

From The Daily News Record, a publication devoted to the interests of retailers and manufacturers

"When the smoke of price battle clears, those producers and retailers who retain the public's confidence through the readjustment period will win out.

"The consumer is much smarter today than he was a few years ago; he knows style and he knows value. Mere price promotions, without quality and value to support them, will not be remembered by the public.

"In other words, the store will not make a lasting reputation merely because its name becomes associated with low prices."

There is no substitute for quality. Our prices have been adjusted to present day market conditions, but our quality standards have been and will always be rigorously adhered to.

Clipper Craft

Panama, Manila, Honolulu Among Popular Trips.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—Next fall, when globe trotting Americans are home again, some fifty United States senators and representatives are going to be able to swap reminiscences with the best of them and remark, "O, yes, I was abroad, too."

For more than sixty members of congress, it appears, already have taken or are about to take advantage of their official privilege of cut rate travel on government transportation.

The goal of many is the Panama Canal Zone. Several already have visited there. Others are bound for Honolulu and the Philippines.

Must Pay for His Food.

A member of congress, according to long established regulation, receives free passage for himself and members of his immediate family on board army and navy transports. He is required, however, to pay for subsistence at the rate of a dollar and a half a day per person.

Senators and representative also receive free transportation on the two ships run by the government owned Panama railroad steamship line. Free transportation in this case includes the cost of meals, but not the passage of members of the family.

Usually summer time also finds several committees of investigation on the road, some traveling to outlying possessions, more of them conducting their inquiries on home soil. A record of seventeen committees out investigating at one time was set a few years ago, but this summer finds few on route.

Brookhart Sails Early.

Senator Smith Wildman Brookhart, radical Republican of Iowa, was among the first to set sail. He traveled on the army transport St. Mihiel to Panama, where he gave voice to some of his dry convictions.

Army transports, according to the numbers traveling on them, are the most popular. Among those who have signified their intention of going by army transport are Representative William E. Hess [Rep., O.] and wife, New York to San Francisco, Honolulu and return; Representatives W. Frank James [Rep., Mich.] and Percy E. Quin [Dem., Miss.] and Mrs. Quin, to Panama and return; Representatives Harry L. Englebright [Rep., Cal.], August H. Andresen [Rep., Minn.], and Homer W. Hall, all with their wives and all going to Honolulu.

The best patronized cruise is that to start from New York on May 5 bound for Manila. Those scheduled to leave from New York are Representatives R. A. Green [Dem., Fla.], Anthony J. Griffin [Dem., N. Y.] and Mrs. Griffin, Joseph L. Hooper [Rep., Mich.] and Harold Knutson [Rep., Mich.].

Reserved for Committee.

A dozen places for members of the insular affairs committee tentatively are reserved, and embarking at San Francisco are Representatives Ed H. Campbell [Rep., Ia.] and his son, Robert H. Clancy [Rep., Mich.], David Hopkins [Rep., Mo.] and his wife, Melvin J. Maas [Rep., Minn.], Joe J. Manlove [Rep., Mo.] and his wife, Tom Yon [Dem., Fla.], Mrs. Yon, and their daughter, and Senator Harry B. Hawes [Dem., Mo.], his wife and secretary.

The sailing lists for the Panama railroad ships show that Representative Edward E. Browne [Rep., Wis.] made the trip last January, and he has been followed by Representatives William R. Coyle [Rep., Pa.], John M. Evans [Dem., Mont.], Richard P. Freeman [Rep., Conn.], Charles T. Underhill [Rep., Mass.], Samuel S. Arents [Rep., Nev.], Thomas C. Cochran [Rep., Pa.], Francis D. Culkin [Rep., N. Y.], Vincent Carter [Rep., Wyo.], Claude A. Fuller [Dem., Ark.], Robert L. Hogg [Rep., W. Va.], Frederick C. Loofbourow [Rep., Utah], Charles B. Timberlake [Rep., Colo.], George J. Schneider [Rep., Wis.], John Taber [Rep., N. Y.], and Martin Kennedy [Dem., N. Y.].

Some went alone; others were accompanied by their wives and members of their families.

Bound for Philippines.

Another means of travel was provided by the U. S. S. Henderson, navy transport, which Hampton Roads on March 17 for San Francisco, Honolulu, Manila and return. Among those on board were Senator Tasker L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.], his wife and niece; Senator Arthur R. Robinson [Rep., Ind.], his wife and daughter, bound for Manila; Mrs. George P. Darrow, wife of Representative Darrow [Rep., Pa.], and their daughter and Representative R. J. Vincent [Rep., Mich.], bound for Honolulu; and Representative Guy U. Hardy [Rep., Colo.], his wife and daughter bound for San Francisco. At San Francisco, Representative Ernest W. Gibson [Rep., Vt.], and his daughter and Representative Cassius C. Dowell [Rep., Ia.] and Mrs. Dowell were to come aboard and make the trip to Manila.

In addition to members of congress traveling at government expense or in part at government expense, others have gone abroad on their own. Among these are Senators Dwight W. Morrow [Rep., N. J.] and Otis F. Glenn [Rep., Ill.], to Europe; and Senator Arthur Vandenberg [Rep., Mich.], to the Philippines. Senator William H. King [Dem., Utah] has just returned from the Caribbean. Representative Conrad G. Selvig [Rep., Minn.] is to tour Europe studying agricultural conditions.

12 Senatorial Committees.

A dozen senatorial committees were continued through the summer, but only two of them will entail much travel. The committee investigating wild life, consisting of Senators Frederic C. Walcott [Rep., Conn.], Peter Norbeck, insurgent Republican of South Dakota; Key Pittman [Dem., Nev.], and Harry B. Hawes [Dem., Mo.], recently visited the Okefenokee swamp in Georgia to see whether it was suited for a game refuge. The committee's original $20,000 appropriation was augmented by another $10,000 at the last session.

The committee on Indian affairs, of which Senator Lynn J. Frazier, radical Republican of North Dakota, is chairman, plans, it is understood, to travel again this summer inquiring into Indian conditions. Its original $30,000 appropriation was increased by another $15,000 at the last session.

MEASLES? NOT A BIT OF IT!

Show Goes On

New Orleans, La., April 10.—(AP)—Miss Ethel Barrymore Colt does not have the measles. Reports that the daughter of Ethel Barrymore was suffering from measles proved false late today when a physician diagnosed her ailment as a rash due to a digestive upset. She was released by the physician and continued on a theatrical tour with her mother and brother.

GAMBLING HOUSE ROBBED OF $14,000 WHILE 1,000 PLAY

New Orleans, La., April 10.—(AP)—Robbers stole $14,800 from the safe of the Arabi club tonight while a thousand persons were trying their luck in the gaming rooms at roulette and dice and the guards armed with machine guns stood at peepholes to thwart holdup men.

The thieves sawed a hole in the floor of the club beneath a locker opening into the office. The cashier said he left the office for a few minutes and the thieves entered through the hole, took the money from a safe and escaped the way they came.

A dozen guards were diligently watching all entrances and the crowd in the gaming rooms when the thieves stole off with their loot.

OPEN VERDICT IN SLAYING.

BOY RUN OVER TWICE BY SAME AUTO; MAY DIE

Seven year old Louis Ferrara of Hammond, Ind., was injured yesterday when he was twice run over by the same automobile. The boy was run down by a car driven by a 14 year old high school girl, who stopped her car, and then, in the excitement, backed over the body. The accident occurred in Hammond.

Philip La Porte, 38 years old, 470 West 27th street, died yesterday at St. Paul's hospital of injuries received Wednesday when the truck on which he was riding collided with an automobile at Emerald avenue and 32d street. This death increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 322.

world and high priest of big business, was sat upon by the majority of the board when attempting to procure the adoption of policies deemed unwise by the majority.

In August, 1927, Mr. Norman came to America to procure a reduction of the reserve bank rediscount rate in order to halt the flow of gold away from London, which was beginning to worry the British financiers. In order to maintain the gold standard to which Britain had recently returned it was going to be necessary to borrow gold and pay interest, or raise the British money rate at the expense of British business. But if our rates were lowered below that of the British the flow of gold would be reversed in the direction of London without costing the British a farthing.

With the aid of the late Benjamin Strong, governor of the New York reserve bank, Mr. Norman put the deal over. The American rediscount rate was reduced from 3½ to 2 per cent.

The reserve board soon found itself under the hottest kind of fire. Eventually the rediscount rate was raised, but too late to discourage the stock market speculation which it had been predicted would be the result of the reduction.

This experience proved such a lesson to the reserve board that when Mr. Norman came again a couple of years later again seeking the adjustment of our rediscount rates to ease the London financial situation he received a cool reception and went away empty handed.

Fixes Day for Her Baby's Birth, but Forfeits Life

Rochester, Ind., April 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. John Gysin, an expectant mother, wanted her baby to be born on the same day and at the same hour as her husband had been, so today she underwent a caesarian operation. A daughter, Betty Lou, was delivered at the exact paternal birthday hour, but Mrs. Gysin died soon after.

HUSBAND HELD IN ROGERS PARK "GRIEF" KILLING

He Claims Suicide Over Death of Child.

On instructions from the state's attorney's office, the Rogers Park police last night held Franklin C. Simmons, 31 years old, for further investigation in connection with the death of his wife, Hazel, 29 years old. The wife's parents found her dying in Simmons' arms at 5 a. m. yesterday in the young couple's apartment at 1239 Chase avenue. She had been shot through the back of the head.

At the adjournment of an inquest last evening until next Thursday Simmons' attorney, Irving Soffran, declared that unless the defendant was immediately booked and admitted to bail he would sue for a writ of habeas corpus. Assistant State's Attorney Richard B. Jackson retorted that, if and when the writ was granted, Simmons would be booked for murder.

Declines to Testify.

Simmons, a former football player at the University of Southern California and at Columbia university, nervously plucked his lip at an inquest yesterday afternoon during which police and medical witnesses declared his statement that his wife committed suicide was, in view of the facts, impossible.

The witnesses said the wound, entering at the back of the head above and in back of the left ear and emerging through the right temple, could not have been self-inflicted.

On advice of his counsel Simmons declined to testify. Previous to the inquest, which was held in the roof solarium of the Rogers Park hospital, he had told Capt. Patrick F. Harding of the Rogers Park police that his wife was toying with a .25 caliber automatic when it suddenly discharged.

Say Woman Threatened Suicide.

For two hours after the shooting Simmons sat holding her head in his arms, according to Capt. Harding. The woman was still breathing when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred N. Grant of Dodge Center, Minn., discovered the couple and telephoned police. Mrs. Simmons died soon afterwards in the Rogers Park hospital.

In partial corroboration of Simmons' story, her parents testified that Mrs. Simmons had been morose since the death of her 4 year old daughter, Barbara, a year ago, and had threatened suicide. The neighbors, too, told the police Mrs. Simmons was constantly melancholy.

Simmons also had been depressed since the child's death, according to Capt. Harding, who said that six months ago the police were summoned to the apartment to find him attempting suicide by gas. At that time the wife was away, visiting her parents.

SECRET SIX AND POLICE HUNT FOR MISSING LAWYER

Secret Six investigators and the police are searching for Attorney Benjamin McWilliams of the Uptown hotel, 4700 Broadway, whose mysterious disappearance on the evening of March 9 was disclosed yesterday.

The lawyer, who is 63 years old, was last seen at Joe Amato's restaurant, Taylor and Halsted streets, where he was reported to have expressed the intention of going to West Baden, Ind., or Hot Springs, Ark. Investigators were inquiring for him in those places.

City Judge Paul McWilliams of Litchfield, who has been sitting in the Circuit court here, could throw no light on the disappearance of his brother. An official of the Illinois Title and Mortgage company, 111 West Washington street, with which the lawyer had been associated, said he had asked Al Capone to assist in the search.

EXPECT AUTOS TO JAM ROADS; LIST DETOURS

Dozen Blockades on Main Highways.

BY HAL FOUST.

The warm weather this week was received by many Chicago automobile owners as a call to the open road—a call that cannot be answered by many of the motorists until this weekend. Traffic experts forecast that the roads will be crowded.

The motorists will find that the highway construction season has opened. The central traffic bureau reports a dozen detours on important routes. The roads closed are as follows:

Mannheim road—Closed between Lake street and Des Plaines avenue. Traffic is directed east on Lake street, north on 25th avenue, east on North avenue, and north on River road to Des Plaines. Mannheim is being widened.

Mannheim road—Closed between Roosevelt road and Harrison street. Detour is over Harrison street, Wolf road and Roosevelt. A gap is being paved.

Devon avenue—Closed between Lincoln and Crawford avenues. Lincoln and Crawford form the detour. A sewer is being laid.

Dempster street—Closed between Milwaukee avenue and Waukegan road for construction of a grade separation at Dempster and Milwaukee. The marked detour is over Oakton street.

Madison street—Closed between 25th avenue and Mannheim road. The L. H. B. railroad is elevating its tracks so that subways can be constructed at Harrison street, Madison and Washington boulevard. The detour is over 25th avenue, Roosevelt road and Westchester boulevard.

Oakton street—Closed between Northwest highway and River road for construction of a bridge over the Des Plaines river. Follow markers over Northwest highway, Miner street and River road.

Dundee road—Closed between Northwest highway and Quintens road. The state is building a grade separation at Dundee road, Northwest highway and Chicago and North Western railroad. Traffic is directed over Northwest highway, Baldwin road and Quintens road.

Twenty-second street—Closed between Des Plaines avenue and 1st avenue for new bridge over Des Plaines river. The detour is over 31st street.

Burnham avenue—Closed between Glenwood-Dyer road and Glenwood-Lansing road for viaduct construction. The detour is over the Glenwood-Lansing road and Torrence avenue.

A number of secondary roads are also closed for construction jobs. Each has a marked detour. They include the following: Ballard road at Potter road; Lake avenue, Shermer avenue to Waukegan road; Wolf road, Golf road to River road; 119th street, Kedzie avenue to Crawford avenue; 87th street, Harlem avenue to Ridgeland road; Franklin avenue, Mannheim road to Wolf road; Glenwood-Lansing road, Volbrecht to Cottage Grove avenue; McHenry road, Dundee road to county line, and Central road, Milwaukee avenue to Rand road.

2,500 AUTOISTS GET TICKETS IN LICENSE DRIVE

Nearly 2,500 motorists who have failed to procure either city or state licenses, or both, were served with summonses by police yesterday in a new drive ordered by Fred Fischman, acting superintendent of licenses.

Summonses were given to 1,995 machine owners for not having 1931 city vehicle tags, and to 478 drivers not possessing state licenses. All were ordered to appear in the Traffic court this morning. Those who produce the necessary tags before appearing in court may escape fines. Nonappearance in court will result in arrest on capiases after 36 hours, officials warned.

The drive on delinquent motorists was prompted by the discovery that the city vehicle license fund is $600,000 short of the amount collected in a corresponding time last year. Acting Supt. Fischman notified Commissioner Alcock and the latter pledged coöperation. An earlier campaign was stopped on orders of Thompson before the election.

Consider Subway Under Tracks on South Side

George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the south park system, announced yesterday that plans are being considered to construct a subway beneath the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroad tracks where Yates avenue now crosses in order to eliminate crossing accidents. Representatives of the two railroads, Mr. Donoghue and J. H. Smith of the Cook county highway department met to consider the matter. It is estimated that the project will cost nearly $200,000.

Anna Axelrod, 14 years old, arrived in Chicago on a Pennsylvania train yesterday after a journey from Kiev, Russia. She was met in the Union station by her mother and father, who had not seen her since she was 2 years old. In addition to the parents, Benjamin Axelrod and his wife, Lena, of 454 Roslyn place, more than 100 relatives and friends of the family gave Anna a reception at the station.

Twelve years ago, when the communists were taking control of Russia, the Axelrods fled from their Kiev home, leaving Anna, the baby, with a neighbor family. The neighbor and his wife were killed in the Red upheaval and a 12 year old daughter of the neighbor's escaped with Anna and left the baby with a woman in a nearby village. The woman declared the child lost.

After four years of search the Axelrods gave the child up as lost, possibly dead, and sailed for America. But they continued to supply relatives in Russia with money to search for the child. A year ago a representative of the Hebrew Immigrant Aid society got track of Anna in a small Russian village and the restoration followed.

CHARGED WITH SHOOTING TWO.

Andrew Perkins, 25 years old, 6420 Cottage Grove avenue, was arrested yesterday charged with shooting and slightly wounding two companions in a card game Thursday night. He confessed. The wounded men are Frank Daly, 22 years old, son of Lieut. Eugene Daly of the Burnside police, and Stanley Benckus, 27 years old, 6317 Drexel avenue.

THE PUBLISHERS AND THE LINGLE MURDER INQUIRY

Flood of Printed Rumors Hampers Investigation.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

CHAPTER VIII.

Amity prevailed when the newspaper publishers of Chicago met on June 11, two days after the murder of Alfred Lingle, to consider the plight of a crime ridden Chicago.

Soberly these men, who held in their sway the tremendous influence which the great dailies of Chicago might wield for law and order, discussed the murder of Lingle, and then the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"The intolerable outrages of the last year against civic decency and public security in Chicago have culminated dramatically in the cowardly murder of Alfred J. Lingle, a newspaper reporter.

A Challenge to Citizens.

"The undersigned Chicago daily newspapers interpret that murder as an especially significant challenge to the millions of decent citizens who have suffered the vicious activities, in defiance of law and order, of some paltry hundreds of criminal vagrants known as gangsters.

"Considering the causes and the connotations of the unbelievable total of one hundred gang murders in little more than a year and acting in accord and unison we pledge our resources to the cleanup of gang, police, official and any other public viciousness wherever it may appear in order that corruption and the resulting gang activities may be brought to an end and thereby restoring to the citizens of Chicago civic decency and security of life and property."

Signed by the Dailies.

The resolution was signed by representatives of the Chicago daily newspapers, the Daily Illustrated Times, the Daily News, the Evening American, the Evening Post, the Herald and Examiner, the Journal of Commerce, and THE TRIBUNE.

The publisher of THE TRIBUNE, Col. R. R. McCormick, had explained his proposal to place Charles F. Rathbun and Pat Roche in charge of the Lingle investigation, and his colleagues had voiced no dissent. It was agreed that when news developed during the inquiry, no favoritism would be shown THE TRIBUNE in its release, and later it was announced by State's Attorney Swanson that all news would be released by himself, and that no other was privileged to grant interviews.

Past Inquiries Hampered.

Criminal investigations of the past had been hampered and even ruined by the exposure in the daily press of vital clews. But with this unanimity of the Chicago newspapers, with these great separate forces joined in what to them was then a common cause, the investigation of the Lingle murder bore greater promise for success than all the rest of the endless line of inquiries of past crimes, especially the crimes of the gangs.

But it was not to be.

On June 13, Homer Guck, publisher of the Herald and Examiner, telephoned to THE TRIBUNE publisher that William Randolph Hearst had communicated two suggestions to be applied in the Chicago situation. One, said Mr. Guck, was to deport all foreigners, and the other was to have a state of martial law declared in Chicago.

Another Meeting Called.

THE TRIBUNE publisher replied that he could not determine the value of Mr. Hearst's suggestions, but that he would, as president of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers' association, call another meeting of the publishers. This was held on the following day.

At this meeting Herman Black, publisher of Mr. Hearst's Evening American, who had not been present at the first meeting, declared that his newspaper had information that Lingle was a racketeer and that other newspapers were involved.

Col. McCormick replied that Mr. Rathbun would investigate the activities of Lingle thoroughly and without prejudice, and that he would go through with the investigation, no matter what individual might suffer exposure or prosecution.

Other Complaints Told.

Others at the meeting stated that complaints of newspaper men associating with gangsters had been received by other newspapers than THE TRIBUNE, and the names of Leland Reese, crime reporter for the Daily News; John Craig, city editor of the News, and Harry Read, city editor of the Evening American, were mentioned.

It was suggested that another attorney, selected by some of the publishers, should be retained to work with Prosecutor Rathbun, but THE TRIBUNE publisher stated his belief that this would render Rathbun's work ineffective.

FOSTER HUNT DISCLOSED

For a time the situation smoldered, and the work of Rathbun and Roche went along smoothly and efficiently, without interference from the newspapers. Then, on June 21, the Herald and Examiner took the first overt step in violation of the publishers' agreement and in obstruction of justice and published a front page story stating that the weapon which had killed Lingle had been identified, that it had been sold by Peter Von Frantzius to the gangster Foster, and that Foster was being sought by the state's attorney's office.

Every effort was being made by Roche and his staff to apprehend Foster, and, as it happened, on the night before the story was printed, Roche's detectives had boarded a train for Los Angeles, on Foster's trail. The story that Foster was being sought was published in the Hearst Los Angeles Examiner 36 hours before the detectives arrived in that city to arrest Foster.

On the next day following the Herald and Examiner printed another story, this one relating that Roche was seeking Red Forsythe as the slain who killed Lingle, and that Simon Gorman and Willie Noonan were sought as Forsythe's accomplices.

Every precaution had been taken to prevent these three men from learning that they were being sought, and the investigators' hopes of capturing them ran high. They were blasted by the story in the Herald and Examiner.

The action of the Herald and Examiner was like a torch to kindling. Immediately all of the Chicago newspapers, with the exception of THE TRIBUNE, the Post, and the Times, let loose blast after blast concerning the Lingle inquiry. The Foster and Forsythe stories were reprinted time and again, with many embellishments.

Reporters, working for those newspapers whose publishers had signed the resolution of June 11, were directed to spy upon Roche and Rathbun, to ferret out their doings, and to get chummy with the policemen and investigators working on the case, so as to pry secrets from them. As quickly as information was received it was published.

Nor did the press stop at publishing information. The wildest rumors were also rushed into print, without any attempts having been made first to verify them. Lingle was vilified; without restraint he was labeled racketeer, fixer, grafter, and gangster. Veiled insinuations were aimed at unnamed members of THE TRIBUNE staff.

Undercurrents of Pressure.

Nor was this all. Undercurrents of pressure were being applied, intended to influence the state's attorney, and the chief justice of the Criminal court, and the members of the grand jury, and to induce them to take the Lingle investigation out of the hands of Rathbun and Roche. It was even sought to have the witnesses in the murder case paraded before the grand jury.

THE TRIBUNE adhered to the policy set forth in the resolution of the publishers, and for a ten day period, during which no announcements of news were made by the state's attorney, THE TRIBUNE was silent on the Lingle case. In some quarters this silence was alleged to mean that THE TRIBUNE was fearful or unwilling to publish the facts.

THE ROSENHEIM MURDER

Then Mr. Swanson made public the report of Prosecutor Rathbun on the financial affairs of Lingle, and this was published in full in THE TRIBUNE.

The murder of Lingle had attracted the attention of the nation, and editors of newspapers in other cities had sent staff reporters to Chicago. One of these was Harry T. Brundidge of the St. Louis Star. He visited THE TRIBUNE office and the offices of the other newspapers, and then he turned from the investigation of Lingle's murder and began an inquiry into newspaper conditions in Chicago.

In his first story on this subject, which later was reprinted in THE TRIBUNE, Brundidge discussed the murder of Julius Rosenheim, a stool pigeon, dubbed by Brundidge "The Squawker," who was killed in gang fashion on Feb. 1.

Rosenheim's Alliance.

"This writer now can disclose for the first time in any newspaper," wrote Brundidge, "that until a few days prior to his death Rosenheim had an alliance with a reporter for the Chicago Daily News who used him as a stool pigeon and that 'The Squawker' was a familiar figure in the rooms of the newsgathering organization of that great newspaper.

"'The Squawker,' it can be authoritatively disclosed, had for months prior to his sudden taking off been using his association with the reporter for the News as a means of swelling his wallet. He had no visible source of support save for the small sums paid him by this reporter for 'tips.'

"Yet, like Lingle, he lived like a king. He drove a very expensive automobile and kept his young wife and daughter 'in style' in his Dickens avenue home. He was a 'big shot' in many places.

Called "Shakedown Artist."

"The truth is that Rosenheim was a 'shakedown artist' par excellence. He was forcing gamblers, brothel keepers, booze and beer barons, and other racketeers to 'put it on the line' under threat of exposure in the News.

"He was actually in a position to make good on some of his threats, for his job was to get the 'low down' for the reporter, and when his 'shake' failed to work he actually gave the reporter the unquestioned facts which he had in his possession, and these were used by the reporter in connection with news stories."

In his next article Brundidge charged that newspaper men on other Chicago papers were racketeers, and he included in his story an interview with the publisher of THE TRIBUNE in which Col. McCormick was quoted as stating he would ask the grand jury to investigate charges against newspaper men.

Without mentioning names, Brundidge asserted in his article that whereas Lingle had been posthumously dubbed the "unofficial chief of police of Chicago," another reporter was known as the "unofficial mayor of Chicago." Another collected five cents a bag on every bag of cement sold in Chicago, Brundidge declared, while another had defrauded thousands of victims in a fake lottery swindle.

Brundidge urged that the grand jury should make an investigation directed toward learning what other reporters had visited Capone in his Miami Beach retreat, and about one newspaper editor who had been arrested with Capone in Havana.

Other reporters, according to Brundidge, had fixed a standardized schedule of fees for divorce lawyers wanting their names used in stories, and had manipulated a "bond racket."

Editors Are Aroused.

The publication of Brundidge's charges roused the editors of the other newspapers. They had been prodding THE TRIBUNE for having Lingle; here was a thorn in their own sides. "People who live in glass houses——"

Editorials appeared in the rival newspapers, in all of which so many columns of publicity harmful to the Lingle inquiry had been published, and THE TRIBUNE was attacked for giving space to Brundidge's charges.

It was even suggested that Brundidge had been brought here at the instance of THE TRIBUNE, although Brundidge and his managing editor, Frank W. Taylor Jr., announced publicly and eventually swore before the grand jury that his assignment had come in the regular course of news enterprise.

WRITES OF INQUIRY

INQUIRY SUGGESTED

Then Col. McCormick, on July 6, addressed a letter to State's Attorney Swanson, in which he suggested that the prosecutor conduct an investigation of Brundidge's charges against Chicago newspaper men. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Swanson:

"When Lingle was murdered four weeks ago I offered assistance to the prosecution by putting at your disposal Mr. Charles Rathbun, an experienced lawyer, whom you formerly honored with the offer of a permanent appointment in your office. This offer you accepted and under your direction Mr. Rathbun has organized and carried on an investigation. We have given him every assistance in our power and through the indorsements on the pay checks of Lingle found where he had been banking and with the public spirited coöperation of the bank secured details of his bank accounts which may furnish the clew which will capture his murderer and may furnish avenues into the gangland jungle.

Recommends Full Investigation.

"It is natural that during such investigation a multitude of rumors should have arisen, many of them highly imaginative, it would seem, but some of them very definite and strongly supported. In fact, the names of certain newspaper officials have been bandied around until they are popularly accepted as guilty.

"It seems to me in justice to these men full investigation should be made to establish the innocent and the guilty and also to free from the entire profession the stigma which has been created by the wide dissemination of rumors of all kinds.

"In addition to the official investigators there have been a number of amateurs at work, among them Mr. Harry T. Brundidge, a writer for the St. Louis Star, who asserts that he has unearthed much incriminating evidence. He has written two stories for his newspaper, the St. Louis Star, which have been reproduced in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, a reproduction of which is herewith inclosed.

"Paths Into Forest of Crime."

"The revelations of the last two weeks have been distressing to many of us. We wish the matters exposed had never occurred. We tend to wish that soiled linen be not washed in public, but out of so much evil a greater good may come. The activities of Lingle and men of his stripe are like paths leading into the forest of crime which hitherto has proven trackless. By following them the whole criminal organization which has Chicago by its throat may be surrounded and destroyed.

"Therefore, it is my opinion that Mr. Brundidge should be interrogated and that all probable clews disclosed by him should be mercilessly followed up regardless of where they lead. To do this work will demand a larger personnel than now engaged. It is not within the capacity of Mr. Rathbun to increase his activities without diverting himself from his principal duty, the discovery of the circumstances of Mr. Lingle's murder and of the persons guilty of that crime.

"I therefore suggest that further examination into the rumors aroused by this case be carried on by your regular staff or by special counsel competent to make such investigation.

"Sincerely yours,

"ROBERT R. MCCORMICK."

SPOTLIGHT ON REESE

Meanwhile a sensational development had cast the spotlight anew on Leland Reese, the gangland reporter for the Daily News. Newspaper men at De Kalb, Ill., learned that Reese lay severely injured in a hospital there. At first the reporter asserted that on July 4 his car, in which he and two men identified as his "bodyguards" were riding, simply skidded and ran into a ditch.

But three days later the Daily News published on its front page a signed story by Reese, in which he revealed that he had been the object of an attack by gangsters. Instead of being in a simple accident, Reese and his bodyguards had been pursued by gangsters for ten miles, and then were "sideswiped" and deliberately forced from the road by the gangsters' car.

The Daily News reporter also revealed that he had several times been threatened by gangsters with death, and that this was the reason the Daily News had supplied him with two bodyguards.

Reese Guarded by Police.

Although Reese did not mention this fact in his story, it was learned later that on the morning of the day Lingle was killed, John Craig, city editor of the Daily News, received a message that Reese was to be murdered that day. The source of this message has not been disclosed.

Craig paid no heed until the news was flashed to him that Lingle had been murdered, and then a squad of heavily armed policemen were sent to the race track, where Reese was spending the day, and the Daily News reporter was safely conveyed to the News office.

Reese did give in his story in the Daily News some information as to the murder of Rosenheim. He wrote:

"I have been told by men who ought to know that he was killed in an effort to frighten the Daily News away from its attack on the Capone beer racket in the loop. Of course, that effort failed."

So far as the public has been informed, no serious effort has been made to apprehend the Rosenheim murderers, nor the men who attempted to kill Reese, and both these crimes against men associated with the Chicago Daily News are unsolved.

Instead of the great publicity which attended the Lingle murder, the assassination of Rosenheim has been shrouded in mystery. Even at the time of the murder no mention was made in the Daily News that Rosenheim had been the paid informant of the News reporter, Reese.

But some facts have leaked out through the veil of secrecy, and it has been disclosed that the Daily News had first hand information concerning a motive for Rosenheim's murder.

Gangster Makes Complaint.

Late in January, 1930, a notorious gangster, one of the leaders of the Capone gang, visited the offices of the Chicago Daily News and complained to high officials of that newspaper that Rosenheim was endeavoring to extort $5,000 from him. He asked that the News put a curb on Rosenheim.

But nothing came of the interview. No effort to trap Rosenheim was made.

Three days later Rosenheim was murdered by gangsters.

On July 11 the Daily News published a front page story recounting to its readers that the heads of three civic organizations—Augustus Peabody of the Citizens' association, Frank J. Loesch of the Chicago crime commission, and Albert R. Brunker of the civic safety commission—had signed a letter sent to State's Attorney Swanson demanding that he remove Mr. Rathbun from control of the Lingle investigation.

Immediately after the story appeared Mr. Peabody indignantly denied that he had signed the letter, and the Daily News in its later editions corrected this statement. Mr. Loesch declared he had been imposed upon by Brunker, and he revealed that Brunker had been "shopping" for signatures to the letter.

Loesch Repudiates Signature.

The crime commission head repudiated his signature and withdrew from the matter. Brunker said the letter had not been intended for publication and that he had no knowledge of how the Daily News had obtained a copy of it.

Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and W. P. Sidley, president of the Chicago Bar association, had been mentioned by Brunker as supporting the demand in the letter, but both these men denied having taken any part in the matter. Gregory Dillon, formerly a reporter on the Daily News, stated he suggested the move to Brunker.

State's Attorney Swanson, as a consequence of the situation created by Brundidge's articles, invited the St. Louis reporter to appear for questioning by his assistants. Brundidge's employers stated he would appear before the grand jury, but not for questioning by the state's attorney, and for a few days the matter rested that way.

BRUNDIDGE BEFORE JURY

Then Chief Justice Normoyle suggested to the grand jurors that they call Brundidge. This was done, and Brundidge appeared.

During the interim, investigators had revealed the identities of the newspaper men accused in most of the charges Brundidge had made. Harry Read, city editor of the Evening American, was identified as the man who had visited Capone's Florida stronghold and had been arrested with Capone and some of the latter's henchmen in Havana.

Matt Foley, while assistant circulation manager of the Herald and Examiner, had promoted the fake lottery. [He was later convicted of the fraud in the Criminal court and fined $500, which sum was reduced to $250, which Foley paid.]

A reporter for the Herald and Examiner, Ted Tod, who had been covering the Criminal Courts building and the state's attorney's office, was at the same time the paid press agent for the north side gang's dog track, which was even then being prosecuted by the state's attorney.

Reporter Gives Testimony.

Brundidge appeared and gave testimony. The grand jurors then summoned a host of newspaper reporters, editors, and publishers. Those accused were called, and so were Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Daily News; Harry Reutlinger, assistant city editor, and William H. Stuart, political editor of the Chicago American; Col. McCormick, Robert M. Lee, city editor of THE TRIBUNE, and others.

The jurors also called Capt. Russell and Corporation Counsel Ettelson, seeking to learn from them the manner of Russell's appointment as police commissioner. It had been intimated that THE TRIBUNE dictated Russell's appointment.

Capt. John Stege, who had been relegated by the new police commissioner with five other police captains to a dutiless post in the "reserve division," situated in an abandoned police station, also was called by the grand jurors. When he had completed his testimony the jurors accompanied him from the room, their foreman announcing that the jury wished to express their confidence in Stege and to recommend that he be reinstated in command of the detective bureau.

Prosecutors Talk to Jury.

Prosecutors Rathbun and McGu[illegible] and Chief Investigator Roche also were invited to appear before the jury, and they informed the jurors generally about the progress of their investigation.

Finally the grand jury returned a report in the form of a letter addressed to the chief justice. The jury reported its inability to substantiate the evidence given by Brundidge, and stated that a great deal of his testimony was hearsay. Then the report said:

"Numerous rumors appeared in the public press relative to the manner in which Russell was appointed commissioner of police. On the evidence that was produced for the grand jury by various public officials it is our opinion that his appointment came through the regular channels of the present city administration.

Coöperation Is Recommended.

"Further, the grand jury recommends that the citizens of Chicago cooperate with the state's attorney's office and other law enforcing bodies, also with the special state's attorneys Charles F. Rathbun and James H. Shane, and the investigators headed by Patrick T. Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, who are working solely on the Lingle murder, which we have every reason to believe will soon be solved."

During all of the period of the disclosures episods in Chicago journalism no evidence was presented tending to show that any other member of THE TRIBUNE organization beside Lingle had been involved in any dishonest or unethical pursuit.

Portuguese Inhabitants Flee to Mountains.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 10.—A detailed account of the revolt in Madeira against the Portuguese government reached London by wireless today from H. L. Howard, a passenger on the liner Edinburgh Castle, which sailed from Madeira for Southampton yesterday.

Mr. Howard said the Portuguese inhabitants, terrified by the military dictatorship, are fleeing from Funchal and taking refuge in the mountains, but that the British population is standing fast, reassured by the arrival Wednesday of the British cruiser London, with her guns run out. All business is at a standstill, Mr. Howard continued, and there is a heavy run on the provision stores and banks.

Rebels Mounting Guns.

The revolutionaries have cut all telephone communications and censored all cables and mails. They are mounting guard on all ships entering the harbor and have commandeered all motor transportation. All reserves of the 19 to 26 year classes have been called out by the rebels and guns are being placed in strategical positions.

Mr. Howard declared the revolution was really a sequel to the February grain riots in Madeira and was fomented by 300 political agitators who had been deported from Portugal some months ago. The grain riots in February were the result of the government giving a monopoly to certain political interests, Mr. Howard said. The population, urged by the deportees, organized a strike, with the result that four men were killed and Lisbon was forced to withdraw the monopoly.

Lisbon then sent a military governor with 300 troops and six field guns to restore order. The governor, Mr. Howard declared, adopted an autocratic attitude, and without giving the inhabitants any opportunity of defending themselves he made wholesale deportations to the Azores.

Governor's Troops Join Revolt.

Later the Madeira garrison, both officers and men, fraternized with the Lisbon troops who had arrived with the governor, and, urged by the original deportees from Lisbon, placed the governor under arrest. On Sunday, April 5, they proclaimed a military dictatorship.

According to reports from Lisbon, the steamer Carvalho Araujo, with 377 passengers aboard, which was seized by the Madeira rebels, arrived there tonight after having been held at Funchal three days. The rebels searched the vessel and seized its entire cargo, consisting of cattle and foodstuffs. They gave the captain a receipt and told him to collect from the Portuguese government. According to passengers on the ship, the rebels are digging trenches around the island in preparation to resist any attempt by Portuguese forces to subdue the revolt.

Establish Blockade in Azores.

LISBON, April 10.—(AP)—The first official admission that the Madeira revolt had spread to the Azores, as reported yesterday, was contained in a government decree today establishing blockades of the island of San Miguel, of which the chief town is Punta Delgada, and the island of Terceira, the capital of which is Angra de Heroismo. No details were given of events which have taken place in these localities.

Another decree, signed by President Carmona and the ministers of war and of marine, dismissed nine officers from service on the ground that they were members of the rebel committee at Funchal, Madeira.

Madeira Ports Closed.

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—The Portuguese legation here announced tonight that because of the rebellion in Madeira the Portuguese official journal has published a decree declaring the ports of the Madeira archipelago would be closed to all navigation and commerce.

WAUKEGAN JURY UPHOLDS FAMILY HOME IN CHURCH

Clarence Spiering was found not guilty of malicious mischief by a jury in the court of County Judge Perry L. Persons in Waukegan yesterday. The charge was based on Spiering's use of the Hickory Corners Methodist church, near Antioch, as a home.

The acquittal made it even all in Spiering's fight with trustees of the church over his right to reside in the building with his family. A justice of the peace previously had ruled in favor of the trustees. In court yesterday, prosecutors charged Spiering broke into the church. He denied this and asserted the building was no longer church property.

A showdown on the controversy is expected at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. At that time members of the church will attempt to hold services over will be led by Trustee Frank Brunette.

"Nobody will ever get into the church but my family, relatives and friends," Spiering said last night. "It is my home."

Sheriff Lester Tiffany of Lake county will be on the scene, he said, as a neutral observer.

EX-RULER DIES

GEN. LAZARO CHACON.

New Orleans, La., April 10.—(AP)—Gen. Lazaro Chacon, 46, former president of Guatemala and for many years a distinguished military figure in Central American affairs, died at his home here early today. His wife and nine children were at his bedside.

He succumbed to a second stroke of paralysis, suffered last Tuesday. The first stroke, in December, 1930, forced him to resign the presidency of his native country after he had served more than four years of a six year term.

Shortly after his resignation he came to New Orleans with his family for medical attention and appeared to be steadily improving until the second stroke.

VIVIAN GORDON ESTATE VALUED AT ONLY $200

New York, April 10.—The butterfly life of Vivian Gordon, slain Broadway playgirl, netted her just a pitiful $200, it was revealed today when application was made to Surrogate James A. Foley for letters of administration in her estate.

What happened to the many thousands of dollars the strangled beauty was believed to have extracted from wealthy admirers was a mystery.

Detectives said she had depleted her own estate to finance shady transactions for underworld characters to such an extent that she had little or nothing left when she was slain. She was killed, they asserted, when she demanded some return on her "investments."

Her diary revealed she had financed a trip abroad for several men who, police believed, were seeking to dispose of $70,000 in stolen securities for her.

ZION DENIES REPORTS THAT VOLIVA IS ILL

Reports that Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church at Zion, was seriously ill from a chronic ailment were emphatically denied last night.

Voliva, who is 61 years old, is said to be in excellent health. His only ailment was suffered recently when his foot was scalded. Despite the injury, it is stated that Voliva has attended to his many duties. He was reported last night to be virtually recovered from the scald.

GRAF ARRIVES IN EGYPT 13 HOURS AHEAD OF TIME

CAIRO, Egypt, April 10.—(AP)—Prevented from mooring because she was thirteen hours ahead of schedule, the Graf Zeppelin floated over northern Egypt tonight, marking time until dawn.

In command of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the dirigible passed over Cairo this afternoon and her officers inquired by radio whether they could tie up. Told that preparations were not completed she resumed her flight and planned to moor at 5:30 a. m. tomorrow.

Newspapermen aboard the craft said that the Graf planned to remain a half hour at Almaza airdrome and then depart for Palestine. She will return here the following day and start for Friedrichshafen after a short lay over.

HOOVER STARTS DRIVE TO BUILD PRIVATE HOMES

Sees It Expedite Return to Prosperity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—A new move to stimulate home building as an aid in expediting the return of prosperity has been inaugurated by President Hoover, it was learned today.

Within the last few days the President has discussed means of pepping up the building of private homes with a number of officials and men interested in the construction business. Among such callers today were Herbert U. Nelson of Chicago, executive director of the National Association of Real Estate boards.

Following this conference, which was participated in by Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, it was learned that Mr. Nelson is planning to arange for a study of home building financing in an effort to work out easier financing arrangements for the man who wants to build. While no definite plans have been made it is understood that the national association expects to have coöperation of University of Chicago professors and officials well known in the building and financial world.

In his study of the home building situation the President had been told that easier financing arrangements would aid the building of private homes.

It was learned today that Col. Arthur Wods, chairman of the President's emergency committee for unemployment, expects to retire from active participation in the committee's work the latter part of this month. Officials at the commerce department stated, however, that Col. Woods would keep in touch with the work of the committee and act in an advisory capacity.

As improvement in the employment situation has developed, the staff of the emergency committee has been dwindling. The plan now is to keep a skeleton organization in operation all summer and fall.

PRAGUE, April 10.—The mayor of Kladno, near Prague, the native town of Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, announced today that the Pata street on which is located the house where Cermak was born, will be renamed Cermak street in his honor.

"Cermak is certainly the right man in the right place," the mayor declared.

FUNERAL TRAIN OF LONGWORTH ON WAY TO OHIO

Services Will Be Held at 2 Today.

was to break the news to Paulina tomorrow.

The services will be attended by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr., widow of the former President. The seating capacity of the church, located in the downtown financial district, is limited to 750, and admission to the funeral will be by ticket.

During the ceremony at the church a string quartet will play "Ade Verum," by Mozart, and "Adeste Fideles," by Hayden. Near the close the church choir will sing "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," one of the most popular Episcopal hymns.

There will be prayers and another simple ceremony at the grave.

Chicago Men Named.

Sister Is Coming Home.

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—The Countess Clara Longworth de Chambrun, sister of Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the house of representatives, who died yesterday, cabled friends in Paris today that she was leaving Tunis by plane and would take the Ile de France at Cherbourg next Wednesday for the United States.

Porto Rico Pays Tribute.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 10.—(AP)—Flags were flown at half staff all over Porto Rico today in mourning at the passing of Nicholas Longworth, speaker of the house of representatives. Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, brother-in-law of Longworth, said that he would not attempt to attend the funeral.

Prof. Eleanor Bontecou of U. of Chicago Is Ill

Miss Eleanor Bontecou, professor of law relations in the graduate school of social service administration, University of Chicago, is ill in the Garfield Memorial hospital, Washington, D. C. Her ailment, university officials said, has been diagnosed as sleeping sickness. Her condition is reported improving, and she is expected to return to the university June 22. Miss Bontecou became ill a week ago, on her return from a trip to Mexico. She is a graduate and a former dean of Bryn Mawr college.

EIGHTY PLANES REACH DETROIT FOR AIR SHOW

Detroit, Mich., April 10.—[Special.]—Eighty or more of the airplanes that will be on display at the Detroit City airport 1931 national air show were in their places tonight. More are expected tomorrow morning for the public opening at 7 p. m.

Although no definite word has been received from him, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is expected to be a show visitor.

Planes from all points of the compass were arriving today almost faster than they could be registered. Among the many new models, not before seen here, were two commercial speedsters, modeled by Granville Brothers' Aircraft corporation, Springfield, Mass. There were also a new cabin model Waco, a new Curtiss-Wright commuter amphibian and a new State two place open job. The W. B. Stout Sky Car will be shown for the first time.

CALLS UP RIGHT NUMBER—GETS WRONG COUNTRY

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 10.—What is believed to be a world's record wrong number was registered here today. The long distance telephone in the Reuter's London office rang furiously and an excited voice spoke in a foreign language.

"Parlez-vous Français? Sprechen sie Deutsch? Habla usted Espanol?"

The Reuter's editor tried failing, realizing that the tongue at the other end was Italian. Then came the following dialogue:

"Allo, allo, are you Trunk Switchland No. 14?"

"No, we are Trunk London No. 14. I am afraid you have been trouble with the right number, but the wrong exchange and country."

M. C. B., 729 N. Central Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"About the first of this year the company I was working for decided it would be necessary to lay off a number of their employes. Consequently I found myself out of a job at a time when seasonal unemployment was at its worst. It was up to me to secure other employment as quickly as possible. I tried most of the ordinary channels, but everywhere I heard the same discouraging remark: 'People aren't hiring anybody nowadays.' Then, on Jan. 11, I inserted a 'Situation Wanted' ad in the Sunday Tribune. And here's what happened: Monday morning, about 10:30, I dropped into the Tribune Want Ad Office and found my FIRST reply. (I received 7 in all). At 4:30 that afternoon I called on the company that answered my ad. One hour later I left their office with instructions to report for work the following Monday. In less than 48 hours from the time that the Sunday Tribune appeared I had a job! Such a case may be an everyday occurrence to the Tribune, but it looks like some kind of a record to me."

M. G. H., 439 Roslyn Place, Chicago, Ill.—"I have used the Tribune on numerous occasions for want ads. The last time I used the Tribune to advertise an electric sewing machine for sale. The ad appeared in a Sunday issue and I received more than forty telephone calls, some of them a week after the ad appeared. Of course the sewing machine was sold immediately."

MRS. VERA CONRAD, 827 E. Ewing Ave., South Bend, Ind.—"Two years ago my husband and I bought quite a large tent to use on a camping trip. After we came home we had no place to store the tent. We tried selling it by putting an ad in our local paper, but didn't get an answer. Since we are daily readers of the Chicago Tribune we decided to advertise it in the want ad columns of the Tribune. Within 24 hours after the ad appeared a South Bend man read the ad, and our tent, being just what he wanted, was sold to him."

* * *

MRS. C. S., 1826 S. Union Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"With a little imagination and a lot of time on my hands I planned to make a few much needed dollars through the Tribune want ads. I had a lot of old stuff in the attic, such as a baby's bed, buggy and old chairs in good condition. I painted and decorated these with care and found ready buyers through the Chicago Tribune want ads, thereby putting ready cash in my pocket for a few hours' work."

* * *

P. J. R., 6326 Irving Park Blvd., Chicago, Ill.—"I had an apartment to rent and I inserted an ad in the Tribune which I worded myself, but had little satisfactory results. I again called the Tribune Sunday adtaker and gave her the dimensions, etc., of the apartment and told her to help me word the ad. She sure did. That Sunday I rented the apartment, the tenant making the remark: 'Your apartment is everything your ad says it is.'"

ESTATE TAXES TO TIDE STATE OVER EMERGENCY

$1,300,000 Will Be Paid Ahead of Time.

Funds to meet the threatened deficit in the state treasury were promised yesterday by Attorney General Carlstrom, who announced that inheritance taxes amounting to $1,300,000 will be paid over to the country treasurer within three weeeks. The money will be sent to Springfield, it was said, and thus the state will be enabled to function until June 1 when the general tax money will be collected.

The inheritance taxes will come from two large Chicago estates whose attorneys have agreed to pay the amounts immediately instead of waiting until the latter part of May when they fall due. Ordinarily such funds are not in the hands of the state treasurer until the latter part of June.

Will Aid U. of I.

The deficit of the University of Illinois, amounting to $400,000, will therefore be met on May 1. The remainder of the money will aid other state departments and institutions until June 1.

The estates on which the taxes will be paid are those of Thomas D. Jones, capitalist, who died last Sept. 30, the tax being $1,000,000, and the estate of Ezra C. Fahrney, patent medicine magnate, who died Sept. 10. The tax on the Fahrney estate is $300,000.

Ask Aid of Carlstrom.

Attorney General Carlstrom recently gave an opinion that the issuance of state tax anticipation warrants was legal but at the same time advised against it. The state has never before issued such warrants and Mr. Carlstrom advised that it would set a bad precedent to do so. His aid was then asked in solving the state's financial muddle, and he responded with the proposition to collect the inheritance taxes immediately.

The coöperation of County Treasurer McDonough was obtained, so that the money might be parceled out to the state treasurer as soon as it came in.

5 RUM RUNNERS ARE SEIZED ON SCUTTLED BOAT

Boston, Mass., April 10.—[Special.]—Five men on a scuttled speed boat were captured under machine gun fire in Nantucket sound, it was revealed today when coast guard patrol boat 443 brought captives and liquor to the Woods Hole coast guard house.

The capture followed a mile chase during which two rounds, 78 shots, were sent by the pursuing guardsmen, disabling the fleeing craft. The scutting followed.

The five were on the speed boat Hit Her, a twin screw craft that was a sister ship of her captor, the former rum runner Tramp.

More than 800 cases of Four Aces whisky and a quantity of other liquors valued at $25,000 were aboard the craft, coast guardsmen reported.

The prisoners were finger printed and photographed for the federal authorities at police headquarters and were taken to Boston. Guardsmen said they seized eight cases of liquor before the Hit Her sank.

SALE OF CHARRED BARREL NOT DRY LAW VIOLATION

New Orleans, La., April 10.—(AP)—The Fifth Circuit United States Court of Appeals today reversed a decision of the federal District court at Waco, Tex., in which three men dealing in fruit jars and charred barrels were convicted of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

The men, Silvian McDonald, wholesale house manager at Corsicana, Tex., and two retail dealers at Young, Tex., Marion Coates and Roger Young, were given short term prison sentences by the District court.

The higher court's opinion held that there was not sufficient evidence to convict.

The indictment charged the selling and possession for sale of utensils and substances, including corn, hops, sugar, fruit jars, and charred barrels, for the unlawful manufacture of liquor.

JUDGE TO ORDER REOPENING OF TAX PROTESTS

Writ Will Not Halt the Collection.

Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh next Monday will issue a writ of mandamus to compel the board of review to reopen its hearings on complaints against the 1929 realty assessments. The judge announced his intention following a hearing on a petition brought by thirteen property owners, including the owners of several loop buildings.

The court order will not disrupt the collection of the 1929 taxes, however, as Attorney Roy Massena, representing the board of review, filed notice of an appeal to the Illinois Supreme court. A decision from that court will not be handed down for several months and by that time public officials expect that most of the tax money will be collected.

Taxpayers See Victory.

Although the thirteen taxpayers will not win an immediate hearing on their complaints, due to the appeal, they regarded Judge Kavanagh's decision as a victory in their campaign to nullify the 1929 tax assessment. The ruling, they pointed out, opens the door to some 35,000 other taxpayers who also were denied hearings by the reviewing board.

The petition on which Judge Kavanagh ruled yesterday was sponsored by the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers. Through its attorneys, Watkins, Ten Hoor & Gilbert, the association declared that the reviewers had autocratically closed the assessment books without giving the thirteen property owners the right to a hearing. This, they said, was in violation of the law.

Reviewers Present Side.

The reviewers, on the other hand, contended that the information filed by the complainants was sufficient for them to decide the matter without hearing the taxpayers, and they also pointed out that none of the thirteen taxpayers had sought hearings before the board of assessors.

County Treasurer McDonough announced yesterday that the first of the city's real estate tax bills for 1929 will be mailed out next Tuesday. Taxpayers in Hyde Park will receive their bills first.

5 Cent Fare in New York Again Upheld by Court

New York, April 10.—[Special.]—The five cent fare on New York City's subway and elevated lines was upheld again today.

The appellate division of the Supreme court, first department, in decisions on two suits ruled that the five cent fare was written into the dual contracts between the city and the Interborough as an unchangeable rate, even though the company lost money by it.

DRY AGENT SIPS EVIDENCE, NOW BELIEVED DYING

Baltimore, Md., April 10.—[Special.]—Word was received in federal court offices here today that David A. Gould, a prohibition agent, who had been working with the Baltimore squad, is near death at his home in Scranton, Pa., from poison liquor he drank while getting evidence against a Baltimore speakeasy. Gould drank the liquor some time over the week-end and became ill after he had reported for work on Monday.

Reports on his condition, coming from Scranton today, indicated that the poison served to Gould may prove fatal. Other Baltimore prohibition officers declined to state how much of the liquor Gould drank or to give the exact address of the place where he got it.

Gould has been working with the Baltimore enforcement squad since last November, acting as a buyer.

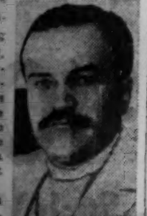
Paints Glowing Picture of Scheme's Progress.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MOSCOW, March 19.—[By mail.]—"Peace and prosperity" are the twin keynotes of the policy of the soviet government, according to Vlacheslav M. Molotov, chairman of the council of people's commissars of the central executive committee of the U. S. S. R., in a special statement to THE TRIBUNE.



V. M. MOLOTOV.
[Acme Photo.]

"The attention my country is giving to our economic development, the five year plan, is clear evidence of a basic policy towards the development of peaceful relations with all other countries," he said. "Our chief task is completing the plan in four years. We have all the essentials necessary within the country for carrying out this task. Increased aggressiveness against the U. S. S. R., preparations for attack on the part of the most extreme capitalistic circles and foreign governments must be answered by the complete fulfillment of our economic plan in 1931, and still more decisive steps by Russia to strengthen peace.

"Working for World Peace."

"The success of our socialist construction and the strengthening of our means of defense are inseparably bound up with the further struggle to consolidate peace. We are firmly convinced that the more successfully we advance the work of the five year plan the more will the peace of the world be advanced."

Molotov summed up the achievements of the first two years of the industrialization plan, stressing them as particularly important because in that initial period the country entered for the first time on the execution of a definite economic scheme over a number of years.

"I will take up four aspects of the plan," he said. "First is the question of national income. According to our project the income for the period that has elapsed was scheduled to increase to 58,300,000,000 rubles. It has actually grown to 59,500,000,000 rubles. [In the United States currency the ruble is valued at 50 cents, though worth about six cents in Russia].

"Secondly comes industrial production. We planned that the gross production of industry controlled by the supreme economic council was to attain 29,300,000,000 rubles in the period under consideration. In reality it amounted to 30,500,000,000, an increase of four per cent.

Even Budget Grows.

"Third, the question of capital investment in the basic fund of the socialized sector [industry, transport, state farms, collectives, etc.] shows a total of 13,800,000,000 rubles instead of 12,700,000,000 envisaged, or nine per cent above expectations.

"In the fourth place, provisions had been made for a national budget of 17,000,000,000 rubles. The actual budget covers 21,000,000,000 rubles, or 24 per cent above the plan."

Molotov took up the question of collectivization of peasants and their farms, stating it to be "of especial significance in the village, the most backward section of our economic structure."

"The trend of the peasant masses toward socialism is a fact of vast historical importance," he continued. "This has prepared the way for a drastic change in policy of the government, namely, from limiting the size of the kulak, or rich peasant, element in villages to liquidating the kulaks as a class. This is the main element of soviet policy at this time."

The chairman of the commissars admitted certain failures in the execution of the five year plan thus far.

"There have been grave defects which must not be overlooked," he said. "Estimates for 1929-'30 were far from being completely attained. The scheme for lowering costs was not carried out either. Requirements of the scheme for a 21 per cent increase in production were exceeded, the amount reaching nearly 25 per cent, but the control figures were not reached. Our main effort is to prevent this being repeated this year."

He outlined the economic picture for 1931, and compared provision of the plan with those of last year.

"This year 7,465,000,000 rubles will be invested in industrial undertakings, including electric power stations, mainly in the metal, fuel, chemical and building industries. This will represent 900,000,000 rubles, or exactly double that of 1930.

"Work will be intensified to complete new industrial enterprises under way, and the value of new industrial construction to be completed in 1931 will exceed four billion rubles. This almost equals the entire basic capital of the entire census of industry of imperial Russia in 1913. In 1931 pre-war production will be tripled."

Developing the agricultural situation with the mass movement of peasants to collectivized farms, Molotov said:

"We plan to increase the seeded area of 1930 from 318,620,000 acres to 353,210,000 acres in 1931, the bulk of the increase being in the socialized sector. By the end of 1930 more than 26 per cent of the peasants, representing 6,000,000 families, were organized in collectives."

Speaks of Woman Labor.

Molotov then discussed the situation of labor and the entry of hordes of women into the working classes.

"A year ago we had 1,000,000 unemployed," he continued. "Now there is none, and many districts complain of a shortage of even unskilled labor. The introduction of the 7 hour day is an index of the improvement of conditions of the workers. This year the 7 hour day will be extended to railroaders and to 90 per cent of all industrial workers. Wages will be raised 6 per cent in industry and 3 per cent in transport this year.

"Housing construction will be speeded up, sanatoriums and rest homes constructed, and 2,138,000,000 rubles are set aside for the social insurance fund."

RUSSIA AND GERMANY STILL DICKERING ON $75,000,000 ORDER

BERLIN, April 10.—(AP)—German and Russian delegates will continue tomorrow negotiations aiming at a $75,000,000 order for German goods by the soviet government. The soviet embassy and the German conferees emphatically denied tonight reports that the meetings had been postponed and said they would be resumed in the morning.

The Russian delegation of five is headed by G. L. Piatakov, head of the Russian chemical industries, and the German group by Hans Kraemer, president of the German Industrialists' union.

The selection of firms with which orders will be placed devolves upon the Russians, but it is mutually agreed that half of the amount will be placed in heavy industry. Commissioner Piatakov has decreed an increase in soviet industrial investment for 1931 of $385,000,000, in addition to $2,750,000,000 already allocated.

PERSIA TO FORCE BRITAIN TO PAY MORE FOR OIL

Plans to Raise Royalties for Concessions.

BY H. BASIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Persia, April 10.—Another blow to Great Britain's fast disappearing influence in Persia is seen in a government proposal now under consideration to compel the Anglo-Persian Oil company to increase its royalty payments for concessions from 16 to 26 per cent.

Recently the Persian government reduced the powers of the British Imperial bank, taking away its right to issue bank notes, in other words, making it an ordinary small bank with harly sufficient business to warrant its continuation. Soon afterward the British owned telegraph and telephone systems, which had been operating since 1862, were taken over by the Persian government.

Persia After Large Loan.

The Persian government does not intend to do anything to nullify the contract of the Anglo-Persian company, whose capital is set at $150,000,000, part of which was subscribed by the British government. But Persia is at present in need of a large loan for industrialization purposes, and an increased royalty on oil is looked upon as ample security for such a loan. It is said that the London money market is interested in subscribing to the loan, which may amount to $100,000,000, if the interest rate is not below 5 per cent.

The loss of British influence in Persia, where it once maintained a virtual monopoly, is blamed in various quarters to enemies of Great Britain, particularly soviet Russia, which is trying and with some success to get a foothold in Persian trade and commerce. The Persian government itself is considered to be taking advantage of Great Britain's difficulties in India to bring pressure to bear on British interests here.

Part of Development Drive.

All recent events in Persia, however, are a part of the government's program for increasing the productiveness of the country, including the completion of railroads, the building of roads, and irrigating vast stretches of arid land, and whatever obstacles in the form of foreign interests loom in the way are being cut down as part of this program of national development.

Boy, 2, Falls 7 Stories; Doctors Say He'll Live

Huntington, W. Va., April 10.—(AP)—Pushing a screen from a window and losing his balance, a 2 year old boy yesterday fell from the seventh floor of the Pritchard hotel here. Physicians said today he will recover. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beardsley of Little Rock, Ark., said they left the youngster playing in their room. He suffered a broken collar bone, broken thigh, a broken rib, and a cut lip.

ROB LITSINGER AND WIFE; POLICE GET NO REPORT

Detectives last night were seeking four gunmen who held up Edward R. Litsinger, member of the board of review; his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin, Thursday night, in front of the Baldwin residence at 1224 Astor street, and stole loot of more than $1,100. The holdup became known late yesterday. It had not been reported because the loss was considered "trifling."

The Litsingers and the Baldwins had attended a loop theater and were in their car in Astor street when four armed men surrounded the machine. From Mrs. Litsinger jewelry valued at $1,000 was taken. Litsinger lost a watch and $100. Mrs. Baldwin handed over a diamond ring and a smaller band. Her husband, a broker, gave up $11.

Litsinger figured recently in a $50,000 gambling loss in which he advanced the money to Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge and which she lost in a fake faro game at Springfield.

WOMEN'S GROUP PLEDGES HOOVER DRY LAW SUPPORT

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(AP)—A pledge of support to President Hoover for his stand on prohibition was given the chief executive personally today by a delegation of women, described as representing organizations with an estimated membership of 12,000,000.

The pledge was taken to the White House along with a composite report on prohibition drawn by an "unofficial women's national commission for law enforcement."

Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, who appointed the "commission" of 22 women, described the report as "based on a careful study of the Wickersham report, to which this may be added as a woman's postscript."

A number of the "commissioners," together with officials of the national committee, comprised the delegation which went to the White House.

How can you EXPECT beautiful flowers?

If you never give them a Square Meal

A square meal for lawns and flowers is 4 lbs. of Vigoro per 100 sq. ft.

IF you want more flowers, if you want larger ones, more brilliantly colored, you must add plant food to the soil!

Plants, just like human beings, must have the right kind of food, and enough of it. Most soils are deficient in plant food because we fail to replenish the supply that plants take out year after year.

Give your flowers the square meal for plants! 4 lbs. of Vigoro to every 100 sq. ft. That's less than 20 cents per 100 sq. ft. Feed your lawn, shrubs, trees and vegetables, too.

Clean, odorless—Vigoro is the largest selling plant food. Already 3,000,000 home gardeners have used it with amazing results. Endorsed by leading landscape gardeners.

Applying Vigoro is simple: 1. Read directions; 2. Spread evenly; 3. Wet down or rake.

Your garden supply dealer can tell you how much Vigoro you need. Ask to see the Vigoro Spreader, too. It makes applying Vigoro or grass seed quicker, easier.

Vigoro comes in 100, 50, 25 lb. bags, 5 lb. and 12 oz. packages. Order today. Or specify Vigoro when you talk things over with your landscape gardener or nurseryman. Be sure to buy Vigoro only in the original package.

Follow These Simple Rules:

1. Each evening for 42 consecutive evenings (not including Saturday) W-G-N will broadcast 2 songs of yesterday—"Tune Tangles." On each day following the broadcast the Chicago Tribune will print a "Tune Tangle" Crossword Puzzle. Each puzzle will contain the title of one of the songs broadcast the preceding evening. You are invited to listen to the broadcast, solve the Tune Tangle Crossword in the next day's Tribune and name the song.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved and neatest complete sets of answers in accordance with these rules. NOTE: This means that you do not necessarily have to solve each of the 42 Tune Tangles completely to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

3. The prizes are as follows:

1st Prize		$1,000.00
2nd Prize		500.00
3rd Prize		250.00
Next 2 Prizes,	$100.00 each	200.00

Next 100 Prizes,	10.00 each	1,000.00
Next 310 Prizes,	5.00 each	1,550.00
430 Prizes, Totaling,		$5,000.00

4. This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls—except employees of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

5. Tune Tangle Crosswords are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Tune Tangles," Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1716, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight, 15 days after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

6. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Postoffice Department. Contestants may submit as many sets of puzzles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

8. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

SHE WAS ALWAYS LEFT BEHIND

SHE NEVER seemed to have the pep that the other girls had. Nor was she so good-looking either. Her complexion was sallow. Wrinkles had appeared—years too soon. Little wonder that men found excuses when her name was mentioned.

What a pity that so many girls lose beauty so soon . . . very often caused by the poisons of constipation. This could be prevented, easily, pleasantly . . . by eating a delicious cereal.

Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten daily, are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps the intestines clean of all poisonous wastes. How much better than taking habit-forming pills and drugs.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Use for making fluffy bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. Look for the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The largest-selling All-Bran.

BEATS UP SISTER AS SHE REFUSES HIM 2D $5,000

Chicagoan Floors 3 in All; N. Y. Police Get Him.

New York, April 10.—[Special.]—Elias Kaplan, a dentist in Richmond Hill, his wife, Anna, and their housemaid, Natalie Barenengge, were beaten unconscious and badly injured today by the housemaid's brother, Daniel. He came to New York from Chicago a few weeks ago after his sister had inherited $20,000 from a relative. When he first appeared he demanded $5,000 and she gave it to him.

Wields Pistol on Her Head.

Today he went to 108-01 Liberty avenue, in the Richmond Hill section, where Natalie is employed by the Kaplans, and made a further demand for $5,000. When the girl refused to give the money to him he snatched a pistol from his pocket and beat her on the head.

Dr. and Mrs. Kaplan heard the girl's screams, rushed into the kitchen and tried to interfere, but Barenengge turned on them and hit them repeatedly with the butt of his pistol. The dentist and his wife were hammered insensible and were badly cut on the head. The maid's right arm was broken and gashes were cut in her scalp and face.

Taxi Driver Turns Him In.

Barenengge left in a taxicab. The driver observed that the butt of a pistol was sticking from one of Barenengge's pockets. He didn't like the look of things, so after going a few blocks and sighting a policeman he pulled up to the curb and told the policeman what he had seen.

The policeman searched Barenengge and found two guns—one the automatic which he used to beat the Kaplans and his sister, and a Spanish automatic. Barenengge was locked up on a charge of felonious assault and violation of the Sullivan law.

Kernel of Corn Inhaled; Rush Child to Hospital

South Bend, Ind., April 10.—(AP)—Fifteen months old Roy Jones, son of John Jones of Wheatfield, was being rushed to a hospital at Philadelphia today for removal of a kernel of field corn inhaled into his lung a week ago. Local physicians placed a silver tube in the child's throat to enable him to breathe while he was taken east on a fast train.

CHINA READY TO SWEEP OUT ALL FOREIGN COURTS

Sees No Need for Further Negotiations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 10.—Foreign Minister C. T. Minister Wang's statement reviewed the history of recent negotiations with both the British and American governments. He said while both nations were conciliatory and sympathetic, yet there were "still a few vital points outstanding which may render further negotiations abortive."

"Limit to Endurance."

"These powers have overlooked the important fact of patience and tolerance of the Chinese government is not inexhaustible and that there is a reasonable limit to human endurance," he declared. "No power should wish to strain our patience and tolerance to a point of exhaustion."

The foreign chief then referred to the forthcoming constitutional convention scheduled for May 5, and declared:

"Unless a satisfactory solution to the extraterritorial question is completed or within sight I shall be forced to declare that the present negotiations with the different powers are at a deadlock."

Dr. Wang's determination to abolish foreign consular courts by May 5 was expressed by him two months ago, when he publicly announced:

"I sincerely trust that China will not be forced to adopt any measure to obtain her objective other than that of friendly negotiations."

May Establish Special Courts.

How China will attempt to settle the extraterritoriality problem without reference to the wishes of the powers is not known. According to reports from Nanking, the government plans to establish special courts in Nanking, Tientsin, Shanghai, Hankow, and Canton.

These courts, it is planned, will be used for trying cases involving foreigners and foreign interests. Special regulations will be promulgated for the hearing of cases in these courts. Foreign legal experts will be employed by the ministry of justice, who will sit in all cases and advise the Chinese judges on points involving foreign legal procedure.

Negotiations on these various points have been proceeding for many months in Washington, London, Paris, and other world capitals, but thus far it has been impossible to reach an agreement, the foreign powers fearing to trust their nationals to the new Chinese courts and the Chinese refusing to agree to any further treaty restrictions or what they call infringements on their sovereignty.

The so-called "extraterritorial" powers have been reduced to about a half dozen, including the United States, Great Britain, France and Brazil. The American treaty expires in 1932 and the British treaty the following year, unless China's present efforts to get the matter settled before hand.

IF YOU'RE COLD JUST SHIVER AND YOU'LL GET WARM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., April 10.—Shiver when cold to keep warm. This advice was given today at the convention of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, attended by 600 scientists from all over the continent.

When you shiver under exposure to cold, that is a sign that your body is manufacturing more heat to make up for the loss of body heat through the low temperature around you. This fact was demonstrated by experiments carried out by Dr. R. W. Swift of the University of Rochester, who explained his experiments at the meeting of the physiological society, which is a section of the federation.

Scientists who offered themselves as subjects for Dr. Swift's experiment found that shivering was not a disagreeable experience, when done thoroughly and well. It may seem unpleasant when it occurs suddenly at a street corner while waiting for a street car, but once you get thoroughly cold, a long drawn out shiver is followed by a feeling of growing warmth which makes it quite pleasant, they said.

PUTNAM'S NEW YORK

HIGHER EXEMPTIONS ON EARNED INCOME ARE RECOMMENDED

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(AP)—Increased exemptions to federal income tax payers on earned income were recommended today to the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation by its investigators.

"The present earned income relief can properly be increased somewhat on net incomes up to about $28,000; no additional relief should be given on net incomes betwee $28,000 and $30,000; on net incomes above $30,000 considerably more relief should be given," the report recommended.

It was submitted to Chairman Hawley of the house ways and means committee, chairman of the joint tax committee, by L. H. Parker, chief of the investigating staff.

Parker said the report "was not prepared with reference to the present economic situation and therefore its publication should not be construed as indicating the practicability of adopting any of the suggestions contained therein in the immediate future."

The report said the arbitrary 20 per cent limit now applied to business profits in determining the amount earned "is unfair and entirely arbitrary."

"It is believed that this limit should be increased to not more than 50 per cent with the proviso that the commissioner shall retain the power to reduce this percentage in the light of the facts and circumstances of each individual case," it added.

It was also proposed that $75,000 be made the maximum limit for recognizing individual incomes as "earned" for taxation purposes.

SAYS SHE KILLED SPINSTER, 76, TO SAVE HUSBAND

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 10.—[Special.]—Before a statue of Eros at the scene of her crime, Mrs. Frances Thomsen, Wellesley graduate and former Pittsburgh school teacher, revealed today how she turned slayer to free herself and her husband, Carl, from the sinister "psychic control" of Miss Minnie E. Dilley, 76 year old spinster.

The shades were drawn in the Dilley mansion in Forty Fort, near here, as Mrs. Thomsen reënacted the slaying.

"I walked in and told Miss Dilley that I wished to discuss this cult of hers which was breaking up my home and to inform her that Carl must not become her high priest as planned," she said. "I sat on this sofa here, and Miss Dilley sat in that chair by the fireplace. I could sense in greater degree than ever before the mental power of this woman that had enslaved my husband and was reaching out for me."

Pleads Self-Defense.

The prisoner said Miss Dilley refused "to make friends" and a quarrel resulted. Seemingly omitting some details at this juncture, she declared a moment later that Miss Dilley had attacked her.

"I struck in self-defense," said Mrs. Thomsen.

With Miss Dilley felled by a blow from a ginger ale bottle, the prisoner said she then bent over her victim, took a knife from the folds of her umbrella "and did the rest."

She added, in response to a question, that she "brought the bread knife from Pittsburgh as an additional precaution. It was her life or mine. It was physical strength against mental strength."

A Story of Jealousy.

The jealousy which police officials blame for the slaying had its inception, according to reports, when the Thomsens lived at Forty Fort. Carl Thomsen, the slayer's husband, at that time was an amateur radio mechanic and installed a radio in Miss Dilley's home, returning to repair it several times. These visits, police said, aroused Mrs. Thomsen's jealousy.

After the Thomsens moved to Pittsburgh Miss Dilley is said to have started writing to him and calling him on the telephone. This, detectives declared, caused Mrs. Thomsen to start writing threatening letters to the spinster and it was Miss Dilley's revelations to a friend some time ago concerning one of the letters that provided the first clew to the slayer.

Police said Miss Dilley in planning the alleged love cult, had suggested that Mr. Thomsen become its operative head and that she supply the finances, hoping to make it a paying proposition.

Delusions, Says Husband.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 10.—[Special.]—Messages which she believed came from the "spirits" gave Mrs. Frances Thomsen her first fears of a "love cult," according to her husband, Carl Thomsen, 33.

As the husband prepared to go to to Wilkesbarre to aid his wife he sketched the story of the "love cult."

"My wife has been under the belief she was receiving messages and warnings from a strange voice in the air," Thomsen said.

Steffens Tells Story of Days of Muckraking

With Sidelights on Some Famous Persons.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens" [Harcourt Brace].

Lincoln Steffens was one of the great reporters of a period in American life when reporting was in its most spectacular phase. He was the first of the famous "muckrakers," the best known. He always was a fearless if a sometimes self-satisfied investigator. His independence of thought, action, and writing won him not only respect, but calumny. All of that he sets down in his autobiography with as much candor for the calumny as for the respect.

LINCOLN STEFFENS.
[Portrait by Davidson.]

The two volumes of the autobiography are source material for the period which they cover in American history, for Mr. Steffens was on the inside of many things—practically everything political, at least for a time.

The chapters about his boyhood, his love for his colt, his gang, his attempts at being bad, his gropings for an education in European as well as in American universities, are delightfully written. They have the flavor of American youth, trying to think for itself. That is one of the opportunities and privileges of an American birth. All American boys do not become original thinkers, but there is a certain something in the spiritual air of this country that fosters, instead of blasting, such budding mental processes.

Lincoln Steffens began his life work of writing as a reporter covering Wall street. His associations there and his knowledge of its workings stood him in excellent stead when he inherited a small fortune from a young German with whom he had studied and traveled. He made himself comfortable financially for life. Then he set about writing about what he chose.

From his newspaper work he went to McClure's magazine, and from there with the group that founded and owned the American Magazine, which was a blazing torch in those days of a magazine owned and edited by brilliant young men. When he found, however, that he really was curbing his violences—unconsciously but none the less actually—because he owned part of the magazine, he resigned instanter. From that time on he was as much of a rebel all the rest of his life as he chose to be.

He knew Theodore Roosevelt during his whole political career. He had no blind, passionate devotion to Roosevelt. That is plain in the autobiography. "T. R. was a politician much more than he was a reformer," Steffens says. "In the phraseology of the radicals, he was a careerist, an opportunist with no deep insight into issues, but he was interesting, picturesque."

And again about Roosevelt: "It was hard to tell him anything; it was easy to make him talk, even about a state secret, but to reverse the process and make him listen was well nigh impossible." Still more: "T. R. was an honest mind. He stood for a square deal even in an argument, even in a discussion of his own faith. But he had no economics, he never understood the political issue between the common and the special interests; neither as a police commissioner nor as a President did he grasp the difference between morality and representation."

Mr. Steffens was in a sense an intimate at the White House. The President often talked things over with him—that is, the President talked and Mr. Steffens listened—but the same quality that made Lincoln Steffens a good muckraker made him too keen an observer and too honest a chronicler of what he observed ever to let him enjoy hero worship. How really small the really great are is as evident in Lincoln Steffens' autobiography as in any book I have read for some time. There doesn't emerge one hero from it, not even the author himself!

He had a great zest for life, and that is evidenced on every page. He was eager to come, if he could, to some conclusion about what could really be done about all the political corruption which his investigations proved to him existed in every phase of organized life.

The racket of Wall street was the same racket as that of the labor unions; the boss system in Cleveland was little different from the European bribery system of titles and pensions, even if methods were more secret in Europe. The corruption of the Democratic machine in Missouri was like that of the Republican machine in Illinois. What he decided was that the people may be appealed to through right when wrong has not been successful.

Reformers in many cases were only another form of bossery. But an honest and frank appeal to decency and right in the electorate he says did actually succeed, just as the application of the principles of Christianity does succeed when hatred and revenge have lost their power.

Steffens was the instigator of the movement to apply those principles in the trial of the McNamara brothers, John J. and James B., who were accused of blowing up the Los Angeles Times. Steffens feels that the decision in that case on the part of the most rabid anti-Socialists of that city to compromise on a plea of guilty averted a class war.

Steffens says he actually did avert a war with Mexico by his statements to President Wilson, whom he quotes: "You have given me information, very valuable information; information which prevents a war."

Lincoln Steffens' interest and belief in the bolshevik régime in Russia caused him a great deal of personal discomfort, but his faith in such a representative form of government did not waver.

ALTA MAY COLEMAN, WROTE OF AUTHORS, DEAD IN NEW YORK

We will never have another gay, amusing New York letter from Alta May Coleman. She died yesterday morning. You who know her only through her weekly column have lost a contact with life which was unfailingly vivid and charming. But those of us who really knew her have lost not only a vivid and charming friend, but a monument of fineness and strength. The world has too few really gallant souls in it, persons who face what life offers them and smile, not because they are Pollyannas, but because they don't want to make life any harder for any human being than it already is. The only thing which their innate unselfishness allows them to share with the world is their happiness or their gayety. The real gallantry is not to make wide gestures of self-sacrifice, as the heroines and heroes of novels often do, out of a vast vanity, but to think literally last of one's self. That highest gallantry Alta May Coleman had. Even as she was dying she dictated a letter to her nurse, scolding me for writing her in the pressure of all the extra work of a review a day, and begging me not to have her on my mind at all. Most people would have said, "Your letter cheered me a lot. Write oftener."

I knew Alta May Coleman for much of my grown-up life. I have seen the years bring her both the heights and depths of success and trial. But never once in all of those years have I ever heard her complain, even as she justly might, against an unkind fate or be shaken from her fundamental simplicity by a too kind one. She was a truly great human being, a fine, simple, honest person always asking less of life than she gave.

In the maelstrom of New York, where fineness and simplicity and spiritual honesty are rare enough to be remarked, Alta May Coleman was respected as I have seen few respected. She was liked tremendously, too, by every one. Her gayety never bogged down under extra work and it never faded, no matter how much gloom surrounded every one else.

She was popular wherever she went. But the utter reliability that shone from her honest, laughing eyes won for her a sincere respect. And, as it always wins for every one, responsibility. We all leaned on Alta May, counted on her. Even you, perhaps, you have come to count on her. We are, all of us, bereft.

How Penguins Are Contented Near Equator

Giving Children Lessons in Versatility.

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.
[Director of Children's Work for Branches of the Chicago Public Library.]

"7 to 7," by Dorothy Aldis [Minton].

"Paddlewings," by W. S. Bronson [Macmillan].

"Florence Nightingale," by Irene C. Willis [Coward].

Just to reverse our usual order we are going to begin this week by telling the littlest ones about a gayly colored new ABC book which has made its appearance among the attractive new books of spring. Its title is "7 to 7," and it tells in verse and pictures the story of a child's day from "getting up" time in the morning to bedtime. The author is Dorothy Aldis, a Chicago author, whose books of verse, "Here, There, and Everywhere" and "Anything and Everything" have found their places on many juvenile book shelves.

Boys and girls of the middle group (10-12 years) who have been reading about Commander Byrd's expedition and the penguins of the antarctic will be very much interested in a fascinating book by Wilfrid S. Bronson called "Paddlewings." This is a story of penguins, not of the antarctic, but of equatorial lands and an extremely interesting one it is, telling all about the young penguins and how they learn to get their food, protect themselves from danger, and live quite happy and contented lives down there in the hot regions of the earth.

The author has illustrated his book with copious humorous illustrations similar in style to those of his popular book of last year called "Fingerfins." Both books are good reading and offer a stimulus to the boy or girl who is ready to enjoy informational reading attractively presented. Mr. Bronson accompanied a scientific expedition to the Galapagos islands as staff artist and while there made a study of the birds and fish of the tropical seas.

For the young reader of high school age who likes biography Irene Cooper Willis' "Florence Nightingale" will prove of interest. In this story of the pioneer nurse's struggle to find her place in life, the author has given us a great deal more than the story of an individual and a great accomplishment. It is a picture of the Victorian idealism of 19th century England, and of the forces in home and community which had to be overcome by the woman who would seek a life of her own, and it tells of the disruption of those forces and the beginning of a new day.

Florence Nightingale herself stands out from the story, not in the light of a romantic heroine, a light in which she so often has been presented, but as a woman of determination and force, one who knew her goal and who set about overcoming the obstacles in the way of its attainment.

She stands before us as a great humanitarian, an able administrator, a politician, if you will, but always working for the development of the cause to which she had dedicated her life. The author has placed no halo about her head, but has given us simply the very human woman, at times querulous, domineering, and sometimes short sighted as to the ultimate best for her work, but always unselfishly seeking its development, planning for it, sacrificing health and family to it.

It is a new picture of the "Lady with the Lamp," which we have been long await for our young people and one which loses nothing by the absence of glamour and legend which has sometimes tended to hide the real woman behind the mythical saint. An especially fine biography for older girls.

WASTE AT WASHINGTON.

Mr. Henning, in a dispatch from Washington, has called attention again to the fact that the federal government is going to have a deficit this year of upwards of 800 million dollars. Some of the statesmen are proposing to increase taxes to make both ends meet, and others are content to let the deficit ride. No one in a position of authority or influence, says Mr. Henning, has become greatly exercised over the situation, although it is obvious to even the most superficial observer that hundreds of millions of dollars are being wasted every year in unproductive appropriations, unwise governmental ventures, and unsound governmental organization.

Mr. Henning finds that money is being poured into obsolete navy yards and army posts. Railroads have induced the federal government to undertake irrigation projects for the purpose of booming town sites in the desert. The taxpayers of the whole country are paying for the Hoover dam to supply water to Los Angeles and the Hetch Hetchy project for San Francisco. The millions poured out for farm relief are "now regarded as a total waste." The federal government is contributing various forms of aid to the states at a colossal cost. Government bureaus are turning out tons of literature for distribution in the backward states and every department has its press agents seeking to build up good will for the party in power.

Prohibition enforcement costs 50 million dollars a year, and because of prohibition the government has deprived itself of a revenue from taxes on alcoholic beverages equal to the deficit. A sound reorganization of executive departments would save perhaps half a billion dollars, in the judgment of experts.

The list could be continued in detail almost indefinitely. There is no dispute over the facts and no secret about them. Every congressman and every administrative officer in Washington is thoroughly familiar with the situation, and, with the fewest exceptions, complacent in the face of it.

There are reasons, of course, for this singular attitude of mind. In the first place, it is not the congressman's money which is being wasted. In the second, it is to the interest of officeholders to be wasteful, for open handed expenditure in any representative's district or in any senator's state entrenches the congressman in his job. Accordingly, Congressman Jones of Maine will consent to raid the treasury on behalf of Congressman Smith of California, providing the favor is reciprocated, as it generally is.

Under the circumstances the proper sphere of federal action is completely lost to sight. The federal government is obliged to undertake many tasks which ought to be performed, if at all, by the states or by individuals. Meanwhile, because there is political profit in waste, no progress is made in increasing the efficiency of the governmental machine by the avoidance of duplication and red tape, although the principles of a sound reorganization are plain and every President in recent years has called attention to the need.

Jefferson's doctrine, that the least possible government is also the best government, was sound statesmanship, and, of course, it makes for sound fiscal policy. There would be no deficit today and few complaints from taxpayers if the principle had been adhered to.

TRADING PAROLED PRISONERS.

The March grand jury has recommended that all prisoners upon parole be deported from the state. That is a proposal that requires some consideration. We are told that the New York and Michigan parole laws shall be granted upon this condition, and if other states are sending their undesirables to us there is a good deal to be said for reprisal.

On the other hand, is such a policy profitable in the long run even to the states which immediately seem to benefit by it? Doubtless it is beneficial to a community to get rid of its undesirables, but this benefit is offset by the inevitable adoption of a similar policy by other states. It is argued that there is a general advantage, even where states thus exchange undesirables, because the paroled offenders do not return to their own haunts and associates and are thus given an opportunity to make a better start. Doubtless there is something in this theory, but less, we suspect, than at first appears. It presupposes more willingness on the part of the paroled to make a good start than is general among them. If there is such a disposition, he will act upon it if he can, and a law of expulsion does not help him if he cannot.

But if he has no disposition to reform, his expulsion will not create it and his departure to a community which does not know him frees him for a time from the surveillance he might expect at home.

We doubt this process of exchange works out in the main to the public advantage. It appeals to those who are preoccupied with the hope of reforming offenders, but an analysis of practical results is not likely to give it much support. The export of undesirables by parts of a common country is likely, we think, to defeat its own purpose.

THE PARTIES AND PROHIBITION.

Mr. Raskob seems to be getting nowhere in particular as he tries to bring the Democratic party to a position on prohibition. His idea that the party management should know where it stands before the selection of delegates is taken up in the states finds most of his party associates convinced to the contrary. Some sort of a shift will be made in the convention, probably on a guess as to what pressure the south will stand, and for many of the Jeffersonians the evil of that day will be sufficient unto it.

In Democratic theory prohibition is such a question as would be taken pro and con by party organization. Throughout the country it is the line of the greatest political difference of opinion. It has more heat in it than any other question. It marks a crossing of roads in American political action. It contains in it great questions of government. The character of the federal Union for the future may be fixed as these questions are determined. In such a relationship as that of the states to the Union repose is not the rule. Between the big and the little sovereignties there is an ebb or flow of control and power. The big may absorb the little or the little may whittle down the big. Too much of either may be bad, and it is wise to try for a balance. Prohibition set the direction toward inflation of federal and destruction of state authority and the question is not merely one of alcoholic beverages. It embraces the whole scheme of government.

Such a problem, it might be assumed, would fall naturally into party action. It would divide the people, and the parties would offer them organization for the settlement. Apparently this is not the way of American politics. Prohibition came into the doctrine of government without a party, or, rather, with one which was entirely futile to accomplish anything. The prohibitionists finally got into both parties and the amazing experiment was undertaken without a real political determination of the question. There are precedents for such action.

In slavery days the abolitionists could not form a party. Before the civil war they were what the prohibitionists were before the world war, enthusiasts and extremists crying out loud and damning all the parties. Even the Republican party when it was formed sidled from emancipation, which came as a war measure just as prohibition later did. The two greatest social problems the United States has undertaken to solve since the adoption of the constitution found their decision in snap judgment rather than in considered political action.

This is an irrational method and Mr. Raskob is right in thinking it unworthy of great political parties. The party managers can see the country in a political and social turmoil and the parties are hiding out of gunshot. When political action will not work there is another thing that does. That is usage.

COAST TO COAST BY AIR.

The first coast to coast night and day passenger plane service was inaugurated April 1 when planes started simultaneously from the Chicago airport for New York and for San Francisco. The new service will give us two passenger planes to New York daily and three for San Francisco and Los Angeles, provided by the National Air Transport for the eastern flight and by the Boeing Air Transport for the western.

The planes will serve New York, Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Iowa City, Des Moines, Omaha, Lincoln, Cheyenne, Denver, Salt Lake City, Reno, Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, to the south, and Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, and Spokane in the northwest.

The planes are seven ton tri-motored transports, manned by two pilots and equipped with radiophones permitting ground to plane and plane to plane communication.

Thus Chicago becomes the hub of the new system of rapid transport, now launched as a regular resource for the normal use of travel for business or pleasure. The coasts are brought within little more than a day of each other, the continent is telescoped, but Chicago remains the center as from the beginning of the great westward sweep of our people.

The event is memorable in the city and the nation's history. George B. Foster, chairman of the Association of Commerce aviation committee, says: "Chicago is now secure in its title 'Air Transportation Center of the World.' Starting tomorrow, every 24 hours will see 80 planes carrying mail, express, and passengers arriving or departing at the city's airport—an average of one almost every 15 minutes during the day and night. No other city or airport in the world, even including those at Berlin, London, and Paris, can boast such a record."

NEVADA TAKES CARE OF RENO.

[Illinois State Register.]

As we have heretofore remarked, Carson City may be the capital of Nevada, but Reno is the divorce capital of the United States, and its interests are paramount in the minds of the state legislators—in proof of which we cite the solicitude with which these ultra-modern lawmakers guard those interests, which amount to a $3,000,000 revenue from the divorce industry alone.

With Arkansas and Iowa actively in competition with Nevada for this lucrative revenue, both of the former states having recently enacted laws permitting the filing of divorce actions after three months of residence—the period required at present in the latter state—the Nevada legislature has just come to bat with a six weeks divorce bill with all proceedings kept secret. That the governor will sign this measure is a foregone conclusion. The state would be too hot to hold him otherwise.

Furthermore, another bill has been introduced in the same body fixing the maximum fee to be charged by attorneys in uncontested divorce cases at $35 for each party. And it is significant that its preamble recites in lengthy detail that passage of the three months divorce law by Arkansas threatens to wipe out the Nevada "industry" unless the lawyers of the state reduce their fees!

This is as frank and open a situation of expediency as one could well imagine. With leaden skies in most other jurisdictions, the sun of prosperity has been shedding its bright rays continuously at Reno, and Nevada does not propose that there shall be any diminution in its pleasing warmth. Arkansas and Iowa will be hard put to it to meet the new allurements which Nevada now holds out to matrimonial misfits.

Naturally such an influx of ready money into Reno has made that town of less than 18,000 population a very opulent community. Its shops compare well with those of the metropolitan cities—and night clubs, horse racing, gambling, and countless other diversions carry on their ceaseless bid for the wealth that is showered on every side. Is it any wonder that prohibition, the tariff, farm relief, unemployment, and other major problems in the national life interest Reno not at all?

PARATHYROIDS.

A VERY small but very powerful ductless gland is that one which goes by the name of parathyroid. It is more correct to say parathyroids, since there are at least two of them, and usually there are four, while occasionally there are even more. They lie in the neck close by or even within the thyroid. For a long time they were regarded as parts of the larger gland, for such they are in the body of a child that is in preparation for birth and life.

But when removal of the thyroid for goiter became frequent, it was speedily recognized that though the parathyroid might look like thyroid, be within it, or near it, and even may have originated as a part of it, the completed gland is something of another sort. If, in the goiter operation, the parathyroids were removed, the patient went into convulsions and continued until he died. It is now known that the parathyroids maintain the calcium in the blood at just the right level. Acting through this channel these glands prevent convulsions and tend to maintain calm and poise.

Acting still more indirectly, it is possible that these glands have something to do with the normal growth of bone and, conversely, with bone diseases; with the absorption of lime; and with certain states, such as nervousness, and certain diseases, such as hay fever and asthma; and atheroma of arteries. At the present time not much of this is provable.

Drs. Quick and Hunsberger report an interesting case of too much parathyroid. A very vigorous, well grown young man, six feet tall and weighing 200 pounds, began to notice that his thirst was excessive. He had to void urine frequently, day and night. His urine was milky. Then he began having rheumatic pains. Next, he seemed to be shrinking in size and became distorted. Then his bones began breaking without adequate cause.

Examination showed that his blood was very low in lime. That mineral was being thrown off by his kidneys. X-rays showed cysts of his bones, loss of calcium, and various deformities. His muscles were good enough, but the bones were causing all sorts of deformities and disabilities. Every now and then a spontaneous fracture would occur. A diagnosis of too much parathyroid was made. An operation was done and a parathyroid tumor was removed. The man was given viosterol. He began improving at once. The lime in his blood increased. His thirst and urinary symptoms disappeared. But, unfortunately, he is too far down hill ever to climb back again.

The case has many lessons for those interested in convulsions and spasmodic disorders, and also for those whose concern is with bone deformities.

TAPEWORM.

J. C. writes: My wife has had tapeworm for 20 years. Is there any cure you can recommend?

REPLY.

Tapeworms are generally good neighbors, but any one wishing to change his neighbors can do so. In this case the neighbor is a tenant of the host. The law for dispossessing a tenant is well established and workable. When it comes to making a tenant vacate there is an exact method of procedure. There must be proper preparation, and after that each step must be followed just so.

Same way with the tapeworm tenant. There must be proper preparation. Then must follow a certain step by step course. As a rule, when a man is his own tapeworm doctor he fills in the preliminaries and also in the follow-up.

Since tapeworm medicine is poisonous to the landlord as well as the tenant, he is generally timid in his dosage. The worm eats of it and growls, but he stands his ground.

PURCHASES USED CAR.

Chicago, March 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a used car for $175. Made payments amounting to $105, then ceased. The company informed me either to pay or they would take the car, which they did. Heard nothing from them until three months later, when I received a letter from their lawyers that I must pay them a balance of $90 or garnishment of my wages would follow. Made arrangements verbally to pay them so much a week with the understanding I would get the car after I had paid in full. Paid in about $5, then I had a friend who wanted to buy the car for the balance. He called on the people where I purchased the car and was informed that I had received notice three months before to come and get the car and that the money I had been paying was for lawyers' adjustments. They said they had sold the car. 1. Can I be made to pay any more? 2. Can I collect the money I paid in after the $105 as long as they sold the car? J. G.

1. It seems probable that your contract was so worded that they had the original right to sell for your account and hold you for the balance. We see no legal consideration for their agreement to hold the car for you.

2. Probably not. See preceding answer.

SHOULD BE NATURALIZED.

Chicago, March 30.—[Friend of the People.]—My husband was born in Russia and never took out citizenship papers. He came to America in 1911, served in the American army 20 months. He was in France. Would like to know if he is a citizen. Does he have to take out citizenship papers? Am I a citizen? I am American born, but married a Russian. Do I lose my citizenship or not? J. K.

The writer's husband must be naturalized if he desires to become a citizen. Her citizenship depends upon the date of her marriage. If she married before Sept. 22, 1922, she assumed the citizenship status of her husband, but if she married on or after that date she did not lose her citizenship.

DRIVER'S LIABILITY.

Chicago, March 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Please advise whether a driver of a car, in an accident on a corner, can be held liable for damage to iron railing and lawn after he has run up over the curb. S. G.

Yes. He can be held unless he can prove that he was not to blame.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE JAPANESE PRINCE AND PRINCESS—who are now visiting in our midst, won't find things as different in the U. S. A. from what they are in Japan as they would have done a few years ago. The whole world is being standardized, the sultan had to threaten to stand the Turks up against the wall and shoot 'em if they didn't wear European headgear, but it worked. Now, the crowds in the Turkish capital look about the same as the throngs passing up and down the Boul. Mich. here in Chicago. No more veils or bright shawls on the ladies, and the he-Turks no longer prance around in picturesque baggy trousers of many colors, earrings, and sashes. Standardized.

And in Japan standardization has set in with even greater severity than in Turkey. A Japanese flapper looks not so unlike the American kind; they're wearing European duds all over the place; they have movies and talkies and jazz and radio and autos and airplanes and all the rest of the things that go along with our machine age.

And probably in the heart of what was once darkest Africa we will find the Hottentots sitting around in evening dress eating ice cream and dancing to jazz music from London which comes to them over the radio. And in New Guinea the cannibals are probably driving their autos madly around the island, stopping now and then at a tourists' home, where they eat hot dogs and mustard with much more relish than they ever ate missionaries.

Yes, we seem to be standarized in everything. The Japs used to be peculiar in committing the happy dispatch, hara-kiri, but we accomplish the same purpose by dropping out of the seventeenth story window. Pretty much alike. About the only thing the visiting Japs will find in America that they haven't got in Japan is the 18th amendment. And we'd make 'em a present of that.

I SHALL SING AGAIN.

I feel that some day I shall sing again,
That past this desert of unhappy days,
Beyond these mists of doubt and tears of rain
There will be waiting for me sunlit ways;
Old dreams die hard, the breath of April still Stirs me a little, and I see afar
Above the ramparts of the last long hill
The pallid gleaming of one friendly star.

No matter what may come, I'm sure of this,
That all the mangling fingers of despair
Can never take from me the certain bliss
Of siren music on the desert air;
Somewhere beyond this present hurricane
Is calm and peace . . . and I shall sing again!

E. LESLIE SPAULDING.

IT LOOKED AS THOUGH Jimmie Walker was going to be charged with everything, from piracy to taking the eggs away from the nests of the little birds. New York fairly seethed with what was going to happen to James when he got back from California. And the mayor got back. And the stillness in New York since then is like unto the silence of the tomb. Probably Jimmy made a couple of wisecracks and New York curled up like a kitten alongside the kitchen stove.

BACK TO EARTH.

R. H. L.: It was Easter Sunday morning and we were all walking down the boulevard from the Fourth Presbyterian in that awful wind—five of us—and I wanted to cry. So I couldn't figure it out.

There were Bill and Mabel and Kay and Jack and me. Bill and Jack were all resplendent with silk hats and Mabel and Kay looked as if they were coming from their own weddings, and we were all decked out with waxy, fragrant gardenias and Easter spirits. It was swell seeing everybody after I'd been out in Texas so long. And still I wanted to cry. We went on over to Holy Name for the amber hush and the tall lilies and the settling incense—and when I looked up at the blue window I knew why I wanted to cry.

It was November in the Argonne, a pretty day but windy. The morning patrol went and Bill was cruising up over the clouds alone, when all of a sudden this flock of Fokkers dropped down on his old Spad. He pulled the stick over and Immelmanned and came up and leveled off and sighted through the prop a few times and got three of them, but the others hung on. There were little daggers of flame in his body and the plane nosed over and screamed down and there wasn't anything he could do about it with the instrument board shot away. The pretty blue windy day dimmed into tattered fleece of clouds. He looked down at his leg and said: "Cripes! That's what's left of my new English breeches!"

Down below were the angled furrows of trenches and a witch's snarl of wire. He put his boy's forehead, white above the wind-tan, down on the cowl board. He thought, "My mother would like that," and tried to say the Lord's Prayer.

And then she leveled off and skimmed and struck and nosed over, and he was underneath, in No Man's Land for fourteen hours of hell-struck agony, with his torn leg shoved in the mud, crucified flat on the ground by the riddled cross of his ship, till the barrage lifted and the stretcher bearers came out.

We left the quiet, exultant church and hailed a cab, heading for hot eggnogg. Under his crisp gardenia was the tiny enamel bar of the D. S. C. And with our banter, the clear wisdom that lives in back of his eyes, the patient, puzzled kindliness, kindled to merriment.

He brushed the nap of his silk topper round and round. "I sold those bonds yesterday," he said. "Look at the li'l woman's new Easter bonnet. Soignée, what?" He said, "Pretty day, but windy." I wanted to cry. NANCY SHORES.

GETTING HARDER AND HARDER TO SIDESTEP

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 11, 1915.

AMSTERDAM.—The British steamer Harpalyce, the first relief boat of New York state, and under charter to the commission for relief in Belgium, was torpedoed seven miles off Noordhinder. The Dutch steamer Elisabeth was the first to the rescue and altogether 28 of the crew were saved by that vessel. The Harpalyce sailed from New York on March 7 with more than 11,000 individual gifts for the relief of Belgians. It was on its return trip to New York.

PETROGRAD.—[By Robert R. McCormick.]—M. Sazonoff, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, in a conversation with me, said emphatically: "Russia wants just two things of America, the first and most important being a permanent maintenance of the close and cordial relations between the two nations, the second an enormous quantity of all kinds of manufactured articles." Here is offered not only a market formerly monopolized by Germany but an added market due to the abolition of the vodka traffic.

PETROGRAD.—The Austro-German armies, battling desperately to defend Hungary from invasion, have been driven back along the whole front in the Carpathians, the war office says. The Russians have driven the German forces from Hill 992, the strongest defense point between the two principal routes into Hungary.

PARIS.—The war office, in a statement concerning the magnitude of the victory over the Germans on the plateau of Les Eparges, says that the German losses there during the last three months amount to 30,000 men.

LONDON.—A Cape Town dispatch says that Gen. Botha has reopened negotiations with the British for peace. It is understood that he undertakes to act in behalf of the entire Boer forces despite the fact that Gen. De Wet recently refused to surrender.

CHICAGO.—J. Ogden Armour announced a gift of $1,000,000 to the Armour institute, made jointly by his mother, Mrs. Philip D. Armour Sr., and himself. Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus, president of the institute from its opening in 1893 until last October, says the gift will place the institute in the front rank of the great engineering schools of the world.

CHICAGO.—Ald. Michael Kenna was acquitted by a jury of six of his peers on the charge of keeping his Clark street saloon open on Sunday Isaac Abrahams, attorney for Kenna, was allowed to hurl insinuations and insults at the prosecuting witness, Mrs. Kate Mills Boyd, the little gray haired woman who is secretary of the Cook County Anti-Vice Crusade society. The conduct of the prosecution by Deputy City Prosecutor Thomas Scully was of so farcical a nature, Mrs. Boyd said, that an inquiry will be asked of Acting Mayor Walker.

TOULON.—President Loubet arrived on the battleship St. Louis and was received with unusual honors by the French, Italian, and Spanish squadrons. The Russian fleet welcomed him in Villefranche harbor. The streets of Toulon were lined with troops and enormous crowds cheered the president.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The funeral of Senator Matthew Hale Carpenter was the largest and most imposing known in Milwaukee for many years. Visitors viewed the remains during the entire night and after the churches were dismissed today the crowds that had been attending Palm Sunday services proceeded to the courthouse and the throng became so great that it was impossible to move in any direction. The march to the cemetery was headed by Chief Marshal Gen. E. W. Hinks.

CHICAGO.—Senator John A. Logan, who is in the city as a member of the senate committee that escorted the body of Senator Carpenter to Milwaukee, branded the statement that he and the friends of Gen. Grant had secretly worked to defeat Ald. Clark and the Republican ticket in the recent mayoralty election as an "infamous lie." The statement was printed by the Louisville Courier Journal.

UNNECESSARY TAXES.

Chicago, April 8.—From time to time you have something to say in the editorial columns of THE TRIBUNE about the burden of taxation. The farmers especially are complaining and are trying in every way to shift the burden. It is within their power materially to reduce the amount of taxes they pay, because they are in complete control of the levies made for local purposes, which constitute the bigger part of the tax burden. They seldom, however, give any attention to the question of taxation at the time budgets are being made up and tax levies fixed.

School district No. 81, a country district of Tazewell county, Ill., had funds on hand at the beginning of the 1930-1931 school year in the amount of $2,756. Its operating expenses for the past two years were as follows:

Notwithstanding this situation they made a levy for 1930-1931 of $800, although they had sufficient funds on hand to last for more than three years without making any levy. This is a somewhat extreme case, but not as unusual as you may think.

One of my investigators has reported that school district No. 6 of La Salle county, Ill., which is another country school district, had funds on hand at the beginning of the school year 1930-1931 in the amount of $2,748 and that their operating expenses for the two years just passed had been as follows:

Notwithstanding this situation a levy was made for the year 1930-1931 of $1,400. Before the levy was extended on the tax books my investigator suggested that it be entirely withdrawn or reduced, but the school board took no action.

Taxes for educational purposes, as you well know, have grown tremendously, until now almost everywhere they absorb about one-half of all the revenues collected. GEORGE G. TUNELL,

PRAYERS IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Moline, Ill., April 5.—Some time ago I read in your columns a statement by a minister from downstate in which he criticized the senate in Springfield for being irreverent. The direct accusation was that they would walk around and talk during his prayer. That, I think, is an unjust accusation. I have served as chaplain on five different occasions and have not seen a semblance of irreverence on the part of any member.

The chaplain may have consumed so much time in his prayers that the senators became weary. I have no doubt that our senators need to be prayed for and want the prayers of the church, and if the preacher is reasonable in his prayers there will be no irreverence shown on the part of our senators, I am sure. WALTER A. TILLBERG,
Pastor, Trinity Lutheran Church.

THE GOVERNOR'S FUND.

Chicago, April 7.—I understand that a $1,500,000 charity fund has been collected from the day's-pay-a-month plan. Why do we receive no statement of the use to which it is put? The subscribers made great sacrifices to raise this sum; they deserve, at least, to know whether it is used for the purpose for which it was subscribed.
E. V. W.

ONE OF MANY LIKE IT.

Fairfield, Ia., April 8.—I write to congratulate you on the great work you did in downing Bill Thompson.
WILLIAM LOUDEN.

THE GRASS EATERS.

Chicago, Ill., April 9.—In connection with the defeat of Big Bill I am reminded of the old saying that history repeats itself. Nebuchadnezzar, the king, boasted: "Is not this great Babylon that I have builded?" Likewise, Big Bill cried from the housetops: "Is not this great Chicago that I have builded?"—but, according to the story, the boastful builder Nebuchadnezzar was forced to eat grass before he found his proper niche in the hall of fame, and from the results of last Tuesday's vote Big Bill the Builder has found his niche in much the same way. H. F.

HE'S OUT.

Chicago, April 9.—I've just read your editorial in this morning's TRIBUNE headed "Thompson." Among all of your mud slinging articles about Thompson this is the most low down piece of work yet. To brand a man with so many mean adjectives and then end up with "He's out!" You would do your paper more credit if you would just never print his name again, because even those who are not for him have the decency not to think such infamous things against any man. He's out, yes; then stop, and let him be out.
NORMA A. HUDSON.

THE COMIC SECTION.

Chicago, April 9.—Together with thousands of Chicagoans, I have always been diametrically opposed to the policies of ex-Mayor Thompson. During the many years in which he held office to the detriment of our good city I have always had faith in the ability of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S editorial staff to make such shortcomings known to our suffering public. This fight has always been a dignified one on the part of THE TRIBUNE, with the usual scurrilous answers on the part of Big Bill.

In your editorial of the 9th the writer has so far forgotten his dignity as to burst forth in the alley jargon and cantankerous blasts of the former "Builder." Instead of letting his actions be a thing of the forgotten past, is it the intention of THE TRIBUNE editorial staff to step in where "Boisterous Bill" left off? It is my candid opinion that the dignity of your organization would demand that such an editorial be relegated to the comic section. W. C. M.

THE AIRPLANE TRAGEDY.

Peoria, Ill., April 6.—I have just read B. F. Myers' letter regarding your editorial on the airplane tragedy.

You are to be commended for discussing this case frankly and fearlessly in spite of the blah and propaganda for the promotion of air travel. The fact that it seems impossible to explain the cause of the Kansas accident which claimed Knute Rockne is all the more evidence of the inherent hazards of air travel. SAFETY FIRST.

SMUTTY MAGAZINES.

Chicago, April 3.—As a mother of a clean high school boy, I want to commend the Illinois Vigilance association for its vigorous fight against the obscenity sold and circulated in Chicago. Mr. Yarrow ought to be encouraged instead of discouraged by abuse.

THE SIXTH JOURNEY

BY ALICE GRANT ROSMAN

SYNOPSIS.

John Falconer, a successful architect, returning home to England from Cape Town, meets Hilary Ravel, author of travel books, on shipboard. During the journey home their acquaintance grows into a friendship neither wishes to end.

John tells Hilary of his daughter, Judith, born of a café singer while he was a soldier. His wife, John says, magnanimously adopted the child. Hilary suspects such magnanimity. John's sister, Gertrude, became Judith's legal guardian when his wife died.

Hilary had taken her war-invalided brother, Hugh, who had just died, away from home ten years ago to give her younger sister, Christine, and brother, Stephen, a better chance. Hilary's stepfather is the only sympathetic member of her family.

Judith leads a lonely life in her aunt's home. Her cousin Prue is her only friend. She has a private teacher, Miss Mead, while her cousins are away at school. Her father she knows as Uncle John. She senses she is different in some way from other children. When Aunt Gertrude hears of her brother's engagement she sends Judith to the country. John is uneasy about Judith not being in school. He thinks it unfair to drag Hilary hopelessly into the question of the child and Hilary feels that he has had enough interest in caring for Judith. John writes Gertrude for the truth. She replies that she intended, as a decent citizen, send a waif of dubious parentage among other children.

Judith, at the farm of her former nurse Tracy's brother, is badly treated by the old servant. She has had no mail since her arrival. She meets Clive Harpenden, the little daughter of the home where she delivers cream for Tracy. Judy writes secretly to Prue.

Prue meets Hilary for tea and tries to enlist her aid for Judith. Hilary's vow not to interfere makes her rebuff Prue. They run into Tim de Morreville, whom Hilary and John met on the boat home. Tim drives Prue home and makes an engagement to drive her next day to visit Judith.

Falconer leaves town on a business trip.

Prue sees and talks to Judy and is indignant at Tracy's treatment of the little girl. Hilary, thinking over the problem of Judith, decides to write to John about her, and his letter is a great relief to him.

INSTALLMENT XLII.

RELATED ACTION.

If she could only hear something! Gertrude, she was afraid, was not at the telephone, nor Prue. Hastily she brought the book and searched through the Livingstones, but could find none, either at Wandsworth or in Bloomsbury. It was too late to go out to see Gertrude before the train was due, and she did not know Prue's address. With a pang of pity and fear for her, Hilary thought of the little girl. She could not believe this story of a walk in the woods. Remembering Judy's letter and all Prue had said, she was immediately convinced that John's daughter had run away, and her heart grew cold within her. O, why hadn't she gone down to Bedfordshire? Dreadful newspaper stories of children lured away and murdered thronged her mind, and by the time her stepfather came in Hilary was almost beside herself.

"Father, O, I am glad you've come! Surely there are no woods in England nowadays so large that any one could be lost in them for two days!" she cried.

"Woods? I suppose it depends on the ingenuity of the person lost. What is the matter, my dear?"

"Steven turned on the wireless and they were broadcasting an S O S for the police. A little girl has been lost since yesterday morning. She's . . . she's a niece of John's."

"News?" said the Falconer beside himself.

"Dear me, I'm sorry to hear that. But if the police are looking for the child there is nothing you can do except to hope and not worry. When does John get in?"

"About nine, unless his train is late." Hilary went to the old man and put her hand through his arm. "She isn't really his niece but his daughter. John told me I could tell you long ago. I've known from the first . . . I wish I had, but I'm such a fool!"

Dr. Ferguson drew her into his chair and sat on the arm of it, holding her tenderly as he listened to the history of Judith-come-by-chance.

"O, father, that poor little soul! Why, anything may have happened, and it will be all my fault."

"That is morbid and not like you," said her father. "Come, my dear, pull yourself together and don't give way to your imagination. The police will find her, never fear, and since this aunt seems to be a poor sort of guardian, you had better tell John to bring her to us. You can leave your mother to me. To do her justice, there is nothing of the prig about her, either. As for Christine and Steven, tell them as little as you like. They are beyond surprises, and I only wish they could be shocked, but I doubt it."

"Yes, I'd love to have her here. . . . I'll tell John . . . we'll bring her . . ," said Hilary, tremulously, but in her heart she added, "if she's alive."

Falconer was driving to Wandsworth.

Hilary had gone with him in a taxi as far as Kensington, where he could hire a car for the night, and then had taken his luggage home with her. He would telephone her at breakfast time.

The train had been forty minutes late, and it was close on eleven o'clock when he reached his sister's door. The house was in darkness, and it was some time before his distracted ringing of the bell and hammering of the knocker brought any response. Then he heard footsteps running, and a maid, opening the door a fraction, asked:

"Who's there? Is it from the police?"

"No, no; I want Mrs. Livingstone. It's Mr. Falconer."

"O, yes, sir. Come in." The girl turned on the electric light and scuttled away as her mistress, in dressing gown and slippers, appeared at the head of the stairs.

"John! O, my dear, say you have news!" cried Gertrude, descending.

"News?" said Falconer, beside himself. "You tell me nothing, though a wire or a telephone message would have brought me thirty-six hours ago, and then ask me for news! Good God! You've heard nothing and yet can sleep peacefully in your bed!"

"I have not had a wink of sleep, pardon me," said Mrs. Livingstone, in offended tones. "As for telling you, I rang up your office and was told most rudely that you were out of town. What more could I do? I'm sure I've been worry enough over this dreadful affair, racing down to Bedfordshire yesterday and hearing such shocking things from Tracy. I can't think why you should think my sitting up all night was going to mend matters."

Gertrude had led the way into the drawing room and closed the door. She was on the verge of tears.

"Then I'm to gather," said John, in a level voice, "that you have no news for me and my daughter Judith is still missing? Or have you perhaps been too busy to inquire?"

Gertrude's tears began to fall in gratifying floods.

"How can you talk to me in such a tone after all I've gone through?" she wept. "Of course I have inquired. . . . The local inspector of police has been most kind and has promised to let me know directly there is anything to tell. . . . Not that I've given him all the facts, naturally," added Gertrude, in a confidential tone.

"Ah! Well, my ears are perhaps not so delicate as the inspector's, so out with it! No hints and innuendoes, please. Just try to realise this may be a matter of life and death."

"Don't say such a thing! I will not be upset like this! I have always been a mother to Judith, and I am sorry to say she is a very wicked girl, very wicked indeed. I hardly like to say it, even to you, John, but she has been running after a little boy in the neighborhood, a son of people from the manner. The mother had to go to Tracy and complain. Judith, no doubt, frightened of being found out and, I hope, ashamed, ran away."

"Well, I'm damned if I believe your story, or Tracy's story, if you prefer to call it so. If anything has happened to that child, Gertrude, which God forbid, I hope you'll get what you deserve for sending her to this woman, who steals her letters and leaves her without a penny to buy herself a stamp. By the way, was it you or the beautiful Tracy who enlightened her about her father?"

Mrs. Livingstone's eyes nearly started out of her head and she wrung her hands.

"What can you mean? Can't you see you're driving me distracted? Tracy was the child's old nurse. What more natural than that I should have her there for a little change? As for telling her, hasn't it been my aim to hide it. . . . Where did you hear all this?"

Hilary saw a letter from Judy, never mind to whom, unstamped because she had no money, and saying she had received no letters since she came. Wandsworth. She was worried because she wouldn't know when her letter came home."

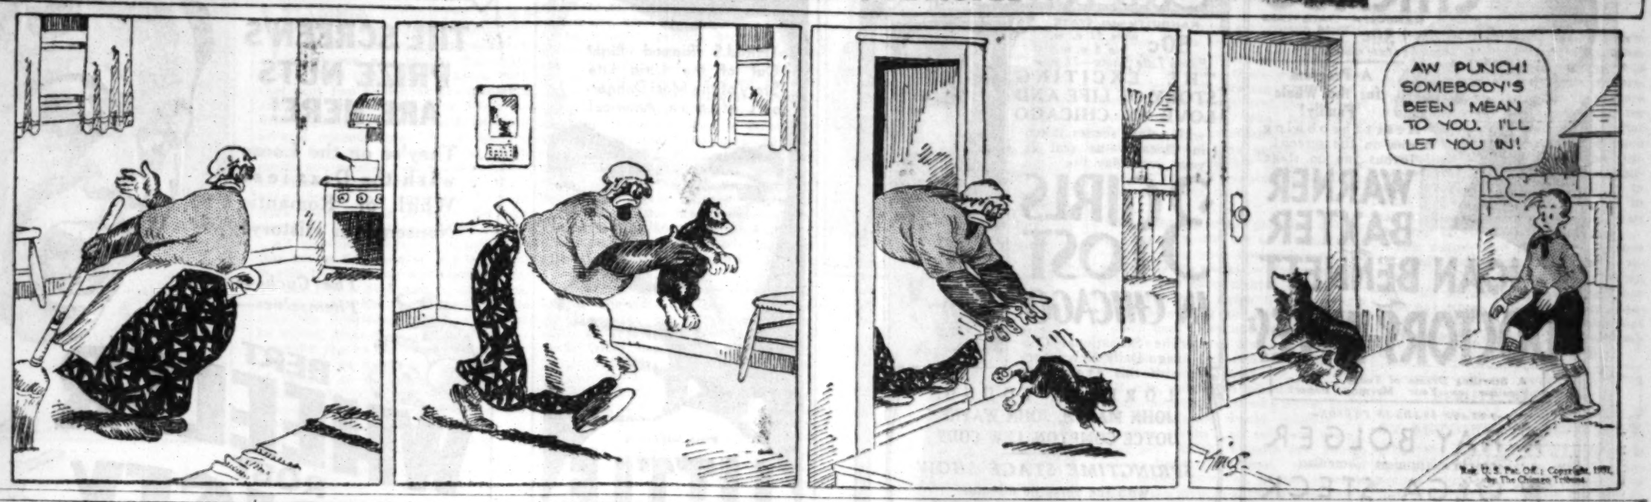
GASOLINE ALLEY—EVICTED



Crowds Greet Nippon Prince and His Bride

Gov. Roosevelt Meets Guests; Reds Jeer.

New York, April 10.—[Special.]—A prince and princess of Nippon discovered America this afternoon and seemed delighted with the experience. His royal highness Prince Takamatsh, younger brother of the emperor of Japan, arrived in New York with his bride, landing at the Battery shortly after 4 o'clock, after a good deal of ceremonial clamor by representatives of nation, state, and city.

Fully 10,000 people were massed outside pier A and in the plaza when the royal pair—now on their honeymoon—came ashore from the city tug, which had met their boat at quarantine.

Raucous-voiced Reds spouting propaganda and shy on good manners, did not neglect the glittering opportunity to make a scene. While Prince Takamatsu and his bride were entering the leading motor car, and while the police escort was forming to lead them up the west side, over the new motor speed highway, to their hotel, a group of ranting Reds shrieked insults to the Japanese guests.

"Down with the Japanese murderer!"

"Down with the Japanese hangman!"

These shouts probably reached the ears of the Japanese royalties, but their faces remained blandly impassive, as if they had heard nothing. A squad of quick moving policemen rushed the group of communists and struck right and left, knocking long haired agitators over. The whole business was over in a few minutes.

The second brother of the mikado arrived aboard the Aquitania. The liner slipped into quarantine to the roar of saluting guns from the green terraced forts. A band crashed from the official tug Macom, flagship of the mayor's committee, and the air was gay with the flags of the United States, Japan and the city of New York.

The Macom slid alongside the tall black side of the Aquitania and the members of the mayor's committee, together with representatives of President Hoover and Gov. Roosevelt, boarded the ship.

The royal couple shook hands cordially as each member of the committee was presented. Then the whole company went to the salon of the suite, where the prince and princess received the press. The prince gave a little interview, the first one in his life, it was said.

He speaks English well, but he preferred to talk in his own language. He said he had no official message for the American people, since he was here in a purely personal capacity—on his honeymoon. He said, too, that he had been reading books about the United States for years, as had the princess, and that both were eager to see the things they had read so much about. The princess is ardently interested in art and will visit both the art museums here and in Boston.

The official reception to the royal pair will take place at City hall tomorrow. The couple will go to Washington next Wednesday, and will be honored with many official functions, including a state dinner at the White House.

Eight Bands from City High Schools to Compete April 15

Eight high school bands will play on April 15 in the final stage of competition for the honor of representing this city in the national high school band contest in Tulsa, Okla., on May 23-24-25.

The bands are survivors of preliminary contests held in various sections of the city. Senn High school is already eligible for the Tulsa meet by virtue of having been national winner for the last two years.

The preliminary winners are: Harrison Technical High school, Austin High school (boys' band), Lane Technical High school, Tilden Technical High school, Lake View High school, Schurz High school, Morgan Park High school, and Fenger High school. Winners of first and second place on April 15 will be eligible to make the trip west.

Naval Benefit Dance Given at Armory on Edge of the Loop

A naval dance, sponsored by the Great Lakes auxiliary of the Navy Relief society, was held last night in the naval reserve armory at the foot of Randolph street.

Part of the philanthropic work of the auxiliary is the maintenance of a four-bed room in the Chicago Lying-In hospital, where medical treatment and hospital care are given in maternity cases to the wives of enlisted men unable to meet the expense.

Funds from the ball will be devoted to this and to the provision of additional hospital facilities in Waukegan for cases of a more general character.

Over 75,000 Helped by Travelers' Aid Society in Chicago

Distressed immigrants and other travelers numbering 75,859, were assisted by the Chicago Travelers' Aid society last year, and this indicates a problem that will confront the city in 1933, when the World's Fair will draw many other thousands to Chicago, the aid society was told yesterday by Judge John P. McGoorty, its president, at the annual meeting in the Union League club.

Plans for increasing its activities to care for the influx of travelers during the next few years will be undertaken by the society, Miss Alice McMaster, executive secretary, made known.

Elephants and Everything as Circus Hits Loop

Crowd Sees Dress Rehearsal, Too.

Chicago went old fashioned yesterday.

It lined up along the busiest streets in the loop and hailed with glee the first circus parade to pass that way in a dozen years. Even busy brokers, bankers, and such put away dull care and rushed to the windows when they heard the blare of the band and the steam calliope approaching La Salle street.

The Sells-Floto circus, headed by Cowboy Tom Mix on his prancing horse and 31 lumbering elephants, entered the loop about 11 o'clock just as if circuses were in the habit of joining in the loop traffic daily. There followed a goodly number of brightly painted wagons—the old fashioned kind, drawn by prancing horses dressed in their best harness. There were lots of other animals, of course, and beautiful ladies and clowns.

Last night a crowd that filled the Coliseum cheered the circus performers through a couple dozen numbers as they went through dress rehearsal preliminary to the grand opening this afternoon. Newsboys filled the galleries and spent most of the time on their feet during such breathtaking events as when Mabel Ward, aerial girl gymnast, suspended by her wrist, performed 100 somersaults in midair.

There was much cheering, too, when old favorites entered the arena, such as Poodles Hanneford and family. The juvenile half of the audience, especially, was loath to let Poodles, who is known as one of the greatest clowns of circusland, leave the ring, but kept him jumping off and on horseback, cheering him all the more.

There was, of course, the grand entry with a half hundred or more performers dressed in their finest, the bareback riders in fluffy dresses who do somersaults backward, the dancing horses, the trained elephants, the seals who can play "Where the River Shannon Flows," and the clowns. But there were some new acts added to this season's bill, including a tightrope walker and The Great Peters of Germany.

K. C. Minstrel Show.

Under the auspices of Commodore Barry council, Knights of Columbus, a minstrel show will be given this evening at the Street Car Men's hall, Ashland avenue and Van Buren street. The proceeds of this year's affair go towards a fund for the unemployed members of the organization.

Rumor Grows That Mary Garden Won't Rejoin Opera Here

Verification of the rumors that Mary Garden will be missing from the roster of artists of the Chicago Civic Opera company when the season starts this fall was indicated indirectly yesterday. Opera fans who took note of the photographs of the stars of the company, just placed in the window of the opera house at Wacker drive and Madison street, noted the absence of the soprano, who for past seasons has been acknowledged the best drawing card in the entire galaxy.

Officials of the company could not be reached yesterday to comment on the situation. Inquiry of other attachés elicited the response that no official statement would be forthcoming. Miss Garden told newspaper men when she sailed from New York for Europe early this spring that she had signed no contract, but she did not elaborate that statement. The singer's last season was featured with the production of the modern opera, "Camille," by Hamilton Forest, which on five nights drew packed houses in an otherwise backward year.

Miss Garden was reported early this week to be ill in Monte Carlo, where she is appearing in opera, but was able on Wednesday to resume her singing.

Ravinia Chief Tells Novelties for This Summer Opera List

New York, April 10.—(AP)—Louis Eckstein, president and general director of the Ravinia Opera company, announced today the novelties for the coming summer. These will include Rossini's "William Tell" in Italian, with Rethberg, Martinelli and Danise; Deems Taylor's "Peter Ibbetson" in English, with Berl, Johnson, Gandolfi and Macbeth; and the opera comique "La Basoche" in French, by Carre and Messager, with Yvonne Gall and Mario Chamlee.

The revivals will include "La Vida Breve," "La Rondine," "Anima Allegra," "The Bartered Bride," "La Campana Sommersa," and "Les Huguenots."

The season will open on June 20 and continue for ten weeks and three days.

THESE FIGURES DENY WALKING ART LOST IN DAY OF AUTOS

Boston, Mass., April 10.—(AP)—Housekeepers today walked nearly eight miles and did not leave their houses.

Conductors, without leaving their trains, plodded more than seven weary miles in their quest of tickets, and a doctor traveled 18 miles of hospital floor space on his errands of mercy.

Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, director of research for the National Association of Chiropodists today issued the results of a survey which showed those and other results.

The survey, based on averages, computed the mileage of business men, children at play, waiters, policemen, letter carriers, dancers, salesmen, and others.

The fact that the average business man walks farther than from Boston to New York every three or four weeks might explain why he is called the "tired business man," Lelyveld said.

According to the survey the girl at play walks 11¼ miles daily and the boy 15. The farmer, behind a plow, walks almost 26 miles and the policeman patrolling his beat traverses 14 miles of city pavement. The letter carrier walks 22 miles and the average sales girl eight miles.

Some of the other totals computed by the association showed: Salesmen walk 75 miles a week; department store buyers tramp seven miles a day; golfers doing 18 holes almost nine miles; stenographers, although they ride to and from work, walk 43 miles a week. The dancer, dancing from eight to midnight, covers nearly six miles.

British Church Primate May Not Attend Service in Jerusalem

LONDON, April 10.—(AP)—The archbishop of Canterbury will not spend the orthodox Easter in Jerusalem, as originally planned, according to a statement attributed by the Herald to the Greek metropolitan in London, Archbishop Germanos.

The statement said the archbishop of Canterbury, who has been traveling on J. P. Morgan's yacht Corsair, probably would arrive in Jerusalem next Wednesday or Thursday, after orthodox festivities are over.

The Vatican recently was unofficially quoted as raising the point that an Easter visit of the archbishop to the holy land would create a difficult situation, since it might establish a precedent which would permit repetition indefinitely.

The holy see was reported to have made representations to the British government on the subject, although it was said unofficially that there would be no opposition to his making the visit privately as a pilgrim.

"Digger, Spare Those Fossils," Science's Plea

Man's interest in himself brought together a group of scientists and engineers yesterday at a conference in the Stevens hotel. Their plan was to get coöperation for the preservation of fossils and other evidence much needed in the search for the answer to that age old question, From whence did we come?

Every load of sand, stone, gravel, and dirt disturbed each day in the excavations for new buildings, new bridges or new railroads may contain some clew that would aid the scientist in reconstructing the ancestry of man, the scientists said. To save any such clews from obliteration the scientists appealed to railroad presidents, construction engineers and other builders for coöperation in preserving all prehistoric evidence that may be uncovered in the ordinary work of the future.

Science in America is striving to ascertain the age of man in the western hemisphere, the engineers and others were told. As far as definite evidence has been obtained, that age is about 12,000 years—or since the last glacial period. However, occasional findings have indicated the possibility that man, in some form or another, existed on this continent perhaps as long as 50,000 years ago, the scientists said, but this cannot be established without further evidence, and it is these clews that science fears may be destroyed by excavators.

Fay-Cooper Cole, head of the anthropological department of the University of Chicago, said American research had disclosed no evidence that man's earlier relatives ever existed on this continent, but there are some clews that a race preceded the Pleistocene—post-glacial—man. He has just returned from an expedition in Mexico. There a city had been unearthed beneath a lava deposit in such circumstances as indicated a vast earlier culture than had been previously supposed to have existed there.

The conference was called by the National Research council of Washington, under the supervision of Dr. Madison Bentley, chairman of the anthropology and psychology division of the council. M. W. Stirling, representing the Smithsonian institution; H. A. Buehler, Missouri state geologist; Arthur Keith of the United States geological survey, also head of the geographical and geological department of the council, and C. E. Guthe, director of the anthropological museum of the University of Michigan, were among the scientific men who attended.

The daily working world was represented by H. G. Clark, chief engineer of the Rock Island railroad; C. N. Conner, engineer of the American Road-Builders' association; A. J. Moorshead, president of the Madison Coal company, a subsidiary of the Illinois Central railroad; W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe railroad, and A. W. Newton, chief engineer of the C. B. & Q.

At the dinner in the Stevens last evening, Mr. Keith argued that a new army of specialists could be brought to the aid of science. "I mean," he said, "the quarry foremen, who know the peculiar conditions of each pit and who are keenly alive to the encountering of a new factor in their work. They can gather facts that are of great use in the forming of our theories. We regard ourselves as specialists, because of education and long scientific experience. These other men are specialists, even if not trained the same way."

Each state in the area selected will coöperate through its universities and otherwise. Ultimately, it is hoped to have the 2,500 associations of those engaged in excavation work throughout the United States become interested in assisting the scientists.

Overworking May Cost Talented Boy His Health, Later

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It is going to take an intelligent combination of parents, executive educators [coined expression], school principals and acting teachers to strike an equilibrium in the mental, physical, and social education of our young boys and girls. But when the students, themselves, start observing and thinking it ought to hurry up the achieving of a balance.

Witness this:

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: Perhaps I have missed it, but I do not remember seeing in your column lately anything about the over emphasis put on certain pupils in the small town high schools, especially. There is one boy in particular of whom I am thinking. It seems to me really sinful the things he is expected to do—and does.

"I knew him when he was in the grades and he was just a lively, healthy, happy boy. But since he entered high school he has changed so much. He sings in the church choir. He is president the Christian Endeavor, and an active Boy Scout. He is on the high school baseball team, which means hours of strenuous play, each week.

"The school play was given a week ago, with him as the leading boy. Class play practice starts in a few days. He has lost most of his happy, carefree ways. He is getting cross and decidedly nervous. He never sits still any more, it seems to me.

"I used to wish I could do the things he does. I wanted to be in everything too. But when I see what it is doing to his health, I am glad I am not. I would so much rather be just little unnoticed me with good health."

It is not only their present that is jeopardized by strain, but their future. And only a few days ago a visiting athlete—a Frenchman or Belgian—who is also a doctor, spoke of the danger of young athletes burning themselves out, so that their stamina is gone for later years.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

SHEEP KILLING DOGS.

One of the discouraging menaces to the wider use of sheep and lambs as a means of utilizing the byproducts of the farm, is the dread of sheep killing dogs. They take a monetary toll that is itself a setback, but of greater damage is the fact that neighbors who have fine sheep are often moved to apprehension when they hear of some one else's flock being attacked. These dogs work both singly and in packs, usually in pairs, traveling for miles, when once tasting the flesh will not merely cripple a lamb or sheep, but chase it to the point of exhaustion. They are seldom if ever broken of the habit, leading most farmers to follow the rule of killing any dog as soon as his habit is known.

Laws exist in some states, especially Northern states, which adequately protect the stock when enforced. With the exception such state laws allow any one to kill a dog caught in the act of chasing, killing or wounding sheep or other live stock on land not owned by the dog's owner.

Other conditions under which some of the states permit such dogs to be killed are: when found at large unattended and without identification; when found at large after having been proved to be sheep killers; when found at large and unattended between sunset and sunrise.

Illinois farm organizations are now actively supporting a bill at Springfield to relieve from responsibility a farmer who kills a stray dog found on his property. Regional discussions held at various points in the state this winter indicated far greater prevalence of sheep killing dogs than many had realized.

The sheep owner always has recourse to building dog tight fences, or of receiving compensation for his losses from the dog's owner. Residents of Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Wisconsin, as well as some other states, may secure a copy of existing dog laws from their representatives, or by writing to the United States department of agriculture at Washington for Farmers' bulletin No. 1,268.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., April 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President, and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, wife of the secretary of agriculture, were to have been ranking guests at luncheon today of Mrs. E. A. Harriman, retiring president of the Woman's Republican league of Washington. The luncheon was postponed to Monday, April 10, because of the death of Speaker Longworth.

Charles S. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the treasury and later financial adviser to the government of Poland, is spending a few days in his home in Chicago and is expected to return here tomorrow. He had expected to leave Washington today with Mrs. Dewey for New York, but owing to the illness of his mother, Mrs. Albert Blake Dewey, in her apartment at the Mayflower, their departure has been postponed. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Blake Dewey Jr. arrived this morning from the south and will remain here for some time.

The Japanese ambassador and Mme. Debuchi have gone to New York to meet the royal Prince Takamatsu and his bride, who will come to Washington next week for a visit.

The Viscountess Harcourt arrived today on the Aquitania to visit her cousin, Miss Anne Morgan.

Mrs. Whitney Warren and Miss E. Louise Sands will sail for Europe next week on the Conte Grande.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish Armstrong gave a dinner party last evening at their home in honor of Mr. Richard Von Kuhlmann, former German minister for foreign affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Rhinelander left for Newport.

Mr. Joseph E. Widener has returned from Palm Beach.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' DRESS.

A printed crêpe silk all day dress is ever so youthful, with its tiny white silk vest. The bodice is given a slight cowl effect caught with a knotted trimming piece of self-fabric at the front. A similar trim appears on the short banded sleeves. Deep scallops give emphasis to the snugness through the hips. Flat crêpe silk in lake or navy blue is stunning in this model with dainty eyelet vest and sleeve bands.

Pattern No. 3021 is designed for sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material and ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Seeks Children's Clothing.

"My husband has been out of work for seven months, I am expecting a baby soon, and my three children are in need of clothing. If you can help me with baby clothing or with things for the children I will be very grateful to you. The little girl is 2 and the boys are 4 and 5 years old.

"MRS. J. M."

Children of this age outgrow their dresses and suits and shoes so quickly that very often they leave in their wake garments in almost perfect condition which cannot be put to use again. Mrs. J. M. would be happy to receive such apparel for her youngsters.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

New Night School Subject.

One night recently I decided I would like to drop one of my subjects at evening school and take "gym" work instead. I went to the office and presented my problem to the principal, but instead of telling him I wanted to take "gym," I asked him, very politely, if I might take "gin" instead of my other subject.

The principal said, "I beg your pardon?"

Therefore, I repeated, with emphasis, "gin."

The good man was properly astonished, and I felt that a good "bracer" would have done me no harm at that particular moment.

Horowitz and Stock Attain Fresh Laurels

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Vladimir Horowitz came back to the Chicago Symphony orchestra as its soloist yesterday afternoon and played Rachmaninoff's Third Concerto, the same work that sent two audiences away talking excitedly and incoherently when he first appeared here in that capacity several seasons ago. More to the point, he wove just about as much magic and created just about as much excitement yesterday as he did then, even though this time his hearers were more or less prepared for him and what he might accomplish.

All of which tends to indicate that this young firebrand of the keyboard is still burning, but not burning out. To call him a firebrand is, of course, only a part of the truth. Side by side with the breathtaking wonders that he works, feats of execution that simply take you by the throat from their perfection, he has a bewitching sense of beauty to be drawn from piano strings. In fact the Rachmaninoff composition of his first and last appearances here is one continuous climax for him and his hearers. At first you are enchanted, then you begin to admire, finally you grow excited. And that is Horowitz.

With such a soloist in the offing, Dr. Stock prepared a program that would fit round him. The symphony was Glière's "Ilia Mourometz," a magnificent, mountainous bit of scene painting in music, set around as amusing a program as ever came out of Russian folk lore. I never fail to be charmed with the account of Ilia Mourometz's horse, which "galloped as the falcon flies, bestrode lakes and streams, while his tail swept away cities," or of this, "Whistling like a nightingale, sending forth ferocious cries, Solovei the Brigand bows to earth thick forests, and all the men, if any there be in the forests, lie dead."

There were men in those days. But even in this generation Glière wrote music as stirring and interesting as the story he was illustrating. And by the best of luck, it counts among the stirring show pieces of the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

In the beginning Dr. Stock was in graver mood. The first number was the overture, "Melpomene," played in memory of its composer, George Whitfield Chadwick, who died last Saturday. During the period of his active career, Mr. Chadwick labored incessantly for the cause of American music, becoming thereby one of the fine, dignified, highly cultured composers of his generation.

"Oedipus Rex" set to Music for the Philadelphians.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 10.—(AP)—Eyes and ears of Philadelphians were treated to unprecedented sights and sounds today as Leopold Stokowski led the Philadelphia orchestra through Igor Stravinsky's "Œdipus Rex" and Serge Prokofieff's "Le Pas d'Acier" [dance of the age of steel] in their first presentations on an American stage.

For this extraordinary occasion the Philadelphia orchestra and the New York League of Composers combined forces, augmented by a numerous array of singers—soloists and chorus—and pantomimists.

At times 15 foot figures appeared mysteriously from deep shadows and moved and gestured high above the stage as protagonists in "Œdipus Rex," while soloists in plum colored costumes sang the rôles.

At intervals a greatly magnified voice boomed observations and explanations from loud speakers as Wayland Rudd, Negro actor, took off the rôle of the reader or speaker.

Ears Are Peeking Out Again, in the Newest Coiffures

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If you have an ear that is fully presentable, show it. If it is only half presentable, show half of it. If it is best that an ear lobe only be seen, let it out for an airing. Anyway, try the ear help to a new coiffure effect.

You see, now, the ear doesn't have to be "shell" perfect, because such clever hair arrangements are possible that its size can be minimized, or, as I say, only part of it need be exposed. But there's something smart, chic, and youthful about that ear or semi-ear exposition that is becoming to more women than may at the moment suspect. Especially with the long bob with the shorter locks in front, which is the favorite length of the moment, that hair-ear treatment smartens up the head ensemble appreciably. The head gets more shapeliness with the longer hair in back separated by the ear exposé.

When you let the hair come down long at the sides and conform to the usual covered ear arrangement the effect all around the head is likely to be a trifle heavy. And above all things in hair arrangement, you want to keep just as "thinning" an eye to the head silhouette as you do to the preserving of a thin, young figure line. You can, you know, lop off a year or two or more with a slenderer head silhouette, which you manage by "line" of hair dressing and by keeping the hair well thinned out. Those longish bobs do call for frequent thinning, otherwise your head is apt to fall into the disfavor of the old time bushy, mop-like spread of hair current during our worst bobbed haired era.

→

At the back, study the possible greater smartness for your own individual case of a thin pencil roll of hair as against the careless riot of curls. Or the tidy little knot in which so many young heads end right now may be more in your particular style. The chief point for immediate action is that the variety of coiffure styles there's one best-est, youngest, and smartest for you, and rest content with nothing less than it.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Little Tommy was rumaging around in the ice box. Mother said, "Tommy what are you doing?"

He replied, "I'm looking for cookies."

"You won't find them there," she said.

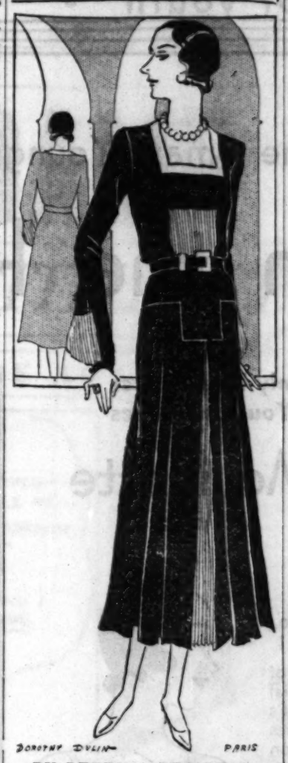
Petticoats Peek Below Hemlines



BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Lest all these new divided skirts should make us think that masculinity was menacing Paris fashions, Paris couturiers are reviving petticoats for afternoon and they're emphasizing the fact by making petticoats that contrast sharply with the frock they accompany while they match some trimming detail.

Maggy Rouff favors white organdie petticoats edged with lots of little Valenciennes ruffles that show a couple of inches below the hems of black or navy crêpe frocks having collars and puffed undersleeves of Valenciennes edging. Lelong matches a plaid taffeta petticoat to the collar, tie, and cuffs of a navy silk serge dress.

Irene Dana likes matching petticoats and blouses. You see how discreetly she does it in the black crêpe de chine frock, sketched today. It is worn over a golden yellow pleated georgette petticoat. The black skirt is plain in back and in front it's split into panels allowing the underskirts to show. It has a square cut hip yoke.

Mrs. B. M. writes: "Will you print for me a good Scotch shortbread recipe and one to make pancakes without baking powder as done by the French cooks?"

For the finest flavor, butter should be used as a shortening for shortbreads. The inexperienced cook usually has better success if she will attempt them in cold weather. Sift two pounds of pastry flour, ¾ pound cornstarch and ¾ pound of sugar together. Work the pound of butter until smooth and plastic. Add the dry ingredients gradually to the butter and stir until the mass is well blended. Knead until the bread is smooth. Divide into six equal parts. Put each on a clean piece of paper. Pat out square or round until about ½ inch thick. Pinch around the edges to give a fluted effect.

Place on a baking sheet. Prick well with a fork or skewer and, if liked, score with lines in a pattern.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 or 30 minutes. Break into pieces when serving. One ounce of blanched, shredded sweet almonds may be added when the flour mixture is added to the butter. And the top may be ornamented with strips of candied orange peel.

Yield: Six pieces.

FRENCH PANCAKES.

½ cup flour — ½ cup milk
3 tbsp. powdered sugar — 1 egg
1 tsp. salt

Mix the dry ingredients, add milk, and stir until perfectly smooth. Add the egg, beat thoroughly and cook on a hot greased griddle. Yield: 2 servings.

Milwaukee Reader asks for a recipe for raised doughnuts and wants to know the difference between baking powder and raised doughnuts.

A baking powder doughnut is a raised doughnut because baking powder makes the dough rise. The term "raised doughnut," however, means to most cooks a dough made with yeast. Both kinds of doughnuts are fried in hot fat. A yeast dough is much the easier to make and not so rich as a baking powder doughnut. Many people prefer yeast doughnuts because of the light, spongy texture.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS.

1 cup scalded milk — 1-3 cup butter and lard mixed
¼ cake compressed yeast dissolved in ¼ cup luke warm water — 1 cup light brown sugar
1 tsp. salt — ½ grated nutmeg
2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups flour

When milk is lukewarm, add yeast cake in water, salt and flour enough to make stiff batter. Let rise overnight. Add melted shortening, sugar, eggs, nutmeg and flour. Let rise again and if too soft to handle add more flour. Toss on floured board, pat and roll ¾ inch thick. Shape with cutter and work between hands until round. Place on floured board, let rise 1 hour, turn and let rise again. Fry in deep fat until brown. Drain on unglazed paper. Cool and roll in powdered sugar.

ASPARAGUS LETTUCE SALAD.

Marinate cooked asparagus. Chill thoroughly, arrange several stalks on each bed of lettuce. Make a Roman striped band across middle, using finely chopped, hard cooked egg white, hard cooked egg yolk forced through strainer, chopped pickle, chopped pimento, and chopped parsley for the different stripes. Serve with French dressing made with lemon juice.

Don't-Care Method Good Way to Restore Erring Mate's Love

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Appearing not to care is the most popularly prescribed remedy for the heartache that wives suffer when whispers [or substantial evidence] reaches them that there is another woman.

Following any exposition in this column of the broken-hearted feelings of a wife confronted with the other woman problem, there comes letter after letter advocating the "don't care" course, contributed, for the most part, by women who have been through the grinding mill. They know whereof they speak, for they confess quite frankly to a period of play acting that eventually got them their husbands back.

Sit tight, go in for personal upkeep in a big way, and act as if you didn't care whether your husband loves you or not—is the completed formula. The subject has been treated by experts, of course, who agree that no single formula applies to all cases. The "don't care" attitude on the part of "J. J.'s" wife, for instance, might be the complete and final severing link.

On the other hand, "A. B.," let's call him, might be persuaded into a second courting of a wife whose seeming indifference would indicate her affection weren't so securely boring, after all. As the experts say, you've got to know your man. One thing I do notice, however, is that there is less of the divorce-advising impatience of a few years ago.

Maybe women are learning that certain psychological influences bestir some married men of middle life or thereabouts to attempt to rehabilitate their youth in an amour; that these flights, if intelligently handled by said wives, are but temporary in nature. Too, women are learning that there is not the great big opportunity for business success in tearooms, interior decorating establishments, and such occupations preferred by the untrained, long-domesticated person. Anyway, it's saner to sit tight, hold to what you've helped build up, go in for brighter personal charm and await the day of your mate's recovery.

The reason for the above is one especially convincing experiment revealed in a letter before me in which the wife of twenty years "wept her eyes out when alone," but who managed to assume cheer and pretend that nothing was the matter, and eventually had first place restored to her.

N. Y. PROSECUTOR FAILS TO CONVICT ONE RACKETEER

Crain's Aid Admits None Ever Faced Trial.

New York, April 10.—[Special.]—Not one conviction or even a trial has come out of 150 complaints brought to District Attorney Crain since last December when he launched his widely heralded war against racketeers in New York City's sixty listed rackets, the testimony of one of Crain's aids revealed today.

The aid, Charles Pilatsky, first witness to be called to his chief's defense in the governor's inquiry before Samuel Seabury, said he worked with the citizens' committee of public safety, which met twice. He said he examined 500 persons about rackets in thirty-one industries, in some cases subpoenaeing their books and records. He called in police to help him on numerous occasions, he said. Twenty-nine complained of rackets went uninvestigated.

Names Ten Defendants.

Pilatsky said he got just three indictments, naming ten defendants, from the grand jury and one of those indictments since has been dismissed by General Sessions Judge Max S. Levine.

Judge Seabury listened politely as the voluble Pilatsky, who is a deputy assistant district attorney, expatiated on how hard he had tried to get evidence, but Samuel Untermyer, Crain's counsel, obviously was impatient. When Pilatsky concluded, the hearing was adjourned to Monday.

"It means people won't give you indictable evidence," Untermyer said later. "The district attorney is not a snooper."

Chicagoans at Inquiry.

Chicago had two official representatives at the hearing yesterday. These were Charles J. Mueller, assistant state's attorney, and J. A. Farmar, foreman of the special Cook county grand jury investigating police corruption.

"We came to New York," said Mr. Mueller today, "looking for a man we want as a witness, but we'd like to find out what we can about the method and process of these investigations."

Who the hunted man was was not revealed. Mr. Mueller, commenting on the evidence he heard Thursday, said:

DROP VAGRANCY CASES AGAINST 2 PUBLIC FOES

Vagrancy charges against Frank Rio, bodyguard for Al Capone, and Bernard O'Donnell, labor union official, both listed as public enemies by the Chicago Crime commission, were dismissed yesterday in Judge Francis Borrelli's Municipal court.

Rio was freed after being before the judge only thirty seconds. Assistant State's Attorney Russell Root said that he was instructed to nol pros the case because of lack of evidence. O'Donnell was before the judge a short time longer because Sergt. Roy Van Herik recalled that he was arrested nearly a year ago with George [Red] Barker and William J. [Three Fingered Jack] White.

"O, yes," said Judge Borrelli, "this is one of those cases where a certain judge ordered men arrested, hoping to find the evidence on which to convict them after they were in jail."

WARDEN GRANTS LIMITED VISITS AT JOLIET PRISON

Warden Henry C. Hill of the state penitentiary at Joliet yesterday announced that limited visiting privileges would be restored to the convicts, beginning on Monday.

Only two persons instead of the customary three will be allowed to visit the convicts each month. Prisoners with even serial numbers will be allowed to receive visitors on even dates and prisoners with odd serial numbers will receive visitors on odd dates. No visitors are allowed on Sundays or holidays, and the hours are from 9 to 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

"The restoration of these privileges to 85 per cent of the prisoners is done for the sake of the men's families and not for the sake of the men," the warden said. He also announced that thirty-five convicts, found guilty of being leaders in the recent rioting, had been transferred to the old prison and locked in their cells.

GERMANY DRAFTS PLAN TO CREATE JOBS FOR 860,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 10.—Eight hundred and sixty-thousand jobless persons in Germany will be provided with work if the recommendations of the committee to relieve unemployment are enforced, the committee said in a statement issued today.

The committee, headed by former Minister Dr. Heinrich Brauns, has worked out details of a proposed law reducing the working week to forty hours in the chief German industries. This, it is estimated, will provide jobs for 550,000, while the abolition of a man carrying on two jobs will enable a further 250,000 to find employment.

Another proposal is that married women in the government service should be encouraged to live on their husband's incomes and be given a premium for quitting their jobs. A minority report recommends their dismissal.

ANDERSON NAMED NOTRE DAME GRID CHIEF

HAWKS SEEK TO CLINCH HOCKEY TITLE TONIGHT

STANLEY CUP IS PRIZE FOR WIN OVER MONTREAL

Battle Canadiens in Fourth Game.

MONTREAL, Que., April 10.—[Special.]—The Flying Frenchmen of Montreal and the most startling Blackhawk team that ever has skated on the old Forum ice here, will meet again tomorrow night in their fourth, and perhaps final, battle for hockey's most prized prize, the Stanley cup and the world's championship that goes with it.

After Thursday night's epic struggle here Montreal fans admit that the powerful Chicago club has an excellent chance of taking the trophy back to the United States. They haven't given up hope of Les Canadiens still coming out on top. But they do concede that never in their history have they seen a team quite like these Blackhawks.

When a team as brilliant as the Frenchmen have proved themselves to be can drop a two goal lead in four minutes of play and then be beaten out in 43 minutes of overtime, these fans praise the team that can do it. The Blackhawks have beaten the Frenchmen two straight. It's been a long time since any club has handed Les Canadiens that kind of a setback.

Speed, Power Win.

The ever changing forward lines of the Chicago club has proved to the league at large that sustained speed and power will wear down the best hockey team in the world. Coach Dick Irvin's men piled over the boards in regular monotonous routine Thursday night, and when Wentworth's brilliant goal ended the battle the champions were so leg weary and battered that they could hardly leave the ice. The sports hereabouts, who could not see Maj. Frederic McLaughlin's plan of changing forward lines at all when the season opened, gave it full credit for the whipping that Les Canadiens have taken in two of the three games this far.

The stars of the Hawk club have been many and varied since they have battered their way to the threshold of a rock's title, but it seems to be Stewart Adams, along with Charlie Gardiner, who has the greatest claim to fame. The lanky front liner has turned the playoffs into a breeze as far as he is concerned, giving a sensational performance in wing play and topping the Hawk scoring contingent with three goals and three assists. Gardiner, of course, cannot be overlooked, as they will agree with you up here on that. Wentworth, Gottselig, Couture also have shone.

Both Had Rough Going.

The Frenchmen attribute their failure to win to physical disintegration, such as comes after a hard campaign that involves the best sextets in the league.

The Hawks also have been through tough battles. A win and tie with Toronto; two shutout victories over the New York Rangers and two victories out of three against the world's champions—these prove the Chicagoans have not had a picnic in this greatest of ice competitions.

The Canadiens have participated in three overtime games with Boston and two with the Hawks, playing 122 minutes of overtime, in addition to 480 minutes of regular play. The Hawks have played 420 minutes of regular time, while getting in 98 minutes of overtime.

Another record crowd will see tomorrow night's battle, in which the Canadiens must give everything they have. A victory for the Frenchmen will force the series into five games, with the deciding battle being settled on Tuesday.

GAR WOOD SEEKS TO REGAIN SPEED RECORD TODAY

Miami Beach, Fla., April 10.—(AP)—Gar Wood, will pilot his twin motored Miss America IX over a measured mile in Indian creek here tomorrow in an attempt to regain the world's speedboat record.

Wood said tonight he would take the hot on the course tomorrow noon unless strong crosswinds made the water too rough for high speed.

Fight Decisions

At Des Moines, Ia.—Prince Saunders, Chicago, knocked out Speed Murphy, Moorehead, Minn. [1].

At Pittsburgh, Pa.—Ray Kinse beat Eddie Simms [10]; Monty Gerwick beat Howard Hilton [6].

A Night Letter from Ring Lardner

Tucson, Ariz., April 10.—[Special.]—"Thank heavens," writes Pittsburgh's young pitcher, Willis Clough. "We will not have to go back to Los Angeles and play that game over which the Los Angeles club beat us, but afterwards claimed they was in title to 2 more runs. Manager Ens send Paul Waner around amongst all the players today and asked if we would object if he sent a telegram to the manager of the Los Angeles club and tell him they was welcome to add 2 more runs or even 3 more runs to their record if they would leave us alone. Nobody objected so now we can finish our series with Detroit and reach Chicago in time to open up for the season. We will be in Detroit when you receive this letter and it will be my first site of a big league ball park. The boys was asking me last night about the Arizona-Texas league and was it true that they play night baseball in Phoenix. I told them it was true and George Grantham asked me had I ever pitched in Phoenix at night and I said no and Paul Waner said you don't understand, 'George, they have the park lighted up.'"

Soldiers Fight for Division Title Tonight

The best boxers among national guardsmen of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Illinois will meet tonight at the Chicago Riding club for the interdivisional championship. Proceeds of the bouts will go toward the upkeep of the Black Horse troop, Chicago's cavalry organization, which from time to time is employed as an escort to distinguished visitors.

Each fight will find a man from the 33d division of Illinois pitted against one from the 32d division of Wisconsin and Michigan. The twenty-two boxers on the program have gone through a long series of elimination matches before earning the right to represent their outfits tonight.

One of the fighters is Dick Monty of the 65th Illinois infantry, who went to the finals of the Golden Gloves tournament. He will be matched tonight against Corporal Harvey Timper of the 105th Wisconsin cavalry. Walter Karpinski, 205 pound private from the 126th Michigan infantry, is expected to give Charlie O'Connell of the 58th artillery a busy evening when they meet for the heavyweight title.

John Neil, 132d infantry, Illinois, vs. Albert Sewicki, 126th infantry, Wisconsin.

118 POUNDS.

125 POUNDS.

135 POUNDS.

135 POUNDS.

140 POUNDS.

147 POUNDS.

147 POUNDS.

Paul Searing, Special Troops, Illinois, vs. Gustave E. Borchardt, 105th cavalry, Wisconsin.

160 POUNDS.

Mike Zeno, 108th medical regiment, vs. Bill Gawronski, 105th cavalry, Wisconsin.

165 POUNDS.

Dick Monty, 65th infantry brigade, Illinois, vs. Corporal Harvey Timper, 105th cavalry, Wisconsin.

HEAVYWEIGHT.

CUBS SHAKE OFF LETHARGY; BEAT BLUES, 10 TO 6

Hornsby Knocks Home Run Over Scoreboard.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., April 10.—William Veeck, president and treasurer of the Cubs, and William Walker, first vice president, galloped into Kansas City today with nerve not unlike that of brave firemen going to a 4-11 conflagration. And the clanging entrance of these estimable men had precisely the contemplated result. The Cubs woke from their drowsy lethargy and looked mighty good and peppery, administering a 10 to 6 defeat to the Kansas City Blues.

About the only fellow who didn't profit by the arrival of the inspirational force was Woody English, a young athlete who at no time has needed any front office prodding. Woody fanned four times in a row, including two whiffs in one inning, a most amazing example of unprovoked distress.

Wilson and Hornsby Hit.

On the other hand, Hack Wilson, a man who must be inspired to reach the heights, broke loose with two mammoth doubles, a single and a walk, and scored three runs just by way of showing the big shots that he is a good boy and loves his work.

Rogers Hornsby, who, naturally, needs no stimulation in his own behalf, did some merry demonstrating with a homer and a double, both of vast size in the big Kansas City park. The Cubs will play their next to last spring exhibition game against the Blues tomorrow. Sheriff Blake has been designated as the pitching person.

At the end of the first inning the Blues were leading 1 to 0 and at the end of the third inning their edge was 3 to 1. The first inning counter was made on a walk to Brower, a double by Pick, and an infield out.

The Cubs, or rather Mr. Root in person, tied the score in the first half of the third inning. Charley knocked a triple to left center with one out and came home after Prather had caught Cuyler's foul fly. English fanned to end the session.

Blues Come Back.

The Blues came back with a rush in their end of the third, but were halted with only two runs. Knothe opened with a single to right and went to third when Brower singled to right. Pick also singled to right, scoring Knothe, and when Cuyler juggled the ball Brower went to third and Pick to second. Root knocked down Grigsby's slam and threw to Hartnett to get Brower at the plate, Pick taking third, whence he scored on Nichol-

Jack Berg Wins Decision from Billy Wallace

The English fighter's aggressive whirlwind style kept the Cleveland boy on the defensive throughout. For every blow Wallace landed Berg managed to get in at least two, but most of these carried little sting.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

POT POURRI.

NAMING of Cleveland as site for the Schmeling-Stribling title fight early in July will cause no particular heartaches in this city. Cleveland is not so far away as to prevent attendance of those who feel attendance at big fights is necessary to social prestige among the set in which they move.

There was really no wholehearted public demand for the bout here. The Wake recently explained why we were apathetic rather than sympathetic toward the proposition. Hotels and merchants will lose some business they otherwise might have secured from visitors, but even this business was problematical in view of business conditions.

It seems reasonable to assume advances never again will be made to hold in Chicago a boxing show with a percentage of the profits, if any, going to the charities of another city.

Joe McCarthy, now of the Yankees, but once of the Cubs, predicts his former charges will win the National league pennant. That is a natural selection for him to make. In the first place, knowing the team so well, he probably feels just that way about it. Even if he did not, it would hardly do to say so, lest he be accused of pique.

The Wake wishes at this time to notify all friends that the international Golden Gloves bouts between French and All-America amateur boxing teams will be held May 12. After all tickets have been sold, we have no secret, mystic, or occult method of procuring ducats for late comers when there are no such ducats. We do not know Arch Ward, sports editor. We do not know any one who works in the sports department. There is nothing personal about this statement. It's just a reminder to reserve your tickets early.

WHITE SOX POUND GIANT PITCHERS FOR 11-7 VICTORY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Norfolk, Va., April 10.—As a celebration over Lu Blue's first start as one of them, the White Sox almost blasted the Giants into Chesapeake bay this afternoon. Nineteen Chicago hits were exploded, most of them off the usually efficient Bill Walker. With hitting such as that, the New Yorkers had to fold up, by a score of 11 to 7, and the spring series now is tied at seven victories apiece. Two battles, both at the Polo grounds, remain.

The unrestrained pleasure of the Sox was marred by one incident. Bob Fothergill, who started in left field, endeavored to match his 215 pounds against the resistance of a bleacher fence. He did this by charging against the barrier while in pursuit of a foul fly in the third inning. The fence suffered only to the extent of a couple of splintered boards but Bob's right shoulder, which received the full impact, was so badly bruised that he was forced to retire. Later an X-ray negative revealed no bones had been broken, but the fat boy will have to rest for a week or more.

Blue Gets 3 Hits.

Appearance of Blue on first base was as surprising as it was unexpected. Midsummer weather induced Manager Bush to move up the day he had set for the veteran's debut. That the change was timely is attested by the figures following Blue's name in the box score. During his six innings of endeavor he was up four times for a total of three singles and one strike out. His first hit was one of seven with which the Sox counted six runs off Walker at the outset.

Luke Appling, the new shortstop, also was prominent at the bat, his achievements being two singles and a double. Hitting is becoming a daily habit with the young lad.

The rout of Walker which resulted in six runs in the opening inning was started by Cissell's double. The next two batters were eliminated, but the disturbance then broke out in earnest. Fothergill walked, and Appling singled to score Cissell. Blue, Kamm, Tate, and Frasier also singled. This added four more runs. Cissell, up for the second time, singled to center and Tate scored, but when Frasier tried to dash to third on the hit he was out.

Ott Hits a Homer.

In the second inning Shorty Ott began a series of depredations which culminated in the first three Giant runs scored off Vic Frasier's speedballing. In this inning he hoisted a homer over a high right field fence. He came up again in the third and hit a single to score Leach, who had walked. In the fifth Lindstrom hit a single and dashed to third on a double by Terry. Ott's long fly to Eichrodt scored him.

Meanwhile the Sox weren't idle against Walker. They scored a run on him in the third. The ingredients were singles by Blue, Frasier, and Cissell. Another run was scored in the fourth on Eichrodt's double and Appling's single. This much put the Chicago boys well out in front by 3 to 2.

So that Ray Lucas would feel natural, the Sox serenaded him with three runs as soon as he appeared in the sixth. Reynolds started it with a single to right and Eichrodt sacrificed. Appling doubled to left center, Reynolds scoring. Blue singled over short and Appling stopped at third. Blue dashed down to second on the throw in and followed Appling over the plate when Kamm singled.

Giants Score Four.

A slight rally in the Giant seventh almost convinced Frasier he had better absent himself, but he ended the inning with only two runs against him, so he decided to continue. These two runs grew from a homer by Leach

CARRY ON FOR ROCKNE

Anderson Man of Action and Disciplinarian

BY ARCH WARD.

He has been chosen to carry on where the greatest coach of all time left off. He is to be responsible for the gridiron destiny of Notre Dame.

Few would care to be in Anderson's position. It's one thing to be the coach of a school with a football reputation like Notre Dame's. It is something else to keep pace with the achievements of Knute Rockne.

It is significant, however, that the school lost little time picking a 1931 leader. It was Anderson from the start. If Rockne had been called upon to name his successor the choice would have been the same.

Rockne Pays Him Tribute.

Anderson's career at Notre Dame was not unlike Rockne's up to the time the latter was appointed head coach. Both had been star athletes. Both were linesmen on the football team. Both were retained after graduation as assistant coaches.

Anderson is Scotch-Irish. He came to Notre Dame in 1918 from Calumet, Mich., with George Gipp and O. J. Larson. No city ever made a finer contribution to Notre Dame football. Like Rockne when he was an assistant coach, Anderson is a non-Catholic in a Catholic stronghold.

Hunk Lacks Silver Tongue.

Hunk probably never will be as entertaining an after dinner speaker as Rockne, but we can remember when Rockne was no silver tongued orator. If Anderson turns out a couple of national championship teams his public speaking will improve. It took the Four Horsemen to put Rockne in demand as a wise cracker.

There is no man more thoroughly schooled in Rockne's style of football. He played at Notre Dame four years. This included the war year of 1918, which did not count as a season of competition. He was assistant to Rockne for seven years. Save for 1928 and 1929, when he was in charge of football instruction at St. Louis university, Anderson was with Rockne from the time he was made head coach until his death.

Anderson is a driver, but never becomes abusive. He is an uncompromising demander of discipline. He was the hardest working linesman on the squad in his day and he expects as much from the men under his tutelage.

There will be no long winded talks in the Notre Dame dressing room. Anderson is sharp and decisive both in action and speech.

Asked last night for a statement as to his plans, he remarked:

JACK CHEVIGNY, 1928 STAR BACK, JUNIOR COACH

Athletic Director Still Unnamed.

Notre Dame, Ind., April 10.—[Special.]—Heartley (Hunk) Anderson and Jack E. Chevigny will carry on as Notre Dame's football coaches, at least for next season. This was announced today by the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the University of Notre Dame.

Addressing the noon meeting of more than 200 candidates for spring football practice today, Father O'Donnell said:

Addresses Grid Candidates.

Later he interpreted this statement to newspapermen to mean that Anderson and Chevigny will continue as the senior and junior coaches for next season and possibly longer. The announcement of a successor to Knute Rockne, which Father O'Donnell had said he would make in the near future, has reference to the athletic dictatorship.

Father O'Donnell told the grim faced group of football men: "The whole world has its eyes on you. The future of Notre Dame football depends on you and how you carry on for Rockne. The school asks your coöperation in seeing that this responsibility is borne well by you. It is up to you to show the world that you can carry on with the same fight and excellence that Notre Dame teams have had under Rockne."

Anderson was star guard under Rockne from 1919 to 1921, inclusive, and he was given wide recognition in his senior year, receiving a place on several teams picked by leading sports writers.

Coached 1930 Lines.

He returned the fall of his graduation, 1922, to assist Rockne as line coach until 1927. He then went to St. Louis university, where he was head coach during the 1928 and 1929 seasons. He returned here last year and turned out the line that led Notre Dame to its third national championship. Last year's line had about 65 per cent of the personnel of the 1929 national championship forward wall, but when Rockne returned from Florida at the conclusion of spring practice he said that Anderson had developed like magic a number of unknowns from the reserves and freshman team.

Rockne cited particularly Ed Kosky, who had been with the reserves the year before. "Anderson made him classy," said Rockne. Nordy Hoffman, second string tackle who had never played football until 1929, was another man Anderson turned out. He also developed Tommy Yarr, captain-elect and center; Al Culver, previously a third string tackle; Joe Kurth, sophomore tackle, and Burt Metzger and Tom Kassis, guards.

Chevigny Star Back.

Chevigny starred at right half back on the 1928 team, which Rockne characterized as "the gamest team he ever coached." He had been praised by Rockne as one of the best right half backs in Notre Dame history. He was especially adept at backing up a line and blocking.

He returned in 1929 as back field coach, where he had much to do with the development of Marty Brill, right half.

Both Anderson and Chevigny are grounded in the fundamentals of the Rockne style of play. They both played in the charity games last fall in which former Notre Dame stars participated, and they proved their ability to go out, as Rockne did before his leg ailment in 1929, to give practical demonstrations of the various points they make.

The squad returned to practice at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Anderson took charge of the guards, tackles, and centers, where he was assisted by Bill Jones, freshman coach last year. Chevigny, Clarence Kaplan, new freshman coach, and Larry Mullins, recently appointed head coach at Kansas university and star full back the last three seasons, had charge of the backs.

Rockne's Widow Thanks Friends for Condolences

South Bend, Ind., April 10.—(AP)—With a flood of letters in expression of a nation's grief still being received, Mrs. Knute Rockne, widow of the Notre Dame football coach who died in an airplane tragedy near Bazaar, Kas., last week, today extended her thanks to the thousands who have sympathized with her.

"Hundreds upon hundreds of telegrams and letters have come to me and I have read each one and will treasure them always, but many of them contained no address and some were signed only with the first names of men who were intimate friends of Knute," she said.

"So I am taking this opportunity to thank the thousands who were so thoughtful and sympathetic and the multitude of others who hold a world of sorrow and sympathy deep within their hearts."

C. A. A. DIRECTORS END COMPETITION WITH OUTSIDERS

Brundage Resignation Is Accepted.

The board of directors of the Chicago Athletic association yesterday approved the athletic committee's recommendation that all sport competition with other organizations be discontinued. At the same time Avery Brundage's resignation from the athletic committee was accepted.

Last Monday Mr. Brundage announced his intention of giving up his place as a protest against the abolition of outside competition, saying that the club's constitution called for participation in authorized tournaments.

No Factional Split.

Commenting on the action of the board of directors, David B. Gann, president of the association, said last night: "In approving the athletic committee's recommendations we are taking no new step. We are merely carrying out a policy which has been in effect for a long time. It has been years since the C. A. A. has competed on a large scale in outside events, and I do not believe that 2 per cent of the members have any desire to do so. The question has not split the club into factions, as was at first reported, for the sentiment against outside competition is practically unanimous."

Athletic Memberships Revoked.

All so-called "athletic memberships" have been revoked. These were held by athletes who belong to the club only to represent it in track and swimming tournaments.

The association, which is one of the oldest in Chicago, will continue as a social organization, and, as in the past, facilities will be provided for athletic competition between members.

Mrs. Hill and Miss Wattles in Golf Final

Greensboro, N. C., April 10.—(AP)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, and Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, N. Y., will battle over the Sedgefield course tomorrow for the championship of the club's annual Dogwood women's golf tournament.

Mrs. Hill took a semi-final match today from Helen Waring, New York, 3 and 1, while Miss Wattles downed Betty Dix Perkins, Sandy Lodge club, England, 5 and 4.

The slender British girl, who won the tournament medal, never held a lead in her match with Miss Wattles, who, at the turn, was 3 up.

Miss Wattles was especially deadly with pitches to the green and with her putter. She sank a 20 footer on the fourth and on the eighth she curved a hard five footer around what appeared to be a stymie to the hole.

The Hill-Waring match was likewise decided largely on the greens. Mrs. Hill's putting was off on the early holes, but she found her touch in time to win. She was put to the test on the two final holes played. Going to the sixteenth, she was 2 up. Miss Waring was on in two with an easy putt for a three, while Mrs. Hill was ten feet away. The ten footer sank for a halve, making her dormie two. On the seventeenth Mrs. Hill grooved a 25 footer for a three, two under par, to win the hole and end the match.

200 TO BOX FOR CENTRAL A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIPS

Over two hundred entries had been received at a late hour last night for the Central A. A. U. boxing championships. The lists close today.

Mr. George Donaghue, chairman of the Illinois Athletic club, yesterday received the entry of the complete team of winners of the amateur tournament which was held last night in Minneapolis. Many other entries have been received from the state of Minnesota.

The first and second rounds will be held at the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with the finals at the stadium on April 23. The winners of this tournament will represent the central division in the national championships at New York.

DANNY DELMONT HANDS A BEATING TO JIMMY LUNDY

Danny Delmont, Chicago lightweight, won an eight round decision over Jimmy Lundy in the windup of the weekly boxing show at the Cicero Stadium last night. Mickey Patrick knocked out Dean Spencer in the fourth round in the semi-windup. Other results:

Babe Kellar and Harry Garbell drew [6].
Mickey O'Shea beat Sonny Schwartz [4].
Jack Moran beat Martin Burke [4].
Mayer Frader knocked out Joe Solko [1].

Yanks' Closing Punch Beats Charlotte Club

Charlotte, N. C., April 10.—(AP)—Eight hits in the last inning, including home runs by Lyn Lary and Tony Lazzeri, provided the Yankees with eight runs and enabled them to come from behind today and defeat Charlotte of the Piedmont league, 16 to 13.

Lary's circuit smash drove in the tying scores and Lazzeri's sewed up the decision. Babe Ruth and Dusty Cooke also contributed homers, the Babe's being his fifth of the exhibition season and his third in three days.

Four pitchers toiled for the Yanks and their fielding was wobbly in the early innings, six errors being charged against them.

CARDS MEET BROWNS TODAY.

St. Louis, Mo., April 10.—(AP)—Cardinal and Brownie athletes, who returned home today from their long spring training trips, practiced at Sportsman's park today, their final workouts before the annual two day city series, which starts tomorrow.

Street named Burleigh Grimes as his starting pitcher against the Browns with Al Grabowski as relief, and Killefer said Sam Gray would work for his club with Dick Coffman or Roland Stiles as relief.

Pitcher Warren Collins, the Browns' only holdout, signed a one year contract today. He had been a stubborn holdout due to a cut in his salary, reported at $2,500. Terms were not announced. Although he missed the training trip, Collins said he was ready to pitch now, having worked out in Texas.

SENATORS BEAT ORIOLES.

Baltimore, Md., April 10.—(AP)—Two home runs today paved the way for the Washington Senators to defeat the Baltimore Orioles, 7 to 3, in a free hitting game.

Boyle, Oriole right fielder and lead-off man, started things by clouting a homer in the opening inning as he came up first on the list.

Lloyd Brown, starting pitcher for Washington, dropped a four base swat into the stands in the sixth, and Cronin, Senator shortstop, tapped out one in the seventh. Score:

Boston, Mass., April 10.—(AP)—The Boston Braves and Red Sox arrived home today and completed arrangements for tomorrow's opening game of the city series at Fenway park, home of the American league club.

McKechnie announced that Bill McAfee, his University of Michigan pitching prospect, would start against the Red Sox with the veteran Al Spohrer receiving. Collins' pitching choice was Ed [Bull] Durham with Charley Berry catching him.

LOUGHRAN AND CAMPOLO WILL FIGHT ON MAY 15

New York, April 10.—[Special.]—A heavyweight bout between Tommy Loughran, former light-heavyweight champion of the world, and Victorio Campolo, South American heavyweight, was practically assured today for Madison Square Garden on May 15, when Luis Gutierrez, representing Campolo, accepted terms for the match. Loughran previously had been signed through his manager, Joe Smith.

Campolo's signature to a contract will be sought when the South American arrives here Monday. Gutierrez suggested that the contest be for 15 rounds, explaining that a bout of more than 10 rounds would be advantageous to Campolo, in addition to being a true heavyweight test.

Gutierrez, who is the manager of Kid Chocolate, returned here yesterday with the information that the Cuban in the future will box as a lightweight. Chocolate underwent medical treatment when he returned to Cuba, which has improved his stamina, speed, and punch. Guiterrez said, adding that the Cuban is expected to return to this country May 1.

In the fourth the Cubs again tied the score. After McMillan had thrown out Hornsby, Wilson doubled to left center and scored on Stephenson's second successive center field single. Hartnett singled to left, Stevie stopping at second. Then Bell walked, filling the bases. Grimm popped to Brower in short left and Stephenson scored after the catch. Root fanned to end the inning.

The Cubs grabbed a pair of runs after two were out in the fifth to give themselves a 5 to 3 advantage. Cuyler opened with a single but was caught stealing. English struck out again. Then Hornsby crashed a double to the scoreboard in left center and proceeded home when Wilson knocked his second double in two innings. Hack tallied when Stephenson smacked his third successive single to center. Hartnett flied to Pick.

Hornsby Hits Homer.

After English had struck out for the third time to start the seventh, Hornsby knocked the ball over the scoreboard, an enormous punch on the Kansas City premises. Wilson walked and stopped at second while Smith was landing at first on Prather's juggling act. Hartnett doubled to left center, scoring Wilson and Smith, and Bell singled to left, scoring Gabby. Grimm singled past Knothe, Bell going to third. Moore walked, filling the bases. Then Cuyler was called out on strikes and English fanned for the second time in the inning and the fourth time in a row.

The Blues made two runs in their half of the seventh on a single by Knothe, a double by Brower, an infield out, and a single by Grigsby.

BEARCAT WRIGHT IS DEFEATED BY MICKEY WALKER

Omaha, Neb., April 10.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, 168, world's middleweight champion, won a referee's decision over Bearcat Wright, 210, Omaha Negro, in a ten round bout here tonight.

Wright rushed from his corner at the opening gong and a wild right hand punch floored the middleweight king. Walker, however, was more surprised than hurt and carried the fight to Wright from that moment. Walker floored Wright in the second round for a short count.

PARIS, April 10. — (AP) — Gustav, king of Sweden, and Henri Cochet, king of the courts, paired today at tennis to play a draw match with Pierre Landry and Christian Boussus, two of France's top ranking players. With a big gallery at the Bois de Boulogne courts cheering him on, the 73 year old king skipped nimbly about, holding up his end of the match. The two kings defeated Landry and Boussus yesterday.

After today's match had gone two games each, King Gustav announced he had had enough tennis for the day and that the issue would be decided tomorrow at the Racing club.

4 Oklahoma Wrestlers Win A. A. U. Titles

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 10.—(AP)—Oklahoma A. & M. successfully defended its team championship in the National A. A. U. wrestling meet here tonight when four of its members won in the finals. Robert Pearce, 125 pounder, threw Frank Stella of the Boston Y. M. C. A. and Arlie Tomlinson beat Anders Swanson of New York A. C. in the 145 pound class. Jack Van Bebber, in the 155 pound division, and Conrad Caldwell, 175 pounder, were the other A. & M. victors.

Lyle Morford of Cornell college became the 135 pound champion by beating Joseph Woodward of the University of Michigan in one of the most spectacular matches of the tournament. Morford repeatedly was on the verge of victory, but was balked until he applied a toehold and scored a fall. Summaries:

FINALS.

BRONOWICZ AND ZAHARIAS MEET IN STADIUM RING

This gives Promoter Doc. Krone three matches for his Stadium debut. He has decided to put on six in all, which means that the fans will see about 3,000 pounds of wrestlers.

Vines Beats Sutter; Lott Also Handed an Upset

Houston, Tex., April 10.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, Cal., defeated Clifford Sutter, New Orleans [La.] intercollegiate singles champion, 6-3, 8-6, 2-6, today in semi-finals play of the River Oaks Country club invitation tennis tournament.

Bruce Barnes of the University of Texas furnished the second upset by defeating George Lott of Philadelphia, member of last year's Davis cup team, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3. Barnes will meet Vines Sunday in the finals.

and singles by Lindstrom, Terry and Marshall. When two more Giants scored on a pass, double and single in the eighth, Frasier knew that he had overstayed his welcome. Jim Moore stepped in and handled the remainder of the show in proper fashion.

Still another indication that the Sox are about ready for hard work starting next Tuesday is that Ted Lyons, practically a cripple since March 22, is going to test himself against the Giants in the penultimate game of the series. He believes the sore shoulder which has been annoying him has healed and Bush is willing to let him prove it. However, he will confine himself to a few innings even if effective. McKain will finish for him. Thomas has already shown that he probably will be himself again, so if Lyons is now in condition, Bush's pitching worries are over. Score:

GRIEF BRINGS HEART ATTACK TO HENRY EDWARDS

Henry P. Edwards, veteran baseball writer and director of publicity of the American league, suffered a heart attack yesterday afternoon. His physician, however, announced that he would be able to resume work within a few days.

Grief over the death of Ernest S. Barnard, president of the league, and his friend for 25 years, was given as the cause of the attack. Edwards attended the funeral of the late league official and returned in apperently good health.

A. A. F. TEAMS TO OPEN VOLLEYBALL MEET WEDNESDAY

A city-wide volleyball tournament will begin next Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Amateur Athletic federation. Contests will be held at a number of neighborhood recreation centers throughout the week and the meet will be climaxed on April 22, when the finals will be played at the West Side Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Competition will be held in three classes—boys, women, and men.

Norman Meets Dillon in Fronton Ring Wednesday

Edgar Norman, Norwegian light heavyweight, will meet Harry Dillon in Joe Coffey's boxing show at the Rainbo Fronton Wednesday night. They will box ten rounds at 175 pounds.

HUSKIE OARSMEN MEET BEARS AT OAKLAND TODAY

Oakland, Cal., April 10.—(AP)—Slim racing shells will speed through Oakland estuary tomorrow in the classic that annually decides rowing supremacy between two oldtime rivals—California's Bears and Washington's Huskies.

The 26th meeting will find a Washington boat manned by veterans pitted against a less seasoned California crew, but one of power and decidedly a smooth stroking outfit.

Six veterans will bend backs in the Washington varsity craft while but three of California's oarsmen are holdovers from last year's shell. In average weights and heights also the northerners top their southern rivals. The Huskies average 180 pounds, against 178 pounds for the Bears. Their average height is six feet two and one-half inches, one inch more than the listing of the Californians.

These advantages have made the Huskies slight favorites for the three mile varsity test.

GLADIATORS WHIP CALUMET FIVE; PLAY FOR TITLE

The Gladiators A. C. defeated Calumet Memorial park lightweights 25 to 24 in the Calumet region basketball tourney last night and qualified to play the Bill Farr Wakefords for the championship at the South Chicago Y tomorrow afternoon.

Two other titles will be decided tomorrow. The I. W. A. C. Brownies will play Calumet Memorial park in the girls' finals, and the American Legion heavies clash with the Primrose A. C. Last night's results:

Gladiators, 25; Calumet Memorial Park, 24.
Primrose A. C., 29; Calumet Tigers, 27.

Moe Berg Fails to Agree with Sox; Goes to Indians

Moe Berg, White Sox catcher, who refused to sign a new contract because of salary differences, yesterday was sent to the Cleveland Indians. The deal was on a strictly cash basis. Berg showed signs of starring with the White Sox in 1929, but injuries and illness kept him on the bench or in the hospital most of the 1930 season.

40 Chicagoans to Bowl in Elks' Pin Tournament

A team of 40 Chicago Elks left last night for Detroit to participate in the national Elks' bowling tournament. The Chicago team was headed by John R. McCabe, exalted ruler, and Judge Michael Feinberg of the Circuit court, past exalted ruler. The Chicagoans will bowl tonight and tomorrow.

Bird Fans Report He Is Something of a Pest.

BY BOB BECKER.

The peppy litle house wren may be the favorite songster and the neighbor of thousands of home owners, but in Marshall, Mich., its reputation is that of an "egg roller" and a continual pest. This indictment of the wren may cause many bird fans to raise their voices in loud protest, as in some sections it is nothing less than heresy to reflect upon the house wren's conduct.

However, F. A. Stuart of Marshall, Mich., who has 2,830 acres with 1,500 of all kinds of bird houses on this tract says that he discourages house wrens from taking any nesting boxes because they are not well

CALLS ILLINOIS RIVER KEY TO WATER TRAFFIC

U. S. Engineer Inspects Gulf-Lake Project.

Peoria, Ill., April 10.—[Special.]—Asserting that the United States needs a coördinated system of transportation in which the railroads, trucks, and buses, airlines, and waterways should operate as a unit to best serve the public, Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, Washington, D. C., chief of the United States army engineers here, expressed firm belief today that the progress of inland waterway transportation, coördination of existing methods of transportation would soon result.

MAJ. GEN. LITTLE BROWN. [A. P. Photo.]

The chief army engineer was accompanied by Col. William C. Weeks, engineer in charge of the first Chicago district; Lieut. Col. George R. Spalding of the St. Louis district and A. E. Clearman, associate engineer of Chicago. The party completed an inspection of the Illinois river deep waterway projects between Utica and Peoria aboard the U. S. S. Comanche.

"Most Important River."

"The Illinois river will become the most important river in the country when the lakes to the gulf waterway is completed in the fall of 1933," said Gen. Brown. "With Chicago at one extremity and New Orleans at the other, operating over this water route through Chicago, Peoria, and St. Louis, and other large terminals, the inland waterways corporation has unlimited possibilities and its service to Peoria cannot escape notice. Peoria has an excellent river and rail terminal and traffic through it will undoubtedly prove beneficial." Gen. Brown indicated that inland waterway transportation will play its part in the proposed development of the St. Lawrence river and great lakes route and the development of the upper Mississippi and the Missouri rivers as the next steps to be taken by the government to further a cheaper method of travel.

Channel 300 Feet Wide.

Memphis, Tenn., April 10.—(AP)—Railroad opposition to inland waterways was denounced tonight by former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton, St. Louis, general counsel of the Mississippi Valley association.

Brig. Gen. T. H. Jackson, president of the Mississippi river commission, and Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, director of federal barge activities, promised continued government coöperation.

Gen. Jackson told the association that navigation improvements planned for the Mississippi river contemplate a channel 300 feet wide and nine feet deep from Cairo, Ill., to the vicinity of Baton Rouge, La., and a 35 foot channel below Baton Rouge.

Policeman Gets Extra Pay for Fighting Store Bandits

Policeman William Binder of the North Robey street station was given creditable mention and extra compensation of $300 for one year yesterday by Acting Police Commissioner Alcock for his fight against the five bandits who participated in the robbery of Wieboldt's north side store in January. While two bandits sat on him after he had been knocked down Binder drew his gun and mortally wounded one of his attackers. He was awarded THE TRIBUNE'S $100 hero prize for January for his deed.

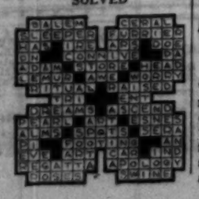
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



Miss Florence Yarrow, Noted Missionary, Dies

Palm Beach, Fla., April 10.—(AP)—Miss Florence A. Yarrow, widely known for her years of missionary work in the United States and Hawaii, died at her home here yesterday after a long illness. Born in England, Miss Yarrow was graduated from the Moody Bible institute, Chicago, and spent most of her life in church work. She was a Presbyterian.

PARIS, April 10.—Louis Chianez, 19 year old French stowaway, was dragged today from a packing case in which he had had himself shipped to New York aboard the liner La Fayette, according to a radio from the ship's captain to the Paris police tonight. The boy was unharmed after being nailed up for 36 hours in a box which he built himself, the message said.

Louis had long cherished an ambition to go to America and become an American citizen, which his family discouraged. When he disappeared from home his mother reported to the police. An inquiry revealed that Louis had constructed the box and, with the aid of a friend not yet identified, had installed himself inside with food and clothing, and had the box shipped to a New York department store. His adventure might have proved fatal, had the box been placed in the bottom of the hold near the engines, where he might have suffocated.

Louis had labeled his home made stateroom with the directions "top" and "bottom" and "keep in a dry, cool place." The packing case was easily identified from a description wirelessed to the vessel, and Louis, much chagrined at the failure of his enterprise, was discovered inside. He will be held on board the La Fayette and brought back to France.

SWANSON ACTS FOR EARLY TRIAL OF LOOP KILLER

State's Attorney Swanson yesterday ordered speedy justice for Fred W. Smith, 47 years old, 2623 North Kimball avenue, who last Tuesday shot and killed two persons and caused a panic among patrons of Marshall Field & Co. while attempting to escape after a robbery. As a result the grand jury voted and returned a murder indictment against Smith, holding him without bail. An additional robbery indictment was also returned.

The prosecutor said he would ask Chief Justice McGoorty of the Criminal court to arraign Smith at once and assign the case to some judge for immediate trial. Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne, who has been successful in obtaining death verdicts in murder cases, was ordered to prepare for trial at once.

TYROLIANS ASK HOOVER TO FREE THEM FROM ITALY

INNSBRUCK, Austria, April 10.—A meeting of refugees from South Tyrol sent a telegram to President Hoover, it was learned today, protesting against the Italianization of their compatriots. The massage read:

"The North Tyrolian folk remind the President of the United States that his predecessor, President Wilson, allowed South Tyrol to be handed over to Italy as a result of a serious mistake which he afterward regretted. May his successor take an active interest in the sad fate of our compatriots!"

The meeting was called primarily to protest against the banishment of Heinrich Maifertheiner, a South Tyrol Austrian, to "the islands" for three years. His sentence has been commuted to confinement to his native town of Bolzano, where he may visit restaurants, but cannot sit down nor speak to other guests.

STORE OF SLAIN DRUGGIST IS ROBBED AGAIN

Virtually duplicating the manner of the robbery in which Willis Fiddelke was murdered in his drug store last September, three bandits last night invaded the same pharmacy at 6560 South Western avenue, operated by his widow, Vera.

Fiddelke, his partner, and a patron were in the pharmacy in September when two bandits entered. The three were forced to lie face downward on the floor. Without provocation one of the bandits put a revolver to Fiddelke's head, and fired, killing him.

Last night three bandits followed the same procedure, except for the shooting. They herded Harold W. Fern, 10006 State street, the manager; Robert Daniels, 11959 Yale avenue, a clerk; and Stanley Zahkile, 6763 South Campbell avenue, a patron, into the rear room. The victims were forced to lie face downward on the floor. From the till $60 was taken, and from Fern $18. The robbers fled. Their descriptions do not correspond with those of Fiddelke's slayers.

He Sets Nine Fires to "See Red Engines Go By"

Fire companies were called to extinguish eight rubbish blazes last night—all in the vicinity of 47th street and Lake Park avenues—between 7:30 and 10:30 o'clock. The firemen were growing impatient when the ninth alarm sounded—this time for a shed in the rear of 4547 Calumet avenue. Arriving they found Theodore Evans, 37 year old Negro, of 4101 Indiana avenue in custody of a police flivver squad, who confessed he had started the blazes.

F. S. OLIVER IS DEAD; VETERAN REALTY DEALER

Frederick S. Oliver, head of Oliver & Co., real estate dealers, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, and long prominent in Chicago realty affairs, died yesterday after a short illness. He was 64 years old and lived at 999 Lake Shore drive. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today at 559 Surf street. Burial will be at Graceland cemetery and will be private. Mr. Oliver is survived by a brother, George A. P. Oliver of New York, and two stepdaughters, Frances Oliver and Margaret Oliver Holt. He was a member of the Union League, Chicago Athletic, Press, South Shore Country, and Knollwood clubs.

COPLEY TO WED SOON IN PARIS, REPORT ON COAST

Pasadena, Cal., April 10.—[Special.]—Ira C. Copley, former Illinois congressman and millionaire publisher of an Illinois-California newspaper chain, will marry Mrs. Chloe Worley of this city in Paris in June, according to reports here today.

Mr. Copley left California for Europe a month ago. Mrs. Worley sailed this week, and was accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Anette Aiken, a Los Angeles society woman. Mrs. Aiken, it is understood, will wed Michael Clemenceau, son of the late French premier, in Paris, about the time of the Copley-Worley nuptials. Mrs. Aiken's engagement to Clemenceau was informally announced here during a recent visit to California by the Frenchman.

3 New School Buildings Now Ready for Occupancy

Liquidation Develops in Corn; Prices Drop.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain market fluctuated in a bewildering manner yesterday, an early break on selling, induced by a bearish construction placed on the government estimate of 664,000,000 bu winter wheat, or 40,000,000 bu more than the harvest of 1930, issued late Thursday, putting wheat down 1c, while liquidation developed in corn after an early buige, and all deliveries dropped around 1¼c to a new low on the crop. The local element pressed the selling side on the decline, but when they attempted to cover they found the surplus in the pits had been absorbed by commission houses and by holders of bids and a complete reversal of the trend followed.

Wheat advanced 1⅝@1¾c from the inside figures and closed at the top, with shorts stampeded on the way up, and the finish was at net gains of ⅝@¾c on the new crop months, with July closing at 62¾c to 62⅝c; September, 60⅝c to 60¾c, and December at 63⅝c to 63¾c, while May was unchanged at 82c.

Price Discounts Conditions.

The failure of the wheat market to break and fully reflect what is regarded as the most bearish situation ever known is puzzling the trade, and there is a growing belief that the price has at last reached a level where conditions seem to have been discounted. In commenting on this, S. C. Harris called attention to the fact that July wheat on Dec. 31 closed at 62½c, while the finish Friday night was within ⅛c to ¼c of that figure, although every bearish factor possible to imagine had been known during that period.

There was nothing in the news to account for the upturn in wheat futures following the early break, although a local professional, who has been talking bullish of late, started to buy and disclosed little for sale. Winnipeg was strong the greater part of the day, with houses with seaboard and foreign connections on the buying side, and futures closed ⅝@¼c higher, with July at 60¾c. Europe was again a good buyer of Manitobas and was credited with taking 700,000 bu during the day. The trade generally look for France to permit mills in that country to grind a larger percentage of imported wheat.

Smaller world's shipments of wheat are expected for the week owing to a sharp falling off in the movement from Australia and from the Black sea. This had some effect on Liverpool, which was only ⅛@⅜d lower, and no pressure of Argentine wheat was claimed. Buenos Aires closed ⅛c higher. Dust storms were reported in parts of the American and Canadian northwest, suggesting the need of surface moisture.

Active Demand for Corn.

Shipping sales of 260,000 bu cash corn, the largest day's business in some time past, had considerable influence on the corn market toward the last and was mainly responsible for a rally of around 2c after an early break had carried May down to 59c, a new low on the crop. The finish was at net gains of ⅝@⅞c, with May, 60¾c to 60¾c; July, 62⅛c to 62⅝c; September, 60⅛c to 60¾c, and December at 53⅝c to 54c. Aside from the active shipping demand there was little in the news that attracted attention, although country offerings were not large. The reason generally given for the pronounced strength which developed toward the last was that the market had become heavily oversold.

Field work is making rapid progress over parts of the belt, with some plowing for corn in Illinois, and oats seeding in the state is well along. Cash interests were on the buying side of oats to remove hedges against shipping sales of 140,000 bu, and the finish was unchanged to ⅛c higher. May showing the most strength. The latter closed at 30¼c; July and September, 30⅞c, and December, 32⅜c. Further sales of Canadian barley were reported for export, but quantities were small. Rye finished unchanged to ⅛c higher, with May, 35⅝c; July, 38¼c, and December, 39¾c.

U. S. STEEL CORP. REPORTS MARCH RISE IN BACKLOG

BY O. A. MATHER.

How closely the big American industries are gearing their operations to actual demand is shown in the monthly report on unfilled orders issued by the United States Steel corporation yesterday. While current industrial output is disappointing and productive of unemployment, still this circumstance assures that there will be no excess inventory and that expansion will be the more rapid when demand eventually improves.

The U. S. Steel corporation reported an increase of 30,136 tons in unfilled orders during March, in contrast with a decrease of 167,157 tons in February. This modest change indicates how closely production is being geared to demand, for operations expanded early in March and then tapered off later. The industry was helped by a stronger demand for structural steel from the building industry, which about offset a contraction in buying by the automotive industry.

Total Orders on Hand.

Unfilled orders on March 31 totaled 1,195,230 tons, compared with 3,965,-234 on Feb. 28 and 4,570,653 on March 31, 1930. The increase last month was considerably smaller than took place during March of both 1930 and 1929. However, the current total is not believed to include contracts for the proposed "radio city" in New York, which amounted to 125,000 tons, and for the Pennsylvania railroad, which totaled 50,000 tons. These orders are expected to appear in later statements.

With operations of the whole steel industry now not much more than half of capacity, there is much argument as to whether the seasonal peak of production has been passed. Some observers look for the usual slackening as summer approaches, while others believe the automobile and building industries will bolster steel mill operations more than usual.

Investors Acquire Shares.

Despite the doubtful immediate future as to operations and earnings of steel companies, it is evident that investors are steadily acquiring United States Steel common stock. The supply of stock in brokers' names on March 31 was 1,363,905 shares, a decline of 42,272 shares from the floating supply at the end of 1930.

The current floating supply is only 11.9 per cent of the total issue, whereas it amounted to 22 per cent a year ago and to 21 per cent at the end of 1929. In other words, investors now own 84.21 per cent of United States Steel common stock, or 7,332,054 of a total of 8,696,859 shares.

BUSINESS STEADIES

The general business situation has not shown much change in the last week, according to the week-end reviews. Both Dun's and Bradstreet's reviews again recite many irregularities, with quietude in wholesale, jobbing, and retail lines and some further weakness in commodity prices.

Chicago business leaders believe that trade in the middle west has gone past bottom in its cycle, according to a symposium conducted by the Chicago Association of Commerce. Improvement was reported by Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; Chester T. Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Chester T. Bradford of the International Harvester company; Leon Mandel II. of Mandel Brothers, Fred W. Sargent of the Chicago and North Western railroad, and J. F. O'Keefe of the Chicago Association of Credit Men.

REPORT NEW YORK BURLAP MARKET MAY LIQUIDATE

New York, April 10.—(AP)—Commodity market circles today had reports that plans are under way for the liquidation of all accounts and for the formal dissolution of the New York Burlap and Jute exchange.

At a recent meeting members of the exchange in favor of dissolution were in the majority, but failed to muster the two-thirds vote required by New York state laws for dissolving a corporation. One member said there is a point of difference among the members regarding the manner in which a surplus fund of approximately $100,000 in the exchange treasury is to be distributed.

The exchange was organized in September, 1929, and launched trading in futures in burlaps and sugar bags. Later it was intended to trade in raw jute, but this commodity never entered the market.

Survey Indicates Heavy Short Selling in Stocks

New York, April 10.—(AP)—A survey of leading brokerage houses by an investment banking firm disclosed a large increase in short selling. Twenty-eight brokers said they believed the short position in the stock market was very large, and possibly may be near a record. Some said that in many cases the amount of stocks sold was more than doubled in a month.

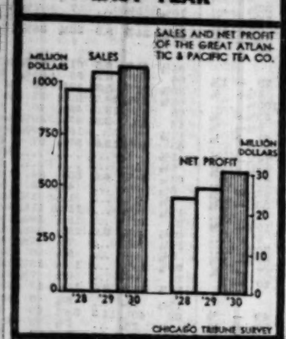
ATLANTIC & PACIFIC SALES AND NET PROFIT SET A NEW HIGH RECORD LAST YEAR



DENMAN SAYS WOOL CO-OPS WILL REQUIRE LESS FINANCIAL AID

Less financial aid from the federal farm board will be necessary to market this year's wool crop, at least so far as the National Wool Marketing corporation is concerned, C. B. Denman, the farm board's live stock member, declared at the corporation's meeting in the Sherman hotel here yesterday.

C. B. DENMAN. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Last year the sheepmen's cooperatives borrowed $12,000,000 from the farm board and $26,000,000 from banks, he said. Stability of the wool crop and easier credit will mean more banking and less federal loans, he believes.

The corporation, which handled 34 per cent of the 1930 wool crop, or 119 million pounds, has 75 million pounds on hand now for domestic consumption. Officers will be elected at the final session here today.

BOOST PRICES OF POPULAR CIGARET BRANDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 10.—The price of popular brands of cigarets was increased today by the United Cigar Stores company and the Schulte Retail stores from 13 to 15 cents a package, and from 25 to 27 cents for two packages. The move was hailed by tobacco retailers as an effort to end the price war which has been waged in retail cigaret merchandising for two years.

Although many retail tobacconists followed the advance, several chains continued to sell the cigarets at 13 cents a package and two packages for 25 cents. Liggett's drug stores and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company maintained the old price schedule.

A. & P. REPORTS 11% INCREASE IN TONNAGE SALES

An increase of 11 per cent in the tonnage of goods sold and a decline of 1½ per cent in the dollar volume of sales for the four weeks ending March 28 as compared with the corresponding weeks of 1930 is reported by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company.

As expressed in dollars, sales for the month were $82,718,571 compared with $83,795,552 in the corresponding 1929 period, while goods sold during the period are estimated at 435,292 tons against 391,987 tons. Total 1930 sales of the company as reported earlier in the week were $1,065,806,884, marking the second year in which the firm's sales had passed the billion dollar mark. In 1929 the sales totaled $1,053,692,853.

Russia's Cotton Plan Seen Menace to U. S. Growers

Washington, D. C., April 10.—(AP)—Russia's plan to increase its cotton production was said today by Carl Williams, a farm board member, to constitute a serious threat to American growers competing in world markets.

Russia itself has been lost for all time as a market for American exports, he said in commenting on plans of that country to plant 50 per cent more acreage this year. He added the United States would face serious competition from Russia in wheat, lumber and oil as well as cotton.

Bank President Replies to Judge Feinberg's Charges

BY AL CHASE.

In an unofficial reply to the recent criticism of the banking attitude toward foreclosures by Judge Michael Feinberg of the Circuit court of Cook county, in a speech delivered before the Chicago Real Estate board, William J. Rathje, president of the Mid-City Trust and Savings bank, spoke before the realty organization yesterday. He declared that only about 1 per cent of the realty of Cook county was under foreclosure, and that while foreclosures are at any time objectionable, the situation is normal, taking into consideration the business depression which the nation is experiencing.

WM. J. RATHJE.

"When a foreclosure suit is brought by an investor it is unavoidable," said Mr. Rathje, "and differs in no way from any other lawsuit. No one tries to get into trouble and looks to the court only for solution of a problem as a last resort.

Favors Realty Men.

"I don't agree with Judge Feinberg in the matter of appointing receivers. I believe it's a mistake to appoint trust companies to collect rent. A good real estate firm is in a much better position to give an apartment building the care it requires. I'm sure that the trust companies would be glad to see this business go to the real estate people, for the renting business doesn't fit into the operations of a large trust company."

Mr. Rathje declared that he wished to correct an idea regarding the so-called managing committees. He said that some of the best business men in Chicago have offered voluntarily to serve as members of the bondholders' committees.

"I thank them for this," he said, "for they performa wonderful service and in most cases without any pay whatever."

National Tea to Build.

The National Tea company has purchased the southwest corner of 103d street and Walden parkway, in the center of the Beverly Hills business district. The property is 100x135. There is a double brick residence on the west fifty feet. The new owners intend to build a self-service grocery and market on the corner lot. Jean B. Rohm is architect. Leonard Ficklen & Co. were brokers.

Hazel I. Clutter of Evanston has sold the six apartment building at 735-39 Montrose avenue to the Foreman Trust and Savings bank, as trustee for an undisclosed purchaser. The property has a frontage of 60 feet and is 400 feet from the lake. The two flats at 1320 Wood street and thirty-five acres at Mercer, Wis., were given in part payment, the balance was cash. Edwin Solon was broker.

DISCLOSES LARGE INSIDE DEAL OF PRINCE & WHITELY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 10.—An arrangement whereby Prince & Whitely, bankrupt brokerage concern of New York and Chicago, obtained $1,500,000 from its subsidiary, the Prince & Whitely Trading corporation, through a third company headed by one of the senior partners in the brokerage company, was revealed today at a creditors' meeting before Judge Alfred C. Coxe in the Woolworth building.

J. M. Hoyt, one of the leading partners in Prince & Whitely, under cross examination by Samuel Kramer, an attorney for a group of creditors, admitted that J. M. Hoyt & Co., of which he is the head, borrowed more than $1,500,000 from the Prince & Whitely Trading corporation.

In security for this loan the trading corporation was given a demand note indorsed by all the members of the firm of Prince & Whitely. The money was then turned over to Prince & Whitely, which, in turn, assigned to J. M. Hoyt & Co. accounts receivable amounting to $1,574,098.

The creditors' meeting was called to consider an offer whereby creditors would receive 25 per cent of their claims in cash and 75 per cent in three year certificates of a liquidating corporation. Schedules in bankruptcy filed in the United States district court recently set the assets of Prince & Whitely at approximatly $75,000,000 and liabilities at $60,000,000.

Honor Wm. A. Ryan for Long Service with Firm

Executives and employés of Marshall Field & Co. held a dinner last night at the Merchandise Mart in honor of William A. Ryan, who has just completed fifty years as an employé of the company. Mr. Ryan started with the company in 1881 at the age of 12 years and has been with the firm uninterruptedly since that time. His first job was that of cash boy. He is now a general salesman for the company. Mr. Ryan is a member of the Hamilton club.

Directors of the Community State bank yesterday elected J. Louis Kohn to the presidency of the bank. Mr. Kohn was formerly vice president of the Mid-City Trust and Savings bank.

ALLIS-CHALMERS CO. PLACES DIVIDEND ON $2 ANNUAL BASIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 10.—The board of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company authorized today a reduction in the common dividend to 50 cents a share, equal to $2 annually. Previously the company had been paying 75 cents every three months. The new rate is payable May 15 to owners of record April 24.

The usual extra disbursement of $1 a share was voted on the stock of Homestake Mining company in addition to the regular monthly dividend of 50 cents. Both payable April 25 to owners of record April 20. Directors of the Lanston Monotype company have declared the usual bonus of 25 cents and the regular quarterly of $1.75 a share.

A quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share was voted on the stock of California Packing company, placing it on a $2 annual basis, against $4 a year heretofore.

Directors of General Cable corporation have omitted the dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock due at this time.

STOCKS ON CURB DRIFT AIMLESSLY IN SLOW TRADING

New York, April 10.—(AP)—The curb market continued to drift irresolutely in sluggish trading today. The utilities were slightly firmer, and the oils continued to maintain a steady tone. Industrials and specialties, however, were decidedly mixed.

American and Foreign Power warrants and Associated Gas "A" gained about a point. United Light "A" moved up fractionally. Electric Bond and Share and American Superpower were about unchanged. Duke Power lost 2 in a few transactions.

A firm spot in the oils was Vacuum, which sold up ¾ of a point. Standard of Indiana moved up a small fraction, while Gulf and Cities Service slipped off a little.

In the industrial and specialty group Aluminum company rose 6 points, while Aluminum, Ltd., a lightly traded issue, appeared 12 points lower. Bigelow Sanford Carpet rose a point, and Pilot Radio rose nearly a point to a new high for the year.

Hundred Bankers Leave for Meeting at Augusta

More than 100 bankers from Illinois and nearby states left Chicago yesterday on the Illinois Central for Augusta, Ga., where they will attend the annual spring meeting of the executive council of the American Bankers' association. About 400 bankers representing every state in the union will attend the gathering.

Crawford State Savings Depositors Meet Sunday

Depositors of the Crawford State Savings bank will hold a meeting at the Lawndale theater tomorrow at which the depositors' protective committee will report on the plan looking to the reopening of the institution. Bondholders of the bank will also be present at the meeting, which will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning.

CUTS IN PRICE OF GAS SEEN BID FOR BUSINESS

BY SCRUTATOR.

Following the announcement of a 1 cent per gallon cut in the retail prices of regular and premium grades of gasoline by Standard Oil Company in this territory yesterday indicated that they would make similar reductions.

Regular gasoline will sell for 11 cents, which with the 3 cent tax will cost the motorist 14 cents at service stations. Premium grades, including tax, will retail for 17 cents.

It likewise appeared probable that Standard's announcement of preparations to put on the market a new 9 cent gasoline, costing the consumer 12 cents, including tax, would be followed by similar action on the part of other companies.

May Need Alterations.

Distributors whose service stations are already equipped with three or more pumps will find little difficulty in adjusting their facilities to handle the added line. Others may have to make extensive alterations in order to sell a 9 cent fuel in addition to the regular and "anti-knock" lines.

The new 9 cent gasoline is admittedly a bid for the business of the "price buyer," the man who measures fuels by the price per gallon. It will put the large distributor in a better position to compete for the business that has been going to cut price stations.

The average price of regular grades of gasoline f. o. b. tank cars at refineries in the Oklahoma and north Texas area yesterday was 3¾@3⅞ cents per gallon. In 1926 the average price was 10.34 cents; in 1929, 7.3 cents, and last year, 5.93 cents. Freight rates to Chicago are around 2.33 cents per gallon.

Crude Prices Shrink.

On that basis small independents have been able to do business slightly under the prices formerly charged by large distributors. The integrated companies pipe crude oil to nearby refineries instead of shipping the finished product by rail. Prices for crude at the well are around 59 cents per barrel, against 95 cents in the middle of last year, and $1.20 at the beginning of 1930.

There is no apparent decrease in the total domestic consumption of gasoline. According to present estimates from 4 to 6 per cent more gasoline will be sold in the United States this year than in 1930. In each year of the last decade there has been an increase over the previous year.

Since 1925 the retail price of gasoline has fluctuated considerably, but the general trend has been downward. The 11 cent rate in force beginning today is the lowest price established in this territory for years.

Seven Nations Agree to Trim Sugar Exports

PARIS, April 10.—(AP)—Seven of the world's largest sugar exporting countries reached a definite agreement tonight on the limitation of sugar exports over a period of five years. They also decided to appoint an international sugar council of 21 members, three from each of the seven countries. On the council Cuba will have 35 votes, Java 30 votes, and the European beet sugar producing nations will have a total aggregate of 25 votes.

THOMAS L. CHADBURNE. [Acme Photo.]

The agreement reached today is the result of negotiations which have been carried on for over five months under the direction of Thomas L. Chadbourne, originally chairman of the American committee on sugar accord for Cuba. After working out a Cuban sugar control plan, Chadbourne went to Europe to represent American interests at a European parley at Amsterdam and negotiations for the world plan have continued since.

Starts at 2 Cent Level.

The agreement reached today has been approved by representatives of Cuba, the Netherlands, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Hungary, Germany, and Belgium. It provides for a graduated limitation of exports of sugar to go into effect when the price reaches 2 cents a pound.

At the 2 cent price, the export quotas of the nations would be increased by 5 per cent, amounting to about 225,000 tons in the aggregate, for the seven countries. It is further provided that when the price reaches 2¼ cents the sugar council may increase the export quotas by an additional 2½ per cent, and if the price reaches 2½ cents the export quotas must be increased to a total of 10 per cent.

Of the 25 votes allotted to the block of five nations in the group, Czecho-Slovakia is to have eight votes, Germany six, Poland six, Hungary three, and Belgium two. Fifty-five votes will be necessary to decide the important questions coming before the council, such as increasing the export quota.

Divides Surplus.

The conference divided the present world surplus of 3,000,000 tons of sugar into five lots in an effort to dispose of it in an orderly manner during the next five years.

Senator Beaudoin of Belgium was named honorary chairman of the newly created conference. The permanent headquarters of the council will be either at The Hague or Brussels.

The outstanding feature of the agreement is that the governments of the countries will back the limitation of exports agreement by issuing licenses in accordance with the decisions of the council.

APPROVE ISSUE OF CHICAGO DIST. ELECTRIC STOCK

Indianapolis, Ind., April 10.—(AP)—The public service commission today authorized the Dome Gas company of Sullivan to issue $75,000 of preferred stock, the proceeds to be used to cancel present obligations of the company and for further extensions and improvements.

The Chicago District Electric Generating company of Hammond was authorized to issue 30,000 additional shares of $6 cumulative preferred stock to yield $2,730,000 to be used in the construction of new generating units.

The commission dismissed the petition of citizens of a number of towns along the route of the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railroad asking for local express, mail, and passenger service.

WITHDRAWALS BY U. S. TREASURY TO BE SUBSTANTIAL

New York, April 10.—(AP)—Withdrawals from bank balances by the United States treasury from April 15 to 17, inclusive, will be in very substantial amounts it was learned in Wall street today.

These operations are not expected to have any marked effect on the money market as they will be largely of a bookkeeping nature and preparations for them have been made already. About $143,000,000 interest on the government debt will fall due on April 15. A substantial portion of the withdrawals will be caused by the payment of checks for veterans' loans.

Withdrawals from the second federal reserve district on April 13 and 14 will total $19,153,900, respectively, and throughout the United States $53,240,600. These funds will come from the proceeds of the two issues of certificates of indebtedness dated March 16. Deposits remaining in this account after the latter withdrawals will total $124,800,000 in the second federal reserve district and $327,049,200 throughout the country.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 10.—Tobacco shares were the feature of an otherwise quiet stock market today.

An uplift in retail prices, which presumably insures better earnings for the manufacturers, was the secret of the sudden burst of strength in this favored group. Buying was unusually heavy in some of the higher priced issues, American Tobacco B, for a shining example, advancing about 4 points. Liggett & Myers, Reynolds B, Lorillard, Tobacco Products, and, in fact, the whole department came in for profitable demand, with refreshing price gains to record where minus signs have sprouted for so many monotonous days in succession.

In the rest of the list prices were considerably mixed. The motor shares emerged on the up side of the market and the oils more than held their own, but generally speaking group movements were not very pronounced in either direction.

Apparently nobody in either camp gave the much-touted United States Steel corporation tonnage statement, which came out at noon, more than passing notice. Steel common continued to rule in a narrow price range throughout the afternoon, closing about a half point above yesterday's final figure, and the shares of the independent companies of the industry were no more noticeable in the main.

Both Groups Disappointed.

The report, indeed, contained little real nourishment for either side, the increase reported falling below expectations on the bull side and the bears being disappointed in their hopes that the figures would prove sufficiently discouraging to bring on fresh liquidation.

The railroad shares were under rather heavy selling pressure in the earlier dealings, and quite a list of staid investment issues of the department were forced to new lows, but the situation improved in the afternoon and many of the early losers came out sporting gains on the day. Bearish talk concerning the outlook for the carriers seems to be on the increase in the financial district. Word went about today that much of the heavy selling of the last week or so in these shares had emanated from the rail heads themselves. At least one company of some importance was rumored to be slated for reorganization.

N. Y. Central Recovers.

Atchison, New York Central, Union Pacific and New Haven were prominent in the list of popular members of the group to slip into new low territory on today's selling. New York Central later recovered, to register a gain of nearly 2 points on the day, and most of the others perked up from their lows. As a group, the rails are now within a few points of their December lows.

Auburn Auto advanced seven points, following publication of its report for the quarter ended Feb. 28. Earnings were equal to only $1.06 a share, which must have been a disappointment to many of those holding the issue around 270, but it is generally believed that the March net will make a great deal better showing. Well informed estimates of the figures for this month are around $5.30, and there is talk that the net for the year may go as high as $25 a share.

PUBLIC WAITS FOR CLEARING OF BUSINESS SKY

Holds Aloof from Stock Market Trading.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

With the first quarter reports beginning to appear there has been a narrowing of speculative activity and a decrease in investment demand. The professional element has been all but deserted by the investing public who seem willing to wait until the business sky clears up a bit before committing themselves further.

The professionals, too, have been displaying more than usual caution, and as a result there was lack of important price fluctuations on the Chicago exchange in the last few days. Yesterday was no exception. With the New York tape also moving slow the board markers in the brokerage houses in the financial district had little difficulty in keeping up with the market.

Bulls Lack Poise.

The bullish speculators have not fully recovered their poise which was rudely jarred by the bumper crop of adverse dividend actions several days ago and events of the last week have kept them subdued.

The market community, however, has been set to receive the first quarter reports and it was not expected that either the good or bad results would create much of a ripple in the market surface.

The attitude of the speculators was illustrated in the greeting accorded the favorable Auburn report. Shares of the Cord corporation, which stand to benefit from the auto firm's operations, were actively traded in yesterday, but the issue kept within a narrow price range. The small gain chalked up could hardly be traced to the results reported, as the contents of the statement had long since been discounted by steadily improvement in Cord and the more spectacular gains by Auburn.

Adds Postscript.

The Libby-McNeill report was a postscript to what has already been written in black and red figures about the year 1930. But the action of the stock indicated that the street thought the results fell a little short of what had been anticipated.

Insull stocks were irregular within a narrow range, with Insull Utility displaying the most noticeable weakness. The old volume leader of the list, Middle West Utilities, attracted small attention. Only 2,200 shares changed hands and on the final sale the issue brought the same price at which it had closed the previous day.

General Electric.

Will you please advise me of the par value of General Electric stock? Also would you consider it a good investment for a period of years? Your reply will be appreciated.—J. M.

General Electric company is the leading manufacturer and distributor of electrical equipment of all kinds. It manufactures electric generators and motors, oil electric locomotives, devices for aviation, talking motion picture and television equipment, electric refrigerators, etc., etc.

In May, 1930, with Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, it turned over the patents, manufacturing facilities, and plants which had been used in the production of radio receiving sets and equipment to Radio Corporation of America in exchange for a block of the latter's stock. On Dec. 31, 1930, it was stated that General Electric company owned 5,188,755 common shares of Radio Corporation of America.

For the period of 1925 to 1929 net income showed a steady upward trend, reaching a peak of $67,289,830, or $2.24 per common share [adjusted to the four for one split in January, 1930]. Net income does not include undistributed earnings of subsidiaries. For 1930 net sales billed were $376,367,428, against $415,338,094 for 1929. Net income was $57,490,915, or $1.90 per no par common share. Had undistributed earnings of subsidiaries been included earnings would have equaled $2.17 per common share in 1930 against $2.67 per common share for 1929. Unfilled orders at the end of the year declined 41 per cent from the figure given for the year before and reached the smallest total in more than five years. Orders received in 1930 were 23 per cent less than in 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $242,564,549 and current liabilities were $40,603,451. This left a working capital of $201,961,098, against $205,859,635 the year before. Cash alone was $141,717,885.

The common stock is on an annual dividend basis of $1.60 per share.

The 6 per cent cumulative special stock [par $10] is callable at any time on 90 days' notice at $11 per share.

Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Ry.

Are Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railway general 4s, due 1995, sound? Can I purchase them through my local bank? What is the smallest denomination they come in?—I. R.

You can probably purchase these bonds through your local bank. The minimum denomination is $500. They are sound.

Sheep—

Hog receipts at 12,000 yesterday, were smallest, barring Saturdays, since July of last year. However, the available supply was augmented by a holdover of 9,000 head, resulting in a weak to 15c lower market soon after the opening. The extreme top price was unchanged at $8.05 while the general average showed a loss of 5c at $7.35.

Prevailing quotations are unevenly 10@50c under the previous Friday's market. Supplies have been exceptionally small during the last few days and another decrease is expected today. Five markets estimate 14,500 on the way for today's trade, against actual arrivals of 20,800 last Saturday.

Monday's Hogs Bid $7.90.

Bids of $7.90 were made for 170@210 lb hogs for next Monday's delivery, but there were no sellers at this price. Hogs averaging 210@260 lbs were bid $7.50 for the same day, while 260@310 lb averages carried bids of $7.20.

May and June lightweights were offered at $8.50, with bids of $8.25 made on May contracts and $8.25 on June hogs. September light were offered at $9.00 and bid $8.60. September mediums and heavy were bid $8.10, with offers down to $8.30 at the close.

Yesterday's meager supply of 1,500 cattle was hard to dispose of, even at the recent price cuts, resulting in another dull "catch as catch can" trade, which ended at the low point of the day. Bulk of sales on recent sessions have been lowest since the spring of 1922. Late transactions yesterday showed 25@50c loss, compared with a week ago, with some of the lightest weights off as much as 75c.

Butcher stock continued slow at the week's 25@50c decline. Calves were firm yesterday, but show losses of 50@75c for the week. Yesterday's supply of steers consisted of stock selling at $8.85 and less, some of the plainer kinds going at $5.00@6.50.

Top Lambs Reach $10.00.

The market for aged lambs recorded a substantial "comeback" on yesterday's session. Gains of 25c were general, with the top for wooled stock at $10.00, a new high for the last eight months. Aged sheep and yearlings were held steady, some yearlings and two year olds, mixed, selling at $8.00 and old wethers at $6.00.

However, the new crop of native spring lambs was a drug on the market and had to be peddled at the previous day's big decline. Most of these kinds sold at $9.00@10.00, although Greeks paid up to $11.00@12.00 for a few for their Easter festivities.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 200 cattle, 5,000 hogs and 2,000 sheep, against 397 cattle, 4,316 hogs and 5,141 sheep, the previous Saturday and 159 cattle, 5,723 hogs and 5,706 sheep, a year ago.

Probable receipts of hogs at Chicago for next Monday are estimated from 32,000 to 52,000. F. Knutzen marked 33,000, J. T. Brown 37,000, J. M. Waters 28,000, R. B. Ellis and J. S. Montgomery 40,000, S. Lund and P. W. Young 43,000, E. S. Winterbury, W. S. Nicholson, G. W. Chandler, A. G. Welhener and H. Wolfe 45,000, F. M. Sherwood, W. T. Reneker and R. S. Turner 46,000, and G. McClean 52,000.

COTTON AT NEW LOWS

Cotton prices dropped over $1.00 a bale at one time yesterday to new lows for the season, after a rally sharply and weak. At the close around the low point Chicago futures unchanged to 5 points lower. New Orleans 1 lower to 3 higher, New York 19 to 20 lower. In the latter market July sold 24 points, selling as low as 10.22c, which was unchanged, with New York 10.35c, New Orleans 9.95c, Houston 10c, and Galveston 10.15c. Liverpool closed 13 points lower, which influenced selling in the American markets. Spot sales there were 5,000 bales.
